VOLUME LII.—NO. 334. THURSDAY. NOVEMBER 30, 1893—SIXTEEN PAGES. PRICE TWO CENTS.

TWO JURORS GO OUT.

Solon L. Gates and George T. Wilson Are Discharged.

FOR RECENT SERVICE.

Allusion to Any Special Cause Carefully Avoided.

NO PREJUDICE IS AROUSED.

Special Venire of 200 Men Is Called to Fill Vacancies.

JUDGE TUTHILL STATES THE CASE

Solon L. Gates and George T. Wilson were discharged yesterday from service as jurors in the case of Dan Coughlin. By agreement of counsel they were challenged for cause by the State. To this challenge the attorneys for the defense and the defendant himself entered formal consent. A special venire of 200 men was ordered and Judge Tuthill appointed a special bailiff to serve the venire, the defense again consenting.

Another development yesterday was the temporary suspension of Flynn, the clerk in Clerk of the Criminal Court Schubert's office who handled the mysterious jury card bearing the name of George T. Wilson, the discharged juror. Later in the day Mr. Flynn made an explanation of his connection with the case, which was strengthened by the position taken by Thomas Lawler, Mr. Schubert's jury clerk.

Tuesday Mr. Lawler made an affidavit to the effect that he had received the cards in which was the Wilson card from Flynn. Yesterday morning, after thinking the matter over, he decided that he could not be certain whether he got the cards from Flynn, Chief Clerk Dunn, or Mr. Schubert himself.

It was generally expected that Wilson would be arrested as soon as he left the jury box. He hurried away from the court-room, however, without being molested, and Assistant Prosecutor Bottum said last night that he had not decided whether or not proceedings would be instituted against him.

The agreement by which Gates and Wilson were dismissed on a challange for cause which did not go into the merits of the case prevented what might have been a long and disagreeable controversy.

The Proceedings in the Court-Room.

The brief proceedings in the court-room were without sensational incident. Promptly at 10 o'clock Judge Tuthill came from his chambers. Assistant Prosecuting Attorneys Bottum and Scanlan and Attorneys Donahoe and Wing for the defense followed and stood close up to the front of the Judge's bench. Mr. Bottum was the first to speak. He was evidently continuing a conversation when he said:

I will have the record show that the defendant and his counsel consent to it or else I will file my affidavit. I make the motion upon the theory that you consent to it, Judge Wing, and the defendant consents to the motion in open court.

The Court—Your suggestion is that these two jurors are incompetent by reason of there having served on a jury within a year, and therefore the State challenges them. Come up here, Mr. Coughlin. (The ex-detective walked up to the Judge's desk). Your counsel suggest and they consent that these jurors be challenged for cause. Are you also willing to consent?

The Prisoner—Yes.

The Court—Let it appear then that the defendant in person and his counsel consent to the withdrawal of these two jurors.

Mr. Bottum—I move the court that the two jurors heretofore impaneled and sworn on this jury be challenged for cause. In the case of Juror S. L. Gates on the ground, first, that he has served as a judge of election within a year, and, secondly, on the ground that he has served on a jury within a year in the Criminal Court of Cook County. I also interpose a challenge for cause to the juror George C. Wilson, otherwise known as George T. Wilson, for cause, by reason of the fact that he has served on a jury in the Criminal Court of Cook County within the last year and prior to the time he was sworn in this case; it having been discovered that the two jurors had served on a jury in the Criminal Court of Cook County within one year prior to the time of their being sworn and accepted as jurors in this case. I understand the defendant has consented and the challenge for cause may be allowed.

Judge Wing—It has been accepted.

The Court—Now make the entries there. The challenge will be suttained, and the two jurors will be excused from further service on this jury.

The Court's Talk to the Jurors.

The two jurors arose from their seats and passed to the clerk's desk. Here they were given their pay for the time they had served, and after a few moments' hesitation, as if they themselves expected further developments, they walked out of the court and went down the corridor. No attempt was made to stop them by any of the State officials. After the jurors had gone the court addressed the ten jurors as follows:

Gentlemen: I feel that it is proper for me at this stage of the proceedings to instruct you as to what you probably do not know. The law of this State makes it a ground of challenge for cause if any juror has served on a jury within a year. Now it appeared upon investigation that these two jurors who have been excused had served upon a jury within a year and upon full consideration of the matter the court and counsel for both sides and the defendant concede, as we desire a fair jury, a jury that is free from all legal exception, that it is the safer plan, as this case is a case that will take a good while, that it would be a great calamity to have anything happen which would prevent justice or be an error in this case under any circumstances. We have concluded that the wise thing is now to make haste slowly and see that this error, which we all concede it to be, is cured, and so these two jurors have been excused. We will now proceed to get two other jurors who are free from all legal exceptions. I will say to you that in this investigation of this matter the counsel for the defense have coöperated with the counsel for the State and with the court, and as you see the whole matter is done by consent not only of the counsel but of their client, the prisoner at the bar. This will necessarily delay somewhat the progress of the case, but I trust we shall be able to get two other jurors and to go on with the hearing in a short time.

I hope the jurors will find their confinement made as agreeable as possible. We desire particularly that you have no impression with regard to the merits of the case, not the slightest from anything that has taken place; it should not have any effect upon your minds one way or the other, either against the State nor against the defendant. It is simply a precaution which the court and counsel for the State and counsel for the defendant deem the proper course to take in this important trial.

Order for a Special Venire.

Let it appear that the court makes an order for a special venire of 200 men; and the court will make an order appointing a special bailiff to serve this venire, with the consent of the defendant, returnable Friday morning.

Mr. Bottum—Let me interrupt you. When will your Honor appoint the special bailiff? I understand the statute prescribes the method in which he shall be sworn. I think that ought to be done in open court in the presence of the jury and defendant.

The Court—I understand you object to the Sheriff summoning the jurymen on a special venire?

Mr. Bottum—We do, your Honor, and I am willing to have it appear of record here, and I understand that both parties consent and the record shows it. I think the bailiff can be appointed by the court.

The Court—I do not think there is any question about that.

The jury were escorted back to the Revere House and counsel retired to the Judge's chambers.

Frank Fucic was appointed by Judge Tuthill last night special bailiff to serve the special venire of 200 talesmen summoned to appear Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the Coughlin case. Fucic was for a long time bailiff in Judge Rogers' court. He afterward served Judge Tuthill in the same capacity. Under the old County Board he was jury clerk. Regarding the retention of the other ten men on the jury Judge Tuthill said: "I do not think that the fact that two men have been discharged makes any effect on the others. The verdict reached in the case cannot be upset on the ground that an entirely new jury should have been secured."

SCHUBERT WAS WITH FLYNN.

The Criminal Court Clerk Tells of the Jury Drawing—Lawler Not Positive.

Clerk of the Criminal Court Schubert called Jury Clerk Thomas Lawler and Clerk "Jerry" Flynn into his office yesterday afternoon and thoroughly investigated the connection of both men with the handling of the mysterious jury card No. 30,167, which bore the name of George C. Wilson.

Mr. Lawler, who swore Tuesday that to the best of his knowledge he received the batch of cards containing the one in question from Flynn, weakened under cross-examination and finally admitted that either Chief Clerk Dunn or Mr. Schubert himself might have handed him the cards.

After comparing dates and records Mr. Schubert said:

The venire on which the name of Wilson appears bears the date Nov. 15. Several days before we drew a regular venire of 800 names. I am certain of the date of the latter drawing because the law provides that the jury must be drawn at least twenty days before court opens, and Nov. 14 was the last day on which it could be done. I mention this because shortly before then I had been told that the prosecution in the Coughlin case did not want Flynn to draw the talesmen. Accordingly on the day the regular venire was drawn I went with Flynn myself, and thereafter I accompanied him on every trip until he was relieved from the duty altogether. So I must have been with him when the venire dated Nov. 15 was drawn. I always went with him both to and from the County Clerk's office, and therefore he could have had no opportunity to manipulate cards in transit.

Mr. Flynn contented himself with a simple and unqualified denial of any wrong doing in the premises. He has served in the office seven years.

Mrs. Gillette Will Not Talk.

Mrs. Kate C. Gillette of No. 44 Curtis street, who called upon Judge Tuthill Tuesday, last night admitted that she had talked with the Judge and with the State's-Attorney about the Coughlin trial, but refused to say anything of the evidence. There was a report that when Burke was in jail in Winnipeg he was confined in the same cell with one Gillette, to whom he made a confession. Gillette afterward disappeared. Mrs. Gillette is supposed to have the confession or statement. This she denies. Last night she said: "I know of no one by the name of Gillette who was confined in jail at Winnipeg. My maiden name was Gillette and when I was divorced from my husband I took it again. I can say nothing about my visit to Judge Tuthill or the State's-Attorney. What I might have heard I do not care to discuss."

WILL NOT PROSECUTE THE A. P. A.

Charges of Criminal Conspiracy Cannot Be Sustained in Buffalo Courts.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Assistant District-Attorney Kenefick declares there will be no prosecution here of members of the American Protective Association on the charge of conspiracy. A local paper has asserted that seventy-five prominent members would be taken before the grand jury for indictment, and, Mr. Kenefick says, there are no such cases before the grand jury and none will be brought. "The A. P. A.," said Mr. Kenefick, "is not an association of criminal conspirators. An officeholder would violate his constitutional oath of office if he fixed a religious test in making appointments, but no ordinary citizen who joins the A. P. A. can be accounted guilty of criminal conspiracy."

COSTLY FURS STOLEN.

AUDACIOUS EXPRESSMAN WALKS AWAY WITH HIS PLUNDER.

Wolf & Periolat Give a Thief Furs Valued at $1,200 to Deliver—He Pawns Them for $55 and Gambles the Money Away—The Stolen Goods Recovered in Various Places and Held for Delivery to Their Well-Known Purchasers When the Court Releases Them.

If it snows today and Postmaster Wash Hesing drives his fleeing horses over the snow-clad boulevards he won't hold the lines in the grasp of a pair of sealskin gloves which he ordered made for the occasion two weeks ago.

ALFRED LOUDERBACK.

Neither will he pull down over his ears an elegant sealskin cap ordered at the same time. If Chris Hotz joins the procession of gay sleighs he will not wrap his form in a fine wolverine robe that he had ordered made. A. S. Trude will not be able to look complacently at a moose rug which he had prepared. Mrs. John M. Smyth will not have a $600 sealskin newmarket, and other persons will be unable to use various articles of furs. The reason is that most of the articles named are in pawn. They were placed there by Alfred Louderback.

In the guise of a driver for the Red Line City Express company he induced the makers, Wolf & Periolat, to give him the furs to deliver. Two hours later the firm found out that they had been swindled. Seven hours later detectives found Louderback, recovered part of the property, and located the rest in pawnshops. The furs were worth $1,200. Louderback got $55 for them, lost most of the money in a gambling-house, and had 15 cents when arrested. He denied his identity at first, but afterwards confessed, and yesterday talked freely about himself.

Louderback is a small-sized, sharp-featured young man about 25 years old. A year ago he left the employ of the Hotel Richelieu, where he worked as a bell boy. Some time later he got a job as driver from the Red Line City Express company, which delivers goods for a number of merchants who do not keep wagons. He lost his place a short time ago, but had a promise, he says, that he would be given employment this week. When he left the express company's service he took along the badge which its drivers wear on their hats. Tuesday morning he decided to utilize the badge in a scheme he had conceived. He fixed the badge on his hat and walked into Wolf & Periolat's store at 10 o'clock.

"HESING WITHOUT HIS CAP AND GLOVES
TRUDE WITHOUT HIS LAP ROBE

THE MISERY LOUDERBACK CAUSED.

"Have you got anything to be delivered?" he asked Miss Emma Frahm, the shipping clerk. She recognized him at once. He had frequently called for goods. Miss Frahm called the porter, John Bodine, and he made up a number of bundles and handed them to Louderback. They contained the articles already enumerated and were valued at $1,200. Miss Frahm noted the different packages in the Red Line Express company receipt book which the firm kept in the store and Louderback signed the receipt. Porter Bodine helped him tuck the parcels under his arms and Louderback walked out. The porter and the shipping clerk were busy over their duties two hours later when a genuine driver for the Red Line Express company walked in and asked what they had for him.

"We gave your man a lot of goods at 10 o'clock," the shipping clerk replied.

"I guess not," the driver responded. "There's no other man on this beat."

Porter Bodine carried the tidings to Mr. Wolf, who hurried over to the Express company's office and described Louderback. Manager Daube recognized him at once as a former employé and gave his address, No. 387 Armitage road. Mr. Wolf then went to police headquarters and there detectives Niggemeyer and Trehorn were detailed on the case. The two detectives, with Porter Bodine to identify Louderback, went to No. 387 Armitage road and waited. At 7 o'clock Louderback walked into the arms of the officers.

He was brought down to the furrier's store, his young wife, whom he had married in September, accompanying the party. Louderback presented a cool front at first, denying that he had visited the store that morning, but later, while questioned by Mr. Wolf, broke down and told everything.

He carried the goods, he said, to Fenton's Hotel on Van Buren street, where he secured a room and concealed part of them under the bed and sold the rest at pawnshops. The detectives found Mrs. Adams' jacket, the muffs and trimmings under the bed in Louderback's room. Mrs. Smyth's newmarket they found at Andrews' pawnshop. Andrews had given Louderback $35 for the garment. Bomark Bros. had paid $3 for Mr. Hesing's cap and gloves, and Rosenbledt & Co. had given $4 for Mr. Trude's rugs. Mr. Hotz's robe had gone for $4.50.

When Louderback was employed at the Richelieu a year ago a number of guests were robbed of jewelry and other valuables. Trehorn worked on the robberies and remembers that Louderback was officiously active in imparting information. The detective now suspects that he had considerable to do with the thefts.

Louderback will be arraigned tomorrow morning and the pawnbrokers have been ordered to bring the goods into court. Wolf & Periolat say they hope to deliver them to their owners immediately afterwards.

HENNESSY IS CONVICTED OF MURDER.

He Receives a Twenty-five Year Sentence for O'Brien's Killing.

Thomas Hennessy was found guilty of murder by a jury in Judge Stein's court yesterday morning and sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary. Fred Harris, who was jointly indicted with Hennessy and also tried with him as an accessory, was found not guilty and discharged. The case which had been on trial for two days was given to the jury at 6 o'clock Tuesday night. It was midnight before the jury had agreed upon a verdict and Judge Stein had gone home three hours before that time. When the jury entered court at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning both the prisoners were nervous. Hennessy almost collapsed when the verdict was read. His red face paled and his head shook with excitement. Young Harris was happy and he left the court-room with a beaming face.

Thomas Hennessy shot and killed Michael O'Brien at the entrance to the alley on Harrison street, between Michigan and Wabash avenues, the afternoon of Friday, June 16 last. The men had quarreled over the division of $5, which Harris said O'Brien and Hennessy had taken from a man they held up on the West Side a few nights before the shooting. When the men met at the alley they at once began to fight. Hennessy called to Harris to shoot O'Brien with a revolver he had given him. Harris did not obey and Hennessy seized the weapon and shot O'Brien twice. O'Brien died in the County Hospital a few hours later. Hennessy and Harris escaped.

Six weeks after the shooting Harris returned to Chicago and was arrested. He is 19 years old and his home is in Toronto, Can. Hennessy was arrested for attempted burglary in St. Louis two months after killing O'Brien. He was brought back to Chicago for trial. Hennessy is 26 years old and was born and reared in Buffalo, N. Y.

DRUNKEN MINERS KILL EACH OTHER.

Six Men Die and Four Are Fatally Injured in a West Virginia Town.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 29.—Scanty details have been received here of the shooting of ten men at Eckman, McDowell County, last evening, resulting in the death of six men and the fatal wounding of several more. The miners had just been paid off, and drank heavily. All the shooting occurred within a radius of three miles, and, what is remarkable, all were separate cases. A part of the trouble took place over the gaming tables. The miners are chiefly negroes and toughs. The list of dead and wounded as far as reported is:

EDWARDS, ARCHIE, dead from wounds in the head.
JACKSON, JAKE, fatally shot by Ed. Fuller.
TURNEY, TAZEWELL, clubbed to death by Austin Price.
Three negroes killed outright.
Four negroes fatally wounded.

COLD WAVE COMING TO CHICAGO.

Zero Weather Will Be Here Tonight to Stay Forty-eight Hours.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 29.—The coldest weather of the season is scheduled to arrive during the night and will move as far east as Chicago by tomorrow evening. The temperature at 10:30 p. m. is about zero here, 12° below zero at Moorhead, 16° below at St. Vincent, and in the Northwest Territory the range is all the way from 20° to 32° below zero. The weather is very frigid as far west as Helena, and very low temperature is predicted for the next forty-eight hours. The weather has become so cold here that the city has been obliged to discharge 700 men it had set to work at Como Park out of charity.

NEW EVENING PAPER FOR CHICAGO.

Proposed Removal of the "Ohio Sun" from Youngstown, O.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 29.—Charles R. Pratt, a wealthy young man from New York, came here last April and launched the Ohio Sun, a penny afternoon paper. It ceased publication this afternoon, the plant being bought by local capitalists represented by L. V. Ashbaugh and H. K. Taylor, who will remove it to Chicago and start an afternoon paper under the mangement of Mr. Ashbaugh. Pratt is reported to have dropped $30,000 during the time he conducted the paper. Since suit was commenced against him in New York for divorce he has not been here.

ENORMOUS GROWTH OF THE DEFICIT.

Government Expenditures Exceed Receipts Seven Millions a Month.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. [illegible]—The Treasury debt statement will be issued Friday next. It will show a cash loss for November of about $6.500,000, leaving the balance on Dec. 1 about $96,500,000. The expenditures for the month exceeded the receipts by $6,700,000, the latter only reaching $24,000,000. For the first five months of the present fiscal year the expenditures have exceeded the receipts by $34,000,000, or at the rate of nearly $7,000,000 a month, which, if kept up, will make the net deficit at the end of next June $80,000,000.

DEATH THE PENALTY.

THOMAS HIGGINS SENTENCED FOR PETER M'COOEY'S MURDER.

The Jury Deliberates Three Hours and Returns a First Degree Verdict—Story of the Crime, the Arrest, and the Alleged Confession—Trial with Night Sessions That It May Close Before Thanksgiving Day—How the Verdict Is Received by Higgins.

Thomas Higgins must suffer death for the murder of Peter McCooey of No. 153 Johnson street. Such is the verdict of the jury in Judge Brentano's court returned at 10:15 o'clock last night. For several days the trial has been in progress. It was conducted by the State on a demand for a verdict of death, and the web of damaging evidence was woven closely and gradually closed in until it was shown that Higgins acted with deliberate premeditation. Tuesday the jurors asked Judge Brentano to hold a night session of court. The evidence was nearly all in and they were anxious to finish the trial in order to escape being under restraint over Thanksgiving.

The jury took the case at 6:30 o'clock last evening and retired after having been instructed by the court. Judge Brentano explained the different degrees of homicide and left no room for question or dispute on technicalities. The Judge waited at the Criminal Court Building until 8 o'clock, but as there was no indication of a verdict he went home. He consented, however, to return on call. At 9:15 the jury announced to the bailiff that a verdict had been reached. Judge Brentano was at once notified by telephone and he reached the court-house at 10 o'clock.

Higgins, who was in his cell at the jail, was notified and was led into the court-room by Bailiffs Harry Hall and Thomas Carson. His step was firm and his face did not show any nervousness. He took his seat and glanced up at the jury, then shifted his gaze to the Court.

Higgins Hears His Doom.

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?" asked Judge Brentano.

"We have, your Honor," replied the foreman.

"The clerk will now read it."

Maj. McClure, the reading clerk, took the sealed document and opened it. He then read the verdict. It was as follows:

We, the jury, find the defendant, Thomas Higgins, guilty of murder in manner and form as charged in the indictment and we fix his punishment at death. We further find that the defendant is not between the age of ten and twenty-one; that we believe him to be about twenty-two.

"Is this your verdict?" asked the Court.

"It is," came from the foreman.

Then, as the jury was polled, each member made answer affirmative. Attorney A. Hammond, for the defense, entered a motion for a new trial and it was recorded.

Higgins heard his doom pronounced without any visible trace of emotion. Save for the blinking of his eyes one could not have told that he was listening. There was not a twitch of a muscle, not a motion that betrayed grief or remorse. He remained seated until Bailiff Hall touched him on the shoulder.

"Come with me," Hall said.

"All right," Higgins replied, "I guess the jig's all up with me now."

The man returned to his cell without saying anything more. Before leaving the jury-room the jurors agreed not to say anything about their balloting or how their opinion first stood.

When Thomas Higgins was placed on the stand yesterday he denied that he had ever made a confession of the crime to Capt. Blettner of the Maxwell Street Police Station. Afterward he qualified this by saying that if he did make a confession it was while he was drunk, and he had no remembrance of what he said. He denied that he was one of the burglars who entered Peter McCooey's house the night of the murder. He said that the police officers of the Maxwell Street Station had beaten him to make him confess. A necktie which Higgins claimed to have worn at the time of his arrest was introduced in evidence. This was covered with blood, which Higgins said had dripped from his nose after an officer in the Maxwell Street Station had struck him in order to make him confess that he had shot McCooey.

Arguments Close the Case.

The evidence was all in at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Rosenthal addressed the jury briefly. Attorney Thomas Hanlon, for the defense, spoke for an hour, dwelling at length on the methods of the police to secure a confession from Higgins. Mr. Rosenthal closed the case with a strong presentation of the facts in the case, which, he said, warranted the infliction of the death penalty.

At 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning Sept. 3 last the family of Peter McCooey, No. 153 Johnson street, were roused by a shot. Mrs. McCooey, who occupied a room adjoining that of her husband, called to him. He did not answer and she ran in and found her husband lying unconscious on his bed with a wound in his breast. In a few minutes he died. As Mrs. McCooey was going to the room of her husband she heard some one rapidly retreating. Two hours after the murder officers of the Maxwell Street Station ran across Thomas Higgins, who had served time for burglary, and placed him under arrest. He confessed the following day, Capt. Blettner says, and implicated Ed Gary, alias "Red" Gary, and Harry Fienberg, alias "Itzky," alias "Sheeney Joe." Gary escaped. Fienberg when arrested denied that he had even seen Higgins on the night of the burglary. When the case was called Fienberg asked for and was granted a separate trial. Higgins is 26 years old, low browed and repulsive in features.

PLENTY OF COAL FOR THE SOUTH.

Higher Water in the Ohio Lets Out Millions of Bushels.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 29.—The present rise in the river will let out coal sufficient to supply all the yards from here to New Orleans. It is stated that 25,000,000 bushels will be let out from Pittsburg and 4,000,000 from the Kanawha. This will give employment to about 5,000 men who have been idle for six months.

THREE THOUSAND MEN AFFECTED.

Unlimited Retrenchment Ordered on the Fort Wayne Railroad.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—An order for retrenchment was sent out by the officials of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad this morning. Upon the return of the work train this evening the men were notified that the train would be laid off, which throws forty men out of employment in this city. This is the first time in the history of the road that the work train has been laid off indefinitely. The order is issued along the whole line from Pittsburg to Chicago, and affects more than 3,000 men.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Following the annual inspections of the Eastern division of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad comes the report that several hundred employés at this end have been laid off. Fifteen freight engineers with their firemen and seven train crews were dismissed tonight. The freight business and passenger travel have fallen off to an alarming extent. Employés say great cuts have been made in the forces in all departments within the last few days and hundreds of dismissals are expected.

CHEYENNE INDIANS ON THE WARPATH.

They Leave the Reservation to Avenge the Killing of a Young Chief.

ENID, Ok., Nov. 29.—A courier from Cantonment says that a company of United States troops has left Camp Supply to head off a band of Cheyennes who have escaped the military guard and are making for Cheyenne County, where they are to wreak vengeance on Tim O'Hara for killing a prominent young chief, Red Blanket, who was caught in the act of cattle stealing. The band numbers eighty bucks and they are well armed and mounted. O'Hara is in charge of the Sheriff of Cheyenne County, which is so remote from outside communication that all news must be procured through couriers.

M'LEAN COAL STRIKE IS AT AN END.

Vice-President Stevenson's Company Employ New Men and Resume.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The strike of mule drivers and laborers at the McLean County coal company's shaft, which was inaugurated yesterday, is at an end. The company refused to recede from the order, and scores of men and boys who applied for the places of the strikers were employed and by noon the mine was in operation as before. Adlai E. Stevenson, Vice-President of the United States, who is President of the coal company, was at the office of the company nearly all day, but the committee which it was said was to lay the grievances of the strikers before him failed to make its appearance.

TO GIVE ITS THANKS

Chicago Will Celebrate Today's Festival with Joy.

REASONS FOR GRATITUDE

Success of the Greatest World's Fair the Chief One.

CHURCH AND CLUB EVENTS.

School Children and Deaconesses' Home Help the Poor.

TO LAY LIBRARY CORNER-STONE.

Thanksgiving day in Chicago will be a busy, bustling holiday, as full of pleasure and good cheer as one brief day can be. Fortune has smiled kindly on Chicago since last Thanksgiving day, so the man of affairs and those in humbler walks of life may sit down to their annual feast with even keener zest than usual. They can all be thankful for the greatest Fair in the world's history; for the finest summer weather for four months and a half in the memory of the oldest inhabitant; that the Postoffice has not fallen down; for two magnificent libraries, the Newberry and the Public, the former now ready for use; that the financial stringency of last summer has dealt lightly with Chicago. West-Siders can be earnestly thankful for the Lake Street "L" road and an opportunity to sit down while riding home after a hard day's work. These are but a few from a long, long list of blessings bestowed upon Chicago.

As for the day itself it will be an ideal Thanksgiving—clear, cold, and crisp—if the predictions of the weather bureau may be relied upon. The indications are for a drop in temperature of 25°. The clouds should all be gone by church time and the mud should be frozen hard, the weather man says.

Of course, the first thing to do will be to attend Thanksgiving services. Abundant opportunity to do this will be afforded. Many of the churches have united to hold grand services, the others have prepared exceptionally fine musical programs to supplement the addresses of the pastors.

Thanksgiving day without a football game would be a dismal failure. Two glorious games are scheduled for today, one for the morning at 11 o'clock, in which the University of Chicago team is pitted against the Ann Arbor eleven at the new athletic field, Forty-seventh street and Ellis avenue; the other, between the Boston and Chicago Athletic Association teams, in the afternoon at Thirty-fifth street and Wentworth avenue. There will be a number of minor games, including one between teams from the Scotch Football Association and the Gaelic Association for the championship of the State at 3 p. m. at Thirty-seventh street and Indiana avenue, and between the Northwestern and the Wabash College teams at 10 a. m.

The football teams of the Boston Athletic Association and the Chicago Athletic Association will occupy boxes at the Savoy Music Hall in the evening. The boxes will be handsomely decorated and some songs written especially for the occasion will be sung by the Savoy artists.

Matinees at the Theaters.

All the theaters will give special Thanksgiving day matinées. Mrs. John Drew and company will appear at the Schiller in "The Rivals," Modjeska at Hooley's in "Mary Stuart," Mme. Tavary at the Chicago in "Bohemian Girl," the Bostonians at the Columbia in "Robin Hood," George Thatcher's company at the Grand in "Africa," and at McVicker's "Blue Jeans" will be presented.

It goes without saying there will be any amount of feasting today and it is furthermore safe to say no banquet served in Chicago today will be more thoroughly enjoyed than that at the Friendship House, on Clinton street, near Madison. Here the 700 guests of the lodging house will be given a feast by the proprietor, A. Lammoris. Speeches will be made upon the subject of municipal control of lodging houses by a number of special guests. The newsboys will not be forgotten. The Fifth Avenue Bakery Lunch-room will serve a Thanksgiving dinner for them from 11 to 1 o'clock. At the soup kitchen, No. 615 South Clinton street, a Thanksgiving dinner will be served to all who apply. The little ones at Margaret Etter Crèche, No. 5356 Wabash avenue, will be treated to a feast suited to their age. Thanksgiving dinners will be served at the Jail, County Hospital, Washingtonian Home, Presbyterian Hospital, Women's and Children's Hospital, Foundlings' Home, Old People's Home, Newsboys' Home, Mercy Hospital, Michael Reese Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, Hahnemann Hospital, Women's Hospital, Chicago Orphan Asylum, Old People's Home, Thirty-ninth street and Indiana avenue; Home for the Friendless, Alexian Brothers' Hospital, Girls' Industrial Home, Jewish Training School, and at the Poorhouse at Dunning.

The prisoners in Cook County Jail will be served a turkey dinner today. Those who smoke will be given good cigars. Miss Hawthorne is preparing a special banquet for the boys confined in the jail and each of them will receive candies and nuts.

A complimentary Thanksgiving luncheon will be served at the Hotel Windermere, Cornell avenue and Fifty-sixth street, from 11 to 2 o'clock. At 6 o'clock a dinner will be given to the editorial staff of the University of Chicago Weekly.

ASPECT OF THANKSGIVING DAY TO CERTAIN CHICAGOANS.

A Thanksgiving event in the Catholic Church will be the consecration of a Bishop at All Saints' Church for the third time in the history of the church in Chicago. The Bishop-elect is the Rev. Father E. J. Dunne. The consecration takes place in the morning.

Public Library Corner-Stone to Be Laid.

Today, too, the corner-stone of the new Public Library is to be laid at 10 a. m.—an event for which every one in the city should feel thankful. The ceremony will be simple. The Library Board thought at first to have an elaborate ceremony, but, knowing the weather might be severe, that plan was abandoned. The members of the board and their friends will meet at the construction house on the grounds at 9:45 o'clock. At 10 o'clock they will repair to the northwest corner of Michigan avenue and Washington street and gather about the corner-stone, which will be hanging from a crane ready to be placed in position. Mayor Swift will make a brief address, after which President Hirsch of the Library Board will place in the receptacle in the center of the stone the copper box containing Chicago newspapers of the date, coins of the United States, records of the board, and a copy of the year's proceedings. Next he will distribute the mortar and the stone will be lowered into position. President Hirsch then will deliver an address and will be followed in a short talk by Daniel Shorey, an ex-member of the Library Board. This will conclude the program. Those invited to be present include all the city, State, county, and Federal officeholders in the city, former members of the Library Board, and members of the Historical and other societies. The general public is invited, too.

The public schools closed for the Thanksgiving day holiday last night, not to be opened again until Monday morning.

Finally the day will be brought to a fitting close by the world of society with a long list of events of more than usual interest. The great majority of the clubs will give balls or receptions, to say nothing of those at private homes.

POOR FAMILIES TO GET DINNERS.

Contributions by Chicago School Children a Brilliant Success.

To the school children of Chicago many a poor family will be indebted today for a Thanksgiving dinner. Last week resolutions were passed by the Board of Education authorizing principals of the schools to receive from the pupils contributions of clothing and money once each year, to be known as the "Thanksgiving offering." These donations, the resolutions provided, are to be given to the Children's Aid Society, which has been organized for the purpose of providing pupils not properly furnished with clothing aid that they may attend school. Copies of this resolution were sent to the principals of the schools, and in a day or two the results commenced to accumulate.

Yesterday morning thousands of pupils came to school bearing money, food, and clothing. The food gathered was distributed to the needy families. The clothing was sent to the Kinzie School, where it will be sorted and properly arranged, and children who do not attend school because they do not have good enough clothes will be asked to go to the Kinzie School, where, if their needs are genuine, they will be fitted out with good warm clothes.

The money donated is turned over by the principals to Mrs. Shepard, in the Board of Education rooms in the City Hall. Mrs. H. T. Vollmer, No. 52 Twenty-fourth street, is Treasurer of the Children's Aid Society, and to her Mrs. Shepard hands the cash as soon as it is received and properly credited. Mrs. Vollmer attends to the distribution of the cash and she takes good care to see that those in most need get the money. Up to last night the donations of cash received from the schools were:

Irving, $26; Brown, $68; North Division High, $60; Sheldon, $22; Fifty-fourth Street, $43; Newberry, $18; Grant, $15; Oak Ridge, $15; Pearson Street, $15; Wells, $40; Boulevard, $10; Walsh, $18; Oakland, $41; Skinner, $26; Central Park, $39; Haven, $3; La Salle, $44; Cornell, $8; Washburn, $9; Goodrich, $20; Hedges, $6; Pickard, $15; Doolittle, $33; West Division High, $34; Douglas, $53; Rogers, $10.

"The society," said Mrs. Shepard, "did not have a penny in its treasury last Monday. Today, you see, it has $700, and all the schools are not heard from yet. Mrs. Vollmer was here today and got a few hundred dollars, which she took away and will dispose of to good advantage."

It was estimated last night that 1,200 poor families will eat Thanksgiving dinners today on account of the generosity with which the school children responded to the resolutions. The Ogden School sent a basket of provisions and a bushel of coal to each of 100 families. Oak Park School sent thirty-five barrels of food to the Deaconess' Home, Dearborn avenue and Ohio street. The teachers and pupils of Douglas School have given generously to the general fund and Miss Lucia Johnson, principal, says she never worked so hard in any past year. Eight barrels of clothing, two boxes of shoes, $50, and large quantities of food have been contributed.

One of the interesting features of the interest taken by the school children was the work the little people did in making personal investigations into cases of destitution. Hundreds of poor people were discovered and their wants attended to by the children personally. Of these cases no record is kept, so in the general count hundreds of families supplied with dinners will necessarily be omitted from the totals.

FOOD FOR WIDOWS WITH FAMILIES.

Good Work for Thanksgiving Carried On by the Deaconess' Home.

There were busy scenes in the store-rooms of the Deaconess' Home, Dearborn avenue and Ohio street, all day yesterday. Last night things were not quite so lively, but there will be quite a rush for a few hours this morning. More than 150 families will eat dinner today sent by the managers of the home. Every widow that could be found who has children to support, and who is supposed to be worthy of aid, will give thanks to this institution for her dinner. One man, who declines to allow his name to be made public, placed a large sum of money at the disposal of the home, to be used in this way. Applications for charity when received at the home are investigated and if the cases are deserving they are attended to promptly. Cards are left at the houses of deserving poor people by the visitors from the home. These are presented at the store-rooms and enough food is sent to supply a good dinner. Some cases will be held over until Saturday, as there have not been visitors enough to look into all the cases presented. From Oak Park School thirty-five barrels of food were received yesterday, and a similar donation is expected today from Wheaton School.

LACK OF "SNAP" IN THE MARKET.

South Water Street Commission Merchants Find Business Depressed.

South Water street commission merchants did not do the business yesterday that has been usual the day before Thanksgiving. The weather had much to do with this, but the lack of cash materially helped to depress the market. Nearly all the outlying shops and markets received their supply of poultry, game, vegetables, and fruits earlier in the week, and from these retail sources most customers were served. Turkeys and all poultry were a little cheaper on account of this lack of "snap" in the market and prices were from two to four cents below last year's quotations. Game seems to have been appreciated more than ordinarily and the amount sold was large. Fruits were in demand to some extent, but as a whole the market was not as good as the year before.

PRESIDENT DINES WITH MR. BISSELL.

Executive's Family Not to Celebrate the Festival at the White House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Cleveland will not eat their Thanksgiving dinner tomorrow at the White House. They have accepted the invitation of Postmaster-General and Mrs. Bissell, who will also have for their guests the Secretary of State and Mrs. Gresham, and the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Carlisle. Tomorrow will be the first Thanksgiving day since their marriage that the Postmaster-General and Mrs. Bissell have dined in their own home. It has heretofore been their custom to accept the invitation of their friends in Buffalo, with whom the former always dined that day during his bachelor days. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock and will be in all respects a typical Thanksgiving feast. The President and Mrs. Cleveland in dining with a Cabinet Minister on any occasion other than a Cabinet dinner have established a precedent, as heretofore it has been customary for the Chief Executive to pass the national holiday at the White House. Had the President elected to dine at the White House, as it was generally supposed would be the case, he would have had served the immense turkey weighing forty pounds sent him for this purpose by Horace Vose of Westerly, R. I. Vice-President and Mrs. Stevenson have not returned to the city, so will not eat their Thanksgiving dinner in Washington as expected.

Harvest Home Festival.

A harvest home festival was held last night at the Campbell Park Presbyterian Church, Leavitt street, south of Flournoy. Working people live in the district and some of them have felt the pressure of hard times. To relieve these and others the pastor, the Rev. William G. Clarke, and leading members of his congregation got up the harvest home festival. Five hundred large paper bags full of clothing and something more than that number of pounds of tea, coffee, rice, and other groceries were contributed. The price of admission was one pound of food per capita. This material will be distributed among worthy poor, regardless of residence or denomination. The Salvation Army will assist in the distribution. A musical and literary program was given at the church.

WOOLEN MILLS CLOSE THEIR DOORS.

Unable to Continue Work with a Wilson Tariff in Prospect.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 29.—The employés of the two big woolen mills in Raritan, two miles from here, found posted on the doors this afternoon a notice announcing that owing to the new tariff bill if the mills were to consult their best interest they would close down entirely, but in order that the employés might have some opportunity to earn something they had decided to give the employés the option of working short time at a reduction of 20 per cent in wages. The mills promise in their notice to resume work at the present scale of wages if the tariff bill is defeated. Should it pass they say things will be even worse, until the wages here in this country are reduced to the basis of English labor. With this reduction in wages the millowners have also reduced the rent of the company's houses from $6 to $2 a month. Kenyon Bros., manufacturers of woolen mill machinery, have shut down this week for lack of orders. They say that if the tariff bill is not defeated they will be compelled to close down for good.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Alfred Dolge will close his felt shoe factory in two weeks until March 1, owing to the prospects of the Wilson bill becoming a law.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Nov. 29.—The knitting mills of L. L. Dean & Co. at Rockton are shutting down for an indefinite period. The mills have been kept in operation as long as possible. The prospects of a change in the tariff is the cause of the shut-down.

DANCE FOR CHARITY.

THE CATHOLIC WOMEN'S NATIONAL LEAGUE GIVES A BALL.

Six Hundred People Enjoy Festivities at Bournique's, the Proceeds of Which Will Go to Day Nurseries and Kindergartens—Concordia Club Celebrates Its Fifteenth Anniversary at Kinsley's—First Methodist Church Young People Give a Pound Social.

Six hundred men and women gathered at Bournique's Hall, No. 51 Twenty-third street, last night in charity's name. It was the first charity ball given by the Catholic Women's National League in support of the day missions and kindergartens established during the year. It was a financial and artistic success. There were 1,000 tickets sold for the ball, including women's tickets.

The grand march was led by Mrs. P. J. O'Keefe and Charles A. Plamondon. The program included fourteen dances, and the lights were not put out till long after midnight. Supper was served the dancers by Kinsley between 10 o'clock and midnight. The dance music was furnished by Tomaso's Mandolin Orchestra.

The Catholic Woman's National League was organized during the meeting of the Catholic Congress last summer to take up progressive work by Catholic women. YOUNG FOLKS GIVE A POUND PARTY.

First Methodist Church Society Enjoys a Program—Distribution Today.

The young people of the First Methodist Episcopal Church celebrated Thanksgiving last night with a "pound party" held in the church lecture-room. They had something to give thanks for, as they had contributed so generously that nearly 150 families will be made happy today because of their liberality. The offerings consisted of turkeys, chickens, tea, coffee, vegetables, and fruits, and were divided into something like equal portions, each basket containing enough good things to make a hearty dinner for a good-sized family. The deaconesses of the Young People's Society have been engaged for more than a week investigating cases of distress, and these gifts will be distributed among what they consider the worthy poor. Something of a program was given last night, being participated in by:

Pastor H. D. Kimball, Assistant Pastor W. S. Nickle, Mrs. and Miss Nickle, Miss Smith, Miss Jensen, Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Bender, Miss Nettie Perry, Miss Tingley, Miss Madsen, Miss Ransden, Miss Lillie Conroy, Mrs. Marks, Benjamin Hopkins, and Mr. Jackson.

The program was the usual one of song, recitation, and address. The distribution of gifts will be made by messengers this morning.

THANKSGIVING EVE WEDDING.

The Rev. Father Reardon Weds a Pair at the Bride's House.

Miss May Sullivan, daughter of Mrs. M. A. Sullivan, No. 349 Chestnut street, was married last evening to Mr. William Reach at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was a quiet one, seventy-five guests being present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Reardon. The bride was attended by Miss Prindiville, Miss Marguerite Prindiville, Miss Kelly, and Miss Isabel Prindiville; and the best man was Mr. Charles Sullivan. The bride wore a gown of white satin and tulle and a tulle veil fastened with a diamond ornament. The bridemaids all wore white silk gowns trimmed with lace and carried white roses. After an informal reception Mr. and Mrs. Reach left for the South. They will be at home after Jan. 1.

MARRIED AT ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

Miss Marie Walker and Mr. Allen Lester Fowler Happily United.

The marriage of Miss Marie Walker, daughter of Mrs. L. D. Walker, No. 432 Elm street, to Mr. Allen Lester Fowler was celebrated last evening at 6 o'clock at St. Peter's Episcopal Church. The church was decorated with chrysanthemums and palms and filled with invited guests. As the bride and groom entered the organist rendered the Lohengrin march. The only attendants were the ushers, Mr. Paul Carey, Mr. Hal Thompson, Mr. W. Nicols, and Mr. Louis E. Mason. The Rev. Samuel C. Edsell, rector of the church, officiated, the bride being given away by her mother. The wedding gown was of white satin trimmed with point and duchesse lace, and she wore a tulle veil and carried lilies of the valley. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, fifty guests being present. Mrs. Walker received in a costume of white silk, trimmed with point lace. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler left in the evening for a trip East, and will be at home after Jan. 1 at No. 432 Elm street.

SCOTS GATHER AT A BANQUET.

St. Andrew's Society Holds Its Forty-eighth Annual Festival.

The forty-eighth annual banquet of the Illinois St. Andrew's Society was given at the Auditorium last night. Covers were laid in the banquet hall for 200 people, but half that number more came to the banquet, and hurried arrangements were made for their accommodation. It was a late hour when the guests, preceded by two pipers in Highland costume, entered the banquet-room. A life-sized portrait of St. Andrew, bearing his cross, hung suspended from the gallery rail, flanked on either side by the American and British flags.

Each member and guest wore above his badge a bunch of dried heather blossoms, gathered from the fields of Argyleshire, near Invernary, by Mrs. Donaldson of Glasgow, who each year remembers St. Andrew's Society by sending these flowers.

President Badenoch was toastmaster and with him at the table of honor sat Bishop McLaren, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gen. John C. Black, Mayor George B. Swift, Capt. Higgins, Judge Vincent, and Martin J. Russell. The program was divided into three parts, over which in turn presided President Badenoch, and Vice-Presidents William Gardner and William McCombie. It was as follows:

THANKSGIVING EVE MARRIAGE.

Two Prominent Young People Wedded at Trinity Episcopal Church.

The marriage of Mr. John H. Taylor and Miss Alice Burnham was celebrated at Trinity Episcopal Church, Twenty-sixth street and Michigan avenue, at 8 o'clock last night. The altar of the church was almost hidden in flowers and plants, and flowers had been distributed throughout the church and about the entrance. The bride wore a gown of white silk and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her ornaments were diamonds and pearls. The Rev. John Rouse read the Episcopal marriage service. Miss Bessie M. Bickel was the maid of honor and Miss Abbie Hayward and Miss Grace Anson the bridemaids. Catherine Miles, Jennie Tod, and Mildred Burnham were the flower girls. Mr. John McMurtry was best man and Mr. R. Leslie Burnham, Mr. Harry C. Hulbert, Mr. Harry K. Strickland, and Mr. D. Walter Evans the ushers. Following the wedding there was a reception at the residence of the bride and groom, No. 2452 Prairie avenue. The house was filled with flowers and plants and there was a handsome floral mantel in the drawing-room. The honeymoon is to be passed in Chicago and they will be at home to friends after Jan. 15.

The St. Vincent de Paul Society gives performances this afternoon and evening at the Standard Theater, Jackson and Halsted streets, for the benefit of the worthy unemployed. An excellent panorama will show Stanley's first visit to Africa and two acts of the comedy "Josh Whitcomb" will be given. F. K. Wallace is director of the program.

RECEIVED INFORMALLY.

One Hundred and Fifty Guests Listen to Music.

Mrs. George B. Carpenter, No. 293 Dearborn avenue, gave an informal reception yesterday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock for Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, née Fairbank. Mrs. Carpenter wore green chené silk and black lace and Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter wore a pale yellow silk and white lace. Assisting in receiving were Mrs. N. K Fairbank, Miss Green of St. Louis, and Miss Foster of Boston. In turn presiding at the table and assisting in the drawing-room were Miss Willing, Miss Day, Mrs. Herman Butler, Mrs. A. L. Stevenson, Mrs. N. H. Blatchford, Miss Meeker, Mrs. Cyrus Bentley, Mrs. Sprague, Miss Sprague, Miss Owens, and Miss Barrett. During the afternoon Miss Electra Gifford gave several songs. One hundred and fifty guests were present.

Standard Club's Fete Champetre.

A unique entertainment was the fete champetre given by the Standard club last evening. The affair was in reality what it was intended to be—a garden party on Thanksgiving eve. On a raised platform at the south end of the hall was a representation of the Wooded Island as it existed last summer at the Fair. Even the lagoon had been reconstructed, and in its water fish were swimming about as they did in the original.

The guests were dressed in harmony with the surroundings. The women were dressed in light, fleecy summer garments and broad-brimmed flower-trimmed hats. Their partners were in suits that had been laid away since the last hot wave.

An International Nuptial Affair.

The wedding of Miss Mable Cole to J. Hughes Roberts of Birkenhead, England, was celebrated last evening at the home of the bride, No. 481 Bowen avenue. The ceremony was most quietly celebrated at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Howard Johnston officiating. The bride wore a white silk gown trimmed with lace and a tulle veil and carried white roses. There were no attendants. After a wedding-trip East Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will be at home at No. 500 Forty-second place.

STEVENS TO BLOUNT.

HAWAIIAN EX-MINISTER SCORES THE PARAMOUNT COMMISSIONER.

He Declares That Blount Placed Himself Under the Espionage of Palace Adventurers and Also Under British Influence, While Brusquely if Not Insultingly Rejecting Proffered Courtesies of Americans—Records of the Men Who Furnished the Affidavits for Blount's Report.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Ex-Minister Stevens has made a reply to Commissioner Blount, which in substance is as follows:

> A deep sense of obligation to my country and an American's duty to defend an insulted, threatened, and struggling American colony, planted as righteously and firmly on the North Pacific Isles as our Pilgrim fathers established themselves on Pilgrim Rock, demand that I shall make an answer to the astounding misrepresentations and untruths of Commissioner Blount's report on Hawaiian affairs, a copy of which I first obtained with difficulty Saturday evening, Nov. 25. It is proper for me to preface my answer by briefly alluding to the fact that those familiar with international rules and proceedings and having diplomatic experience must be astonished that Secretary Gresham and his Commissioner should make before the world such a persistent effort to discredit the recent agents of the department they now represent, and which was once represented by Thomas Jefferson, William L. Marcey, William H. Seward, and James G. Blaine. The general adoption of such a policy by our Department of Foreign Affairs could not fail to weaken greatly our influence with foreign countries in any future effort and serve to make the American diplomatic service contemptible in the eyes of the world.

Democratic Un-American Policy.

> Not only is the course of Gresham and Blount extremely un-American in its form and spirit but it is also in direct opposition to the civilizing and Christianizing influence on the Hawaiian Islands, while it is playing into British hands in direct opposition of the efforts of the American Board of Missions and to the American Government for more than sixty years, in all of which period there has been a uniform, continuous, and patriotic American policy. I may also make a preliminary remark regarding the repeatedly asserted opinion of those who have assailed my official action, that I was prepared for and stimulated to it by the accomplished and thoroughly American statesman who occupied the Department of State most of the period of President Harrison's administration. It is sufficient to say that this expressed surmise is utterly without foundation. What I know and state on this point accords with what ex-Secretary Tracy has evidently asserted in that regard. Still more, I may properly add, that the lines of official duty as followed by myself and Capt. Wiltse and the course of the administration and of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations in the critical Hawaiian days of January and February last were exactly on the lines marked out by Secretary Marcy in 1854 and by Secretary Bayard in his dispatch to Minister Merrill July 12, 1887. Marcy's instructions and draft of treaty provided for annexation; Bayard's instructions of 1887 held the United States Minister and naval commander at Honolulu responsible for the protection of American life and property and the preservation of public order.

"A Neophyte in Diplomacy."

> So much as a necessary introduction to my consideration of the Blount report. Not wishing to be severe on a neophyte in diplomacy, with but little knowledge of the world's affairs outside of his own country, sent on a peculiar errand amid currents and quicksands entirely unknown to him, he has been partly the victim of circumstances, having been caught in the meshes and snares adroitly prepared for him by the cunning advisers of the fallen Liliuokalani and by the shrewd, sharp, long-experienced British diplomatic agent, whose aims and hopes Blount has served so well, and without the least suspicion that he was aiding ultra-British interests even more than he was helping the Hawaiian monarchists and the justly dethroned Queen. It is clear enough from Blount's manner on the day of his arrival at Honolulu, as well as by his letter to the Department of State written shortly after, that he designed, at whatever cost, to repudiate the views and action of the recently terminated administration, and in order to do so he must impugn the actions of Minister Stevens and of the commander of the United States Steamer Boston.

Blount's Disreputable Surroundings.

> A total stranger, it was impossible for Mr. Blount to know how unfitting it was for him to take up his quarters where he was certain to be surrounded by Royalists and where the supporters of the provisional government would be reluctant to go. The hotel was kept by one who had served as Kalakaua's Chamberlain, who was one of the principal persons in a syndicate that had cheated the Hawaiian Government out of nearly $100,000, a transaction which Minister Merrill had officially reported to Secretary Bayard, and this man was the leading member of a firm that sought to do its chief business with England, a thoroughly unprincipled opponent of the provisional government and of American predominance in the islands. He employed as his active assistant in managing the hotel a highly educated Englishman of disreputable character, who had written in the Hawaiian British newspaper, under an anonymous signature, articles abusive of the United States and grossly falsifying our government's treatment of the Indians. This man had had a most unsavory record while residing in the United States, and has been a bitter assailant of American officials in American newspapers; in the paid service of the fallen Queen he has written whatever she and her immoral favorite, Wilson, have asked him to write. At that hotel Mr. Blount was under the constant espionage of the palace adventuress.

Brusque and Insulting Manner.

He then details how Commissioner Blount, "brusquely, not to say insultingly," declined the offer to occupy an American lady's house, tendered by three Americans, of whom Mr. Stevens says: "Born and educated in the United States, the superiors of Mr. Blount in education and manners, men who had not taken part in the revolutionary proceedings." He then says of Commissioner Blount that he at once placed himself amid royalists and ultra-British surroundings, the British Legation being near this royalists' hotel, at which the British Minister soon took residence and living.

Continuing, the answer says:

> He coldly repelled my kindly-intended offers, did not allow me to show him the customary forms of introducing him to the foreign diplomatic officials and to the chief public men of Honolulu. How much of his singular course in these regards was due to want of knowledge and how much to his already matured purpose to make out a case against the United States Minister, the naval commander, and the provisional government the American public must judge.
>
> Ignoring his inferiority of official rank, which, according to established rules the world over, was below that of Minister Resident, between a Consul-General and a Chargé d'Affaires, with the utmost effort of will controlling my outraged sensibilities, while suffering a terrible affliction at the recent sad drowning of a gifted and beloved daughter, I endured this insolent treatment after thirteen years of service as United States Minister, without a stain ever before attempted to be made on my official honor or my fidelity to American prestige or to American interests, never during my seventy-three years of life having lifted my voice, my hand, or my rifle against the flag of this American Republic.

Absurd and Egotistic.

> What Blount says about the Japanese man-of-war is officially ex parte, absurd, and egotistic. For weeks after his arrival in Honolulu he had not even met or spoken with the Japanese Minister.
>
> Every step of my action was duly reported to the Department of State prior to Blount having any knowledge on the subject. His claim to have put an end to Hawaiian anxiety about rumored Japanese encroachment is as purely assumptive as his expression to me at my house that to him the Harrison administration was indebted for the strong Democratic support which was given it in the threatened war with Chile, and that Senator Morgan, now Chairman of the Senate Committee of Foreign Affairs, could not aid much in the same direction and is not a level-headed man.

"Emphatically and categorically untrue," are the words Mr. Stevens uses in denying Mr. Blount's assertion that the ex-Minister proposed to aid the Committee of Safety by force, the best answer to this charge being Capt. Wiltse's order to his officers and men "to remain passive." He cites a document sent him by the Queen twenty hours after her downfall as conclusive proof that she knew the United States forces had not participated in her overthrow. He says the marines were placed in Arion Hall because they could find no other shelter, and adds:

> For the occupation of Arion Hall by the men of the Boston the Committee of Public Safety and supporters of the provisional government had no more responsibility than Secretary Gresham himself. One of the chief objects in view by myself and Capt. Wiltse in landing the marines and sailors was to quiet the fears and panic in the city that incendiary fires might be set by irresponsible parties for the sake of plunder.

Blount, Neumann, and Spreckels.

Mr. Stevens inserts in his paper a copy of a dispatch from Mr. Blount to Secretary Gresham, dated June 28, 1893, in which the Special Commissioner withdraws the word "unscrupulous" from a previous dispatch in which he alluded to Mr. Paul Neumann as "bright, plausible, and unscrupulous," and the ex-Minister asks:

> Why this remarkable change of opinion? So long as he supposed Neumann wished to make a trade with the United States or with the provisional government for a cash consideration of all Liliuokalani claims Blount regarded Neumann a knave. As soon as this astute Commissioner ascertained that Neumann was in full accord with Spreckels and Blount for Liliuokalani's restoration to the throne Blount immediately learned that Neumann is "a right-down good fellow." So much for conclusive evidence that Spreckels, Neumann, and Blount were then as now rowing the same boat and closely linked in the conspiracy to damage the action of Harrison's administration and of the Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs on the question of annexation.

As to Blount's Witnesses.

> So far as the affidavits of John F. Colborn and A. P. Peterson and Charles L. Hopkins and the letter of W. H. Cornwell conflict with any writing or act of mine I will not multiply words. The first-named is a notorious corruptionist, with some amiable qualities, who aided in bringing the legislative members to vote out the Jones-Wilcox ministry and to pass the lottery bill. Peterson is the man who aided in the distribution of the lottery stock for the purchase of legislative votes, and held the Queen's authority to constitute a lottery cabinet and to aid the Queen to proclaim a reactionary Constitution.
>
> As to Samuel Parker, whose testimony is used to discredit my action, I would gladly say little. Mostly of native Hawaiian stock, he has a small fraction of Anglo-Saxon blood. Good natured, free-hearted, ignorant, fond of luxuriant living, a notorious spendthrift, he has wasted a large fortune left him by his grandfather and uncle. His word and his note are of little value among the bankers and business-men of Honolulu. For many years trying to play politics and to be the Queen's Minister, for which service he is without capacity, he has competed with Wilson for the control and the favor of the recent immoral occupant of the palace. He was a ready tool in the hands of Peterson and Cornwell in the palace conspiracy which precipitated the fall of the monarchy. It seems impossible that Blount should not have learned of the real character of the four fallen Ministers whose words he cites.

Record of Dr. Trouse.

> Of the Dr. Trouse, who figures conspicuously among Blount's affidavits, white-washing the notorious Wilson and Liliuokalani and abusively reflecting on my official action, I need only say that he is an adventurous Frenchman with whose printed record in Paris and moral career in Honolulu I will not soil this paper.
>
> Of J. A. Cummins it is correct to remark that what is herein said of Samuel Parker in most respects applies to Cummins. For years Cummins has had two wives at the same time in his home. It is not strange that W. L. Seward united in testimony with Cummins, for Seward is a kind of house clerk and steward of Cummins, occupying the same home, in which it is known in Honolulu there is a great deal of unlawful freedom of life.
>
> Regarding the Governor, Cleghorn, whose protest Blount speaks of relative to landing the men of the Boston, little need be said. Under the monarchy, prior to the adoption of the Constitution of 1887, the Hawaiian Governor had some importance. The office was abolished by that Constitution. The Legislature of 1890 restored the office as an honorary title, giving little power of duty. Cleghorn is a brother-in-law to the fallen Liliuokalani; is the reputed father of the so-called Princess now residing in England, whose half sister is married to the English Minister's son. Cleghorn is completely under the influence and follows the advice of English Minister Wodehouse. His protest came to me after the landing of the Boston's marines.
>
> Hopkins belonged to the same gang as Cornwell and Peterson. Cornwell had been one of the intimate palace associates of Kalakaua in his bestial life and shameful transactions. He is of notoriously immoral habits. He has been a cheat on the race course, betting against his own horses. He was one of the most active in aiding Peterson and Colburn to bribe the Legislature in forcing out the Jones-Wilcox Ministry, whom all the responsible men of the islands wished to continue. He had been repeatedly voted out of the ministry after a brief stay by large majorities, all the honest members voting against him. Prior to Cornwell's two expulsions Neumann had been voted out Aug. 20, 1892, by a vote of 31 to 10. Reappointed by the Queen Sept. 12, he was voted out Oct. 17 by 31 to 15. He was a close confederate with Peterson and Cornwell. He was known to be of the contract labor ring which was bleeding the planters. With good reasons he was believed to be the author of the Queen's revolutionary and despotic new constitution. Losing caste in California as a political corruptionist he had years before gone to Honolulu under the flattering auspices of Claus Spreckels.

Played Poker with Kalakaua.

> He had played poker with Kalakaua to the depletion of the weak King's purse. He is the man whom the Queen sent to Washington to get her restored to the throne or sell her claim to the crown in cash. He is the man by whom Blount absurdly hints I had sent dispatches to Washington on an errand for which on no occasion had I ever employed any one. Blount asserts he received this information from Spreckels. What a remarkable trio, Spreckels, Neumann, and Blount, two honest German Jews and the astute, impartial, unprejudiced, new-born diplomatist who had represented that he was the Democratic leader who had led his party to support Harrison in the threatened Chilean war, while he severely denounced Admiral Brown and Minister Egan.
>
> The testimony of hundreds of such would not counterbalance the words of Minister Thurston, President Dole, and Henry Waterhouse among honest men who knew the respective parties. As to Wilson, the Queen's immoral favorite for many years, whom Blount attempts to white-wash, I will not soil these pages by giving even the notorious facts in his regard.

Concerning his recognition of the provisional government Mr. Stevens reaffirms what he said in his recent letter to Secretary Gresham. He explains that during the exciting period prior to the fall of the monarchy the representatives of both parties had equal access to the American legation and that his answer to all proper inquiries was that the United States marines could not take sides, but that whatever de facto government might exist would have to be recognized.

Concluding, Mr. Stevens says:

> This extraordinary assault on the American colony in Hawaii, antagonizing the American Christian civilization there established at the cost of the lives and labors of noble American men and women; this strange turning back on an American policy of more than half a century; this wanton disregard of the opportunity to assume jurisdiction and ownership of a territorial and maritime prize with a clean title and without the cost of a single life, is justly causing profound indignation among the American people. These strange and unpatriotic proceedings in the presence of our national rivals is making a most shameful page of American history, which our future, if not our present, statesmen and generation will repudiate and blot out by wise and effective measures.

STRIKERS HEAR LEHIGH ULTIMATUM.

Arbitration and Grievance Committees Meet, but Results Are Unknown.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 29.—The members of the New York and New Jersey Boards of Arbitration, who held a conference with President Wilbur, First Vice-President Sayre, and General Manager Voorhees at the Lehigh Valley railroad offices at Bethlehem this afternoon, arrived in this city tonight and proceeded at once to the Bingham House, where they met the strike leaders. President Wilbur's ultimatum, which the arbitrators brought with them, was given to the representatives of the strikers for their consideration. It reads as follows:

> President Wilbur states the position of the Lehigh Valley railroad company to be as follows: The company agrees to take back as many of its old employés as it can find places for without any prejudice on account of the fact that they struck or that they are connected with any labor organization; that when in the employ of the road committees from the various classes of employés will be received as stated in the bulletin of Nov. 21 and their grievances considered and justly treated, and that in employing men in the future the company will give preference to former employés when the strike is declared off.

The strike leaders and arbitrators were together until nearly 8 o'clock, after which the latter left for their homes. The arbitrators declined to give out any statement with regard to the probable outcome of their efforts, merely saying that their labors were at an end. Chairman Clark of the Grievance committee declined to give any information as to the nature or result of tonight's conference with the arbitrators, and the other members of the committee were equally reticent. Chief Youngson, however, stated that the question of declaring the strike off had never been considered by the Grievance committee. President Wilbur's ultimatum is simply a reiteration of the position he assumed shortly after the strike began. The Grievance committee scattered tonight. Grand Master Sargent of the firemen went to Buffalo; Secretary Arnold of the firemen went to Sayre, via Jersey City; Assistant Chief Youngson of the engineers went to Perth Amboy, thence to Easton; and Grand Master Wilkinson of the trainmen went to Wilkesbarre. Chairman Clark, who is Grand Chief of the Order of Railway Conductors, will remain at the headquarters here.

The general belief is that the leaders have decided to declare the strike off. General Manager Voorhees said tonight that after the arbitrators were informed that President Wilbur's ultimatum was as favorable as anything they could get, the visitors devoted themselves to the task of securing the best terms they could for the strikers.

SEARCH FOR REVENUE

TARIFF REFORMERS SEEK SOME WAY TO MEET THE DEFICIENCY.

Secretary Carlisle's Figures to Show That the Shortage Next Year Will Be Comparatively Light Will Not Bear Analysis—The House Cannot Well Pass the Measure Before Feb. 1—Income Tax in Doubt and a Compromise in It May Be Reached.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Democratic tariff reformers are still groping in the dark for revenues wherewith to meet the deficiency which the Wilson bill will cause. The expenditures of the government for the five months of the fiscal year which will expire tomorrow have exceeded the receipts by $34,000,000. At that rate the deficit by July 1 would reach $84,000,000. This deficit is something that the Wilson bill will have nothing to do with. It must be met by bonds or some form of a temporary loan. It tends to show, however, the fiscal conditions which may be looked for when the new tariff legislation goes into effect.

Secretary Carlisle has been trying to take a hopeful view and figure out that the following year there will not be more than $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 deficit to be met by some other form of taxation than customs duties, but the Secretary's figures do not bear the analysis of his own subordinates. With no change in the internal revenue laws the Wilson law will cause a shortage of not less than $75,000,000. The tables prepared for the use of the Ways and Means committee, which were intended to show the relative bearings of the different schedules of the Wilson bill as compared with the McKinley law, are not ready.

The folks who talk about passing the bill through the House before the holidays had better get some understanding of the situation. All parties are agreed that in view of the fact that the tariff laws are to be changed it is desirable to have the changes made at a date as early as possible. But legislation vitally affecting so many interests cannot be rushed through. The Wilson bill will probably be introduced in the House Monday. Then its various schedules will have to be considered in the full Ways and Means committee, where the Republican minority can have a chance to pass on the details and where the committee itself can make some changes which its framers will want made. Then the Republican members have ten days in which to file their report.

There has been some talk about Stevens of Massachusetts, Cockran of New York, and Whiting of Michigan joining with the Republicans to secure modifications of the bill. There is nothing to this talk. Whatever their individual views may be they have helped to frame it as a Democratic majority, and they must stand by their work. The most dissatisfied member of the committee seems to be Stevens of Massachusetts. He is a woolen manufacturer, and he got the classification of the grades he manufactured altered so that they are given the highest rate in the bill. Nevertheless he is fearful of the effect of both the woolen and cotton schedules on the New England mills, and if he sees his way clear he may bolt the bill.

The probability is that the measure will be put upon the House calendar with the majority and minority reports the second week after Congress meets. Then there would be less than a week for its discussion before the holiday recess, so there will be little gained if a rule is brought in to take up the bill then. It ought, however, to pass the House and reach the Senate by Feb. 1. The Finance committee of that body will need two or three weeks to digest the measure, so that it will probably be March before the Senate enters upon the tariff legislation. The discussion there will be a long one because there is no way of limiting debate and no rule can now be passed.

Mr. McMillin's subcommittee of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means committee on internal taxes was in session at the Capitol two hours this afternoon. At 3 o'clock all the Democratic members of the committee had a conference. Mr. McMillin submitted the data which he had secured from the Treasury Department and Census Office touching the question of an income tax. While the committee was formally discussing the proposition Secretary Carlisle was announced. He remained in the committee room about twenty minutes.

The day's session was devoted solely to a consideration of the proposition to tax incomes. The members of the committee said they had not considered whisky. Tonight the Democratic members of the committee met at Secretary Carlisle's house for another conference. The Secretary is understood to be unfriendly to the proposition to tax individual incomes, and it is probable that the solution of the matter will be a tax mainly on legacies and corporations. This proposition is supported by the conservative members of the Democratic majority—Messrs. Wilson, Turner, Montgomery, Stevens, and Cockran.

"If there is anything in the tariff bill as it now stands that favors reciprocity it will not be there when the bill becomes a law," said Chairman Wilson today. "By reciprocity I mean that power vested in the President under the McKinley law to regulate tariffs by proclamation. Such a policy will be cast out by the House root and branch."

Every mail that now reaches Washington brings with it numerous letters and petitions addressed to the Ways and Means committee, urging it to increase the tax on whisky to $1.50 a gallon. It appears that the religious and temperance bodies throughout the country have taken up the subject, the activity being especially noticeable among the Presbyterians.

Voorhees Expects an Early Vote.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 29.—Before, Senator Voorhees left for Washington this noon he expressed the opinion that the Wilson tariff bill will be adopted by the House during December and reported back to the Senate for the Finance committee so that it may be debated during January. It is his expectation that it will be sent to the President early in February. "I think," said he, "that all realize the damage to business interests caused by protracted debate of the tariff and that there will be no disposition after fair debate to obstruct a vote.

Will Aid Mexican Silver Lead Ores.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 29.—The new tariff measure gives great satisfaction to mine owners and manufacturers of Mexico. Mining men under the present high duty on silver lead ores are almost entirely prohibited from shipping these ores to the United States. If the new bill becomes a law many silver lead mines of Mexico which are now idle will be developed and smelters erected in frontier cities of the United States to treat Mexican product.

Tariff Notes.

The Nonantum Worsted company, with mills at Newton, Mass., has notified its 800 operatives that the reduction of the tariff by the proposed law will make it absolutely necessary to reduce wages or stop the mills. These mills have been operated for fourteen years without interruption.

Dennis Sheedy, a prominent smelting man of Denver, Colo., does not think that the proposed tariff bill reduction of the duty on lead will affect silver mining except that it may increase the amount of silver offered on the market, but he thinks it will so reduce the price of lead that the Missouri mines must close.

C. W. Franzheim of the Wheeling (W. Va.) Pottery company, says the adoption of the Wilson bill will destroy 75 per cent of the white granite ware manufactories in the country. Pottery manufacturers of East Liverpool, O., say the passage of the bill means a wage reduction of from 25 to 35 per cent.

To Bring Doe and Bashford into the Case

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—In the Roster contract case today the plaintiffs filed an amended petition which seeks to make Adjutant-General J. B. Doe and State Senator Bashford, Attorney-General O'Connor's law partner, defendants, and an order has been secured to show cause Friday. The allegations are that the two took part in the contract proceedings and aided in securing a loan from the Dow Bros.

Colorado Gold Mine Swindler Caught.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 29.—James Donohue, with many aliases, was arrested today charged with salting a mine. With a companion named Cheney he salted with gold a mine in Eagle County which was sold for $5,000 to a Denver syndicate consisting of W. B. Felker, M. H. Watrous, D. H. Moffat, and Eben Smith.

LAWLER'S HARD LUCK

NOT LIKELY TO HAVE FIVE VOTES IN THE CONVENTION.

The 68,000 People Who Supported Him for Postmaster Fail to Respond to His Latest Appeal with Surprising Unanimity—Hopkins Refuses to Withdraw in Favor of Mr. Seipp—Martin J. Russell Holds a Rousing Meeting in Behalf of the Leading Candidate—Political News.

Frank Lawler's candidacy has not aroused that enthusiasm that Frank expected. As a matter of fact it has been a complete failure. The 68,000 people who signed Lawler's petition for Postmaster and to whom he appealed for support as a candidate for Mayor have failed to respond with surprising unanimity. Lawler instead of having fifty or sixty delegates in the convention, as he expected, will hardly have five. His own ward, the Nineteenth, will probably send a large majority of its delegates instructed to vote for Hopkins. Lawler did not manage his "boom" shrewdly. He announced himself as a candidate and then went to a Wenter meeting, where he pitched into the leading party candidate. That settled him.

The Wenter candidacy has not gained by association with the Lawler boom. It is really on the verge of collapse. Austin J Doyle and the shrewd politicians who brought out Wenter have observed that and they sent out agents yesterday to some of the Hopkins men suggesting a compromise on William C. Seipp. They talked about harmonizing the party on the young brewer. Mr. Seipp, it was said, would accept a nomination in the interest of peace. But the Hopkins men would not consider the proposition for a moment. They said they could not, if they would, withdraw their support from Hopkins. This was in the forenoon. In the afternoon they were still less inclined to withdraw Hopkins.

Mr. Russell Holds a Meeting.

Martin J. Russell, who has just severed his editorial connection with the Times on account of its attacks on Cleveland, Hesing, and Hopkins, issued the following card Tuesday afternoon:

CHICAGO, Nov. 28, 1893.—Dear Sir: You are cordially invited to attend a meeting of the friends of John P. Hopkins, who are desirous of obtaining his nomination as Mayor on the Democratic ticket. The meeting will be held in the large club-room of the Palmer House at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Very respectfully,
MARTIN J. RUSSELL.

The response to this call must have been gratifying to Mr. Russell and to Mr. Hopkins. The large clubroom was crowded to the doors with those who accepted the invitation and there were scores who could not gain admission. There must have been 500 present at the least, and nearly all are leaders in their respective districts. Among them were the following:

William Best, A. W. Green, Washington Hesing, John Orb, Jacob Rehm, John W. Lanehart, William Legner, Senators Mahoney, Salomon, Thiele, Johnson, O'Malley, Bartling, and Noonan; Representatives Lyman, Carmody, Mitchell, May, Farrell, Burke, McInerney, Gleeson, McGinley, Ald. Coughlin, W. J. O'Neill, Loeffler, Gallagher, Kunz, Potthoff, Tripp, Kelly, Carey, Mulcahy, Mahony, Commissioners Root, Ebertshaeuser, and Panoch, Peter Kiolbassa, John J. Dahlman, ex-Ald. Hildreth, Court Clerks Griffin, Sullivan, Schubert, and Gaulter, Recorder Chase, Coroner McHale, State's-Attorney Kern, Adlai T. Ewing, Judge Shreve, P. F. Ryan, A. J. Kowalski, Commissioner Brodowski, J. J. Bardonski, Isaac Schwartz, Daniel Corkery, Thoma Gahan, John S. Cooper, T. E. Ryan, Herman Sigmund, Emil Hoechster, W. J. English, John W. Garvey, Tom O'Neill, John Gaynor, Peter McCarthy, Dr. Bergeron, Z. P. Brosseau, Joseph Koestner, A. J. Brachtendorf, D. M. E. Spangler, Walter S. Bogle, Dr. Leminger, Otto Hulsman, Eugene N. Bellar, Thomas Byrne, Jesse Sherwood, John Minwegen, William A. Vincent, Carl Moll, John D. Raggio, John J. Bloch, Theodore Oehne, William J. Mize, Charles Kern, Frank Kerz, Thomas Brenan, William C. Asay, M. B. McAbee, Dr. J. J. Larkin.

Eulogizes Mr. Hopkins.

Daniel Corkery rapped the meeting to order and named Martin J. Russell for Chairman. Mr. Russell on taking the platform said:

We have met in the shadow of a great bereavement which calls for action not in the way of condolence, for that has been profoundly expressed, but to secure continued success for the Democratic party in Chicago. We may have personal predilections, but we come here in the opinion that it is best for us to name a candidate who will carry the Democratic party to victory at the special election. It is not our purpose to assemble here and disparage any other candidate. We are Democrats, every one of us. I have for fifteen years observed the progress and career of a young man in this community who answers the definition of a certain philosopher "that man is a good man who, like a horse, can stand without hitching." Gentlemen, that young man is John P. Hopkins.

Mr. Russell then went on to eulogize Mr. Hopkins, and at the conclusion of his speech Senator Thiele was selected for Secretary.

Unanimity of Views.

On motion of Redmond Sheridan the men present were called on for reports from their respective wards. Ald. Coughlin, Sol Van Praag, Michael McKenna, and W. C. Asay promised the First; James F. Quinlan promised fourteen votes in the Third; Patrick White pledged the Fourth; Senator Thiele the Fifth; Senator Mahoney, Commissioner Panoch, and Ald. Loeffler promised the Eighth; Thomas Fitzgerald and James C. Strain the Twelfth; Dennis Considine the Thirteenth; Dr. Lemenger, William Legner, Ex-Ald. Jackson, and half a dozen others said the Fourteenth was solid for Hopkins; ex-Ald. Dahlman said the same thing for the Sixteenth, and Senator Bartley for the Twentieth. Senator O'Malley promised the Twenty-third Ward delegation, and John Minwegen and M. B. McAbee vouched for the Twenty-fourth. Frank Brookman, Frank Kerz, John W. Lanehart, and Fred Atwood said the Lake View wards are practically united for Hopkins. Mr. Gaines pledged the Twenty-eighth, Michael McInerney the Twenty-ninth, Senator Johnson and Mr. Lyons the Thirtieth; Messrs. Mitchell and Murray the Thirty-first. A host of patriots promised the Hyde Park wards solid. Portions of the delegations from the Second, Sixth, Seventh, Eleventh, Fifteenth, Seventeenth, Nineteenth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second were promised by Democrats from those wards. If the promises are made good Mr. Hopkins will have 500 votes out of 681 on the first ballot.

After the call of the wards was over the usual speechmaking was indulged in. Washington Hesing, the new Postmaster, was recognized in the back part of the room and was called to the front. He was received with such cheers as would have made Frank Lawler angry had he been present. He said:

I can but reëcho the words of our distinguished Chairman when he said we have met here as Democrats to do battle for the Democratic party. I have come here today to testify by my presence my devotion to the cause of Mr. Hopkins. I have known him for fifteen years, and ever since the day Mr. Russell brought him into my office and introduced me to him I have watched his course. No man stands higher than he, no man less assailable. His integrity as a political worker, his standing as a citizen, as a business-man will repel the criticism of all the papers that were ever published. If the Democratic party in its wisdom next Saturday sees fit to nominate him I predict a majority as large as the magnificent one last fall. The 30,000 majority for Altgeld and Cleveland was due to Mr. Hopkins' management of the campaign. I believe the citizens of Chicago recognize his worth as a citizen, a politician, and as a business-man, and will be glad to elect him. The methods that acting Mayor Swift is pursuing will cement the Republican columns and will neutralize from 5,000 to 10,000 Democratic votes. It behooves all of us that no work be too arduous or hours too long to bring about the election of Mr. Hopkins, and in so doing the State can be counted in the Democratic column in 1894.

Other Speeches Made.

Other speeches were made by Senator Johnson, Emil Hoechster, ex-Ald. Hildreth, and Senator Mahoney. A committee was sent out to bring in Mr. Hopkins, but he declined the invitation for the time being and the gathering adjourned.

The gathering was an unqualified success. Many of those who attended were claimed by the other candidates. Half a dozen, including Isaac Schwartz and Peter Kiolbassa, are on the Wenter Campaign committee, and a score or so are on the Dreyer list. When the news of the meeting reached the Wenter and Dreyer headquarters there was gloom and some swearing.

The Dreyer men bore up against it better than the Wenter men. Their backing is more substantial. The solid German business Democrats of the North Division seem to be divided between Dreyer and Hopkins. Dreyer has also some support in the West Side wards. It is believed he will get most of the delegates from the Sixth and will divide the Seventeenth and Eighteenth with Hopkins. At this time is difficult to see where Wenter is going to have any strength. The City Hall combination, except Burke and McCarthy, has deserted him. Crossette's men are all with Hopkins, and so are Asay, Toolen, Maloney, Mangler, Schwab, and all the lieutenants of the quartet. Thomas Cusack has the utmost difficulty in keeping the Ninth Ward from breaking away from Wenter to Hopkins, and Ald. Rohde declares that he will go to Hopkins if Ed Cullerton is permitted to make any more speeches at the Wenter meetings. It would not be at all surprising if Wenter should be withdrawn from the contest today or tomorrow, leaving the fight between Dreyer and Hopkins. All talk about a dark-horse candidate has been abandoned.

CLUB OFFICERS ARE ELECTED.

Republicans in the Various Wards Effect New Organization.

At the meeting of the Republican Executive committee yesterday it was decided to add the Chairman of the Republican City Central committee, Ald. Madden, and the Secretary, Q. J. Chott, to assist in the work of the campaign. Some dispute as to the ward club elections occupied most of the time of the committee.

Elections for club officers in various wards under the new Republican county constitution resulted as follows Tuesday evening:

Seventh Ward—Henry Blettner, President; W. B. Gasser, Secretary; George Cook, Treasurer; and George Ruckser, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Thirteenth Ward—President, George McGregor; Vice-Presidents, C. E. Cruickshank, Anthon Larsen, Louis Arentz, E. G. Piggott, George Grummet, Ben Stall; Secretary, George Saterlee; and Treasurer, Dr. Buchan.

First Ward—President, James R. B. Van Cleave; Vice-President, Charles Wathier; Secretary, I. N. Powell; Treasurer, J. L. Wallace.

Fifteenth Ward—President, Oscar Raabe; First Vice-President, John B. Heaney; Second Vice-President, John E. Houlihan; Secretary, Fred Gloor Jr.; Treasurer, John M. Pashley.

Sixteenth Ward—President, Charles H. Miller; Vice-Presidents, H. G. Holton, Henry Wodrich; Secretary, Samuel Waldman; Treasurer, Philip Knopf.

Thirty-first Ward—President, John A. Henry; Vice-Presidents, Morris Watson, Douglass McNab, George F. McNight; C. W. Vail, Secretary; Joseph Hardacre, Treasurer.

Thirty-second Ward—President, F. W. C. Hayes; Vice-President, J. C. F. Royer; Secretary, A. W. Thurston; Treasurer, E. A. Tharp.

Thirtieth Ward—E. W. Atkinson, President, and C. A. Siebert, Secretary.

In the Thirty-first Ward a resolution indorsing Mr. Swift was adopted unanimously. Similar resolutions were adopted by the Seventh, Thirteenth, Fifteenth, and Sixteenth Ward clubs.

WILL OPEN WITH A MASS-MEETING.

Plans for the Republican Mayoralty Campaign Proceeding Apace.

There is much satisfaction among the Republican managers at the interest manifested in the Mayoralty canvass by the voters of the party. Seldom in the history of the city have the ward meetings been so well attended.

The Campaign committee has had card notices printed bearing on the registration. These will be distributed by the canvassers to Republicans who have not registered. They are in the following form:

Republicans Register.
Unless you are registered you cannot vote.
Tuesday, Dec. 5
Is the only day you can register.
Your place of registration is——.

The Campaign committee has secured Battery D for a mass-meeting of Republicans Monday evening. George B. Swift, who will be nominee of the Republican convention Saturday, will be the leading speaker.

DECIDE ON SOME APPOINTMENTS.

Republican Members of the County Board Hold a Caucus.

There was a caucus of the fourteen Republican County Commissioners yesterday to consider the make-up of the committees. Incidentally county officers were discussed. Commissioner Cool will be Chairman of the Public Service committee, and either Commissioner Burmeister or Commissioner Kunstman Chairman of the Finance committee. Kunstman will probably be the man as Burmeister does not want it. Two or three appointments are practically decided on: Henry Englehardt will be County Agent; O. W. Nash, Superintendent of the Dunning institution; Christopher Mamer, Superintendent of Public Service; and Otto H. Matz, County Architect. Dr. Bluthardt is likely to be County Physician.

SENATOR PALMER FULL OF WOE.

He Talks About Hesing's Appointment, but Does Not Say He Will Fight It.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Senator John M. Palmer has arrived. Likewise John Donnelly of Woodstock. Senator Palmer is full of woe. He talks straight out. He thinks that the administration has treated him shabbily in view of the support he gave it in its silver policy. It must be said that Palmer was one of the unflinching supporters of the President in that fight and he ought to have as much consideration in the way of the offices as Dan Voorhees, but he is not going to get it. The Morrison crowd is on top and everybody knows it. Senator Palmer let everybody understand how disappointed he was over Lawler's failure to get the Postoffice. He told his hearers that he looked upon the appointment of Wash Hesing as a mistake, and he did not think it was going to help the party in the election of a Mayor. Nor did he believe it would strengthen the national administration.

The Senator, however, was careful not to declare that he would fight Hesing's confirmation. He could not afford to do that as long as he was asking favors, such as the appointment of Donnelly as Marshal. But if he does oppose it Cullom will probably see that the nomination is confirmed. The feeling here now is that Frank Lawler will not be named for Marshal. This does not help Donnelly, because some of the people who fought Lawler for the Postoffice will fight him for the Marshalship.

It is just four years since Hitchcock was appointed, but his commission will not be out till next February, and the cold comfort was given Donnelly from the White House that no appointment would be made until the commission had expired. This puts Senator Palmer on his good behavior in the meantime, and gives Donnelly's enemies the chance to combine against him. The old story is renewed that the President will not send Lawler's name to the Senate for any position, because then Lawler's record in the Council would be raked up. Nevertheless Mr. Cleveland is willing to put Mr. Lawler in some other position of trust. If Lawler and his followers are being buoyed by the promise that if they behave themselves in the Mayoralty election he will get the Marshalship they ought not to be fooled.

DEALS IN BLACK ART.

WITCHCRAFT CHARGED AGAINST A CHURCH MEMBER AT SALEM, O.

Three Families Are Made to Fear His Alleged Mysterious Power in Spite of the Common-Sense Arguments of the Rest of the Congregation—Sequel to Three Other Cases, One of Which Was Seriously Tried and a Woman Found Guilty—Other Northwest News.

ALLIANCE, O., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The trouble in the Hart Methodist Episcopal Church located three miles south of Salem, and ten miles east of this city, dates back six months. At this time charges of witchcraft were preferred against Sadie Loop, Norman Bleam, and a man named Hughes, all members of the church. Miss Loop had a church trial, was found guilty, and expelled from the church. The jury had not the time then to try Bleam and Hughes, and they were allowed to remain in the church under charges, and there the matter was allowed to rest. The example made of Miss Loop it was thought would be sufficient to effectually put a stop to the witchcraft nonsense.

A change of pastors was made and the church seemed to again prosper. The fires of witchcraft, however, which it was thought had been quenched, only slumbered. A few days ago Howard Hughes, on failure to find water in digging a well, sent for old Dr. Hoff of this city to make an investigation. Hoff did so, and after going through a weird powwow at the bottom of the well informed Hughes that William Culp, a pillor of the church, was causing all the trouble and that the well would remain dry until after Culp's death. He also charged the Loop and Hughes families to avoid the evil eye of Culp and promised them that Culp would soon be removed. Their fears have been so wrought up by the rantings of the old doctor that they are well-nigh crazed. Hoff says there is no doubt whatever of Culp being a wizard.

"He is controlled," says Hoff, "by the evil spirit. His sole mission is to cause trouble, pestilence, and evil. At the last funeral in his family a black cat walked under the coffin all the way to the grave and that has brought all this upon him. His days are numbered and he will soon die. For so it is written and so it will be."

The members of the church who are now disturbed over the witchcraft nonsense are confined to three families—namely: the Breens, the Hugheses, and the Loops. They were all prominent and useful members of the church before embracing the theory of witchcraft, are above the average intelligence, while their private characters are above reproach. To the credit of the community, it can be said, their weird beliefs are not shared in by any of the residents of that neighborhood, either in or out side the church. They charge in brief that Culp is controlled by an evil spirit, or at least brings evil upon them, their homes, and the members of their households and their property.

The new pastor of the church, the Rev. J. E. Holister of this city, who succeeded the Rev. J. E. Cope, called on these people a few days ago and endeavored to have them meet Culp, with a view to having all misunderstandings cleared up and an amicable settlement of the difficulty effected. They refused to even see Culp, saying they feared his evil eye, and could have no church fellowship with him after the trouble he had brought upon them. The minister then notified them to be present at a church meeting to be held Sunday to consider their case. The meeting was held, but the accused failed to appear.

The Rev. Hollister says a Mrs. Mayers of Salem and old Dr. Hoff of Alliance are responsible for the scare. The parties implicated are said to be easily swayed by Hoff and held under his influence. The pastor of the church will prefer charges against Hughes and Bleam, and their trial will probably take place in the Hart Church in the near future. Dr. Hoff is positive in his assertions that Culp is bewitched, and until removed by death will prove a source of evil to all those who come in contact with him. Culp is greatly annoyed over the notoriety he has obtained through no fault of his own, and if the matter is not adjusted without delay the courts may be called upon to settle the case.

BANK DOES NOT OWE THE CITY.

Money Claimed by Minneapolis Treasurer Said to Be a Personal Debt.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—W. J. Hahn, the assignee of the State Bank, has disallowed the $106,655 claim of F. C. Haughan as the Treasurer of the city. This is the amount of the city funds claimed to have been in the bank at the time it closed its doors. The decision was made on objections filed by John W. Arctander, attorney in behalf of creditors of the bank. Arctander charges among other things that the amount did not represent a sum due from the State Bank, but was a debt due Haughan personally from K. Kortgaard, its President, and that it represented a shortage of Kortgaard as City Treasurer at the time he turned over the books of his office to Haughan, as his successor, and that the State Bank has never received any consideration for the amount in question.

MURDEROUS CRANK ARRESTED.

Cites Prendergast's Case in Explaining His Desire to Kill.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Secret Service Operative John F. McCullough received a letter from a crank today, in which he said: "I am coming to you. I'll be at your office the 29th or 30th." Mr. McCullough prepared to receive his unwelcome visitor, and early this afternoon a man whose appearance identified him appeared. Mr. McCullough did not move but said, "Come in and make yourself at home." McCullough then seized him around the body, took a revolver from the fellow's trousers pocket and shoved him into a chair. McCullough then asked him why he wanted to kill him. The man replied:

"I do not want to kill you, but they tell me to kill you. Prendergast did not want to kill Carter Harrison, but some one told him to kill the Mayor."

A policeman was summoned and the crank sent to jail. His name is Nathan Whitworth, and he lives in Jefferson County, Mo.

TWO MILWAUKEE BANKS MAY UNITE.

Project to Form a New National Bank with Capital of $1,000,000.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Negotiations are pending for a consolidation of the Merchants' Exchange and the First National Banks, at present the two largest banks in the city. It is proposed to make a national bank of the two with a capital stock of $1,000,000. The present capital of the Merchants' Exchange is $200,000 and of the First National $250,000, so that there will be an additional $550,000 in the capital of the new bank. It is proposed to have the consolidated bank occupy the recently enlarged quarters of the First National Bank. F. G. Bigelow, the present cashier of the First National, is proposed for President of the consolidated bank and F. J. Kipp, the present cashier of the Merchants' Exchange, for cashier. If the deal is consummated it will take effect at the beginning of the new year.

LURED FROM HOME TO BE ROBBED.

Muskegon Flour Dealer Nearly Killed by an Unknown Assailant.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Ate Goudberg, a flour and feed dealer, received a call at his home last night by a stranger. It was about an hour after the store at Apple and Spring streets had been closed. The caller desired him to go to the store, which is only a few steps distant, and sell him some feed. Goudberg consented, and, putting on his cap, accompanied him to the store. After he had been absent a half hour his wife became anxious and went out to find him. Finding the store door locked, she went to look for him at a neighbor's house. Returning she called at the door to him. She received a feeble answer, and thoroughly alarmed ran across the street to a house where a meeting of the Terrace Street Holland Church was being held. Several men returned with her and forced the rear door. He was found on the floor only semi-conscious. There were three deep cuts on his head. He was taken to his home and this morning revived sufficiently to tell the story of the assault. The stranger evidently intended to load his light wagon with feed and then leave without paying. Goudberg insisted on being paid before the feed was taken out of the store and was assaulted. The weapon used was an iron bar weighing five pounds. After he had killed him, as he supposed, the robber searched him and took from his pockets $8.

MANY LIVES IN PERIL AT JOLIET, ILL.

Attempt to Burn One of the Finest Business Blocks in the City.

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Early this morning fire was discovered in the center of the Centennial Block. A building was saturated with oil. It was found that the fire was in the tailor shop of H. C. Gerland, over Rockey & Lyons' cigar store. It was quickly subdued by chemicals. Conrad Kienas, a jeweler, who had his shop and sleeping-room up-stairs, where the fire occurred, and H. C. Gerland, the tailor, were placed under arrest. Back of the tailor shop was a room used as a display room, and back of this was Kienas' sleeping-room. The fire was discovered by George McFarlane, who lives in the next flat and smelled the smoke. When the firemen and police arrived the odor of kerosene and gas was marked and investigation showed that every gas jet in the three front rooms was turned on full but not lighted. Further investigation after the fire had been quenched showed any quantity of kerosene oil poured on the floors of the two rooms belonging to the tailor. As late as 9 o'clock in the morning a match applied to the tailor's work table sent up quite a blaze. Under the jeweler's work table was found a leather bag of kerosene oil, and three large kerosene cans were also discovered. The appearance of the rooms clearly indicates that kerosene had been thrown around indiscriminately and that a match had been applied.

The suspicion is held by the police that the place was fired in order to collect insurance on the stocks. Mr. Gerland was insured for $800 and Mr. Kienas for $500. Chief of Police Lang states the stocks of both men are not jointly worth $200. The two men were arraigned this afternoon and the time for their trial fixed for Dec. 2. Their bond was fixed at $1,000 each. The block is made up of the largest stores in the city, and families live in the upper stories. Had the fire gained headway scores of persons would have lost their lives for the paltry insurance.

MORE DIRECTORS MAY BE INDICTED.

Mr. Pierce's Railroad Affairs Also Involved in the Bank Cases.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Following the filing of the suits against Director R. B. F. Pierce by Receiver Hawkins of the Indianapolis National Bank there has been a rush to collect allowed claims on the Indianapolis, Decatur and Springfield railroad of which Pierce is trustee. This has led to further developments regarding Pierce's connection with the ruined bank. Immediately following the bank failure it was given out that R. B. F. Pierce had lost $40,000 belonging to the railroad and which he had deposited in the bank. Something like $60,000 of the railroad funds had come into his hands and his delay at making payment was ascribed to the loss he sustained when the bank went to the wall. Recent inquiries at the bank, however, failed to verify the statment that Peirce had any such sum as represented on deposit. In fact it is difficult to show that he had more than a paltry sum in the bank as trustee for the road. His personal account was overdrawn $27,000, and there is nothing to show that he made a business of leaving any money in the bank over night when he could help it.

MORRISON'S INJURIES NOT FATAL.

Three Big Brothers Are His Only Assailants, and They Used Only Their Fists.

WINCHESTER, Ill., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The attack on J. G. W. Morrison, the piano tuner, of Springfield, Ill., appears to have been confined to the brothers of the girl. Morrison was at the house of J. H. Marksville on professional business. Miss Tettas, a daughter, was alone in the house at the time. When the man made known his character he was told to leave and complied. The girl told her three brothers. They started out to hunt him up. Morrison hired a livery rig and drove to Alsey, six miles south. The brothers started on a train and found Morrison ready to get on the same train for Whitehall. They promptly thrashed him with their fists, but used no clubs or stones. When they had finished with him he took his gripsack and left, and the last they knew of him he was on his way out of Alsey through a corn field. It may be Morrison will not be able to tune pianos for several days, but he is not dangerously hurt. One of the brothers gives this statement, and he says no one else took part in the beating.

CLEVER BANK SWINDLE FRUSTRATED

Well-Laid Plans Come to Naught Through a Firm's Suspicions.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—A few days ago Walsh & Co. received a letter from Henselin & Co. of Peoria, Ill. It inclosed a check for $237 in settlement of an account and a letter signed A. J. Henselin, per Cath, stating that his brother would shortly be in Cincinnati. He might want to have a draft cashed. Inclosed was a torn piece of paper. The caller would have the corresponding piece and would accordingly make himself known. Walsh & Co. were requested to identify him at the bank. Today a stranger walked into Walsh & Co.'s office and introduced himself as Henselin's brother. He referred to the letter requesting identification, at the same time producing the piece of paper. He then presented a draft for $1,690 drawn by a Peoria bank on the Chemical Bank of New York. He was in a hurry to catch a train and wanted the money at once. Walsh was suspicious and the Third National Bank declined to cash the draft except on Walsh's indorsement. The stranger became nervous and finally left with the draft. Telegrams developed that Henselin knew nothing of the draft or the letter requesting identification. It was evident, however, that the parties working the scheme knew much about Henselin's business or else their original letter inclosing checks had been stolen and another substituted. The stranger is described as about 45 years old.

GAS EXPLODES IN ELECTRIC PLANT.

Four Men Slightly Injured and the Building Totally Wrecked.

ELWOOD, Ind., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The plant of the Electric Light and Street Car company, together with the car barn, was totally wrecked this morning by a gas explosion. The loss was $15,000. The gas had accumulated under the floor of the dynamo room and exploded without warning. The office of the Citizens' Gas company, twenty yards away, was also partially demolished and the clerks, Miss Minnie Mitchell and Bert Carpenter, had narrow escapes. In the power-house at the time of the explosion were four men, one having just stepped outside the door a moment previous. No one was killed, but all were slightly injured. They were David Tompkins, O. B. Frazier, Joe McMahan, and Lou Shively.

Sues the Holstlaw Brothers for Damages.

SALEM, Ill., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Suit was commenced here today by Luther Fred Smith against the five Holstlaw brothers for $50,000 damages. This is the sequel to the alleged assault of the Holstlaws upon Smith last October in their attempt to frighten Smith to confessing he had stolen their father's money. He continued to protest his innocence, although he charges that the Holstlaws put a rope around his neck and choked him into insensibility. The trial will bring out the Holstlaw side of the case, as they have all along refused to discuss the matter since Smith made it public.

Two Appointments by Gov. Altgeld.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Gov. Altgeld today appointed Mary Moran deputy factory inspector in Chicago to succeed Mrs. Annie Burke, resigned. The Governor also appointed John J. Mumme of Edwardsville Public Administrator and Public Guardian of Madison County. The Governor today issued a requisition on the Governor of Minnesota for Bert Hallett, under arrest at Minneapolis and wanted in Chicago for larceny.

Grain Warehouse Collapses.

ANNA, Ill., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—A large warehouse belonging to Mayor R. R. Stinson and filled with grain collapsed last night, the foundation being defective. The building is a total wreck and the loss of grain is considerable. Fortunately there was no one in the building at the time of the accident.

PHELPS BUYS A PAPER

NEW YORK "MAIL AND EXPRESS" BECOMES HIS PROPERTY.

It Is Understood Col. Shepard Had Brought the Journal Up to a Paying Basis—Dr. Parkhurst Secures Indictments Against a Police Captain—Assurance Lloyds Said to Have Lost $114,000 Through Beecher, Schenck & Co.—Clearing-House Arrangement for Receiving Gold Coin.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The purchase of the Mail and Express by William Walter Phelps is reported. It is understood the conditions of sale have been agreed upon between Mr. Phelps and the executors of the estate of Elliott F. Shepard and the transfer will take place Jan. 1. Col. Shepard's sudden death left the Mail and Express to be managed by his executors and its staff of employés. It was foreseen a sale of the property was probable, if the estate could find a purchaser. It is generally understood Col. Shepard, after his purchase of the paper from Cyrus W. Field, was not long in putting it upon a paying basis. Col. Shepard paid Mr. Field $350,000 for the paper. The price to be paid by Mr. Phelps is not known.

Parkhurst Gains a Victory.

The Rev. C. H. Parkhurst when he heard the grand jury had indicted Police Captain W. Devery four times for willful neglect of duty seemed greatly satisfied. It was the first important result of his determined effort to dissolve the partnership between the police and the criminals of New York. No warrant was issued by Recorder Smyth for the arrest of Capt. Devery. Supt. Byrnes had agreed to produce him. As the Captain was in Chicago on a vacation, the Superintendent ordered him by telegraph to return at once and receive an obedient answer. The punishment for his offense is one year's imprisonment or a fine of $500, or both. But that is the least part of the consideration. It is said the conviction of the Captain on any of the four counts would be a deathblow to a vast political system that feeds on crime. In the absence of Capt. Devery from New York Assistant District-Attorney Wellman declined to make the four indictments public. But it is not difficult to indicate the basis of the grand jury's action. Nov. 13 last Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime secured the conviction and punishment of four women for keeping improper places in the Eleventh Precinct, over which Capt. Devery has command. In each of these cases the Captain had been informed previously of the criminal work carried on. When the Court of Special Sessions convicted the women it was considered a logical result that the grand jury should be anxious to know why Capt. Devery failed to act when requested by the Society for the Prevention of Crime. Dr. Parkhurst and his society supplied the grand jury with evidence enough to reveal the situation, and the four indictments were inevitables. It was Capt. Devery who had Agent Gardiner arrested and convicted. Ever since that time Dr. Parkhurst has had his eyes on the Captain. Supt. Byrnes refused to talk today except to say the Police Department would in no way lend itself to an interference with a fair trial of Capt. Devery. He could not say whether the Captain would be suspended from duty pending the trial or not. Dr. Parkhurst also asked to be excused from talking about the case.

Reported Loss of Assurance Lloyds.

The Assurance Lloyds is said to have lost money through the management of Beecher, Schenck & Co., who are also charged with wrecking the American Casualty Insurance and Security company of Baltimore and the American Steam Boiler company. The members of the Assurance Lloyds, it is reported, had paid in $500,000 for an insurance fund at the rate of $5,000 each, and their individual liability beyond that, of course, is only limited by the amount of the losses. An examination of their accounts for the last year, it is said, shows the insurance fund to have been impaired $114,000. Col. Beecher would not answer questions, and declined to give out a list of the members of the association. The majority of them, however, are known to be responsible. William E. Midgely, a member of the firm of Beecher, Schenck & Co., said it was not true that his firm had withdrawn from the management of the Assurance Lloyds. At the office of the Lloyds' the chief clerk said there was no truth in the report that the capital of the company was impaired to the extent of $114,000. The company made this statement: "Guarantee reserve fund paid in by subscribers, $300,000; premiums, $589,000; interest, $4,485; expenditures, $236,793; and other liabilities make a total of $375,156. Among the prominent men interested in the Lloyds are John E. Searles of the sugar trust, John V. Farwell & Co., and J. H. Flagler of the Standard Oil company. Jno. W. Taylor, Treasurer of the Assurance Lloyds, said the company had $500,000 deposited in the Southern National of New York, the People's Trust company of Brooklyn, the Mercantile Trust and Deposit company of Baltimore, the St. Nicholas Bank of New York, and the Second National Bank of Cleveland. "In addition to this," said Mr. Taylor, "there is $120,000 in premiums scattered in the different banks and United States National Bank of New York. To touch the guarantee fund of the company it requires the approval of the Finance committee, composed of six trustees, who are the Presidents of the six banks I have named. The company was organized less than a year ago, and, not having a contingent fund, it was absolutely necessary to spend some of the capital for expenses. Beecher, Schenck & Co. assume all the liabilities and expenses for the company except the losses on risks, and conduct all the business for 25 per cent of the net premiums. The expense of running other insurances will figure up from 30 to 40 per cent of the net premiums. The Assurance Lloyds is perfectly solvent and is in no way affected by the trouble of the American Casualty company. The present rumors grow out of the fact that one of the strong subscribers called for an investigation."

To Receive Gold Coin Deposits.

It is expected that the clearing-house will begin to receive deposits of gold coin from banks Friday, against which it will issue certificates to be used in the settlement of clearing-house balances as provided for and authorized by the national banking act. The certificates of deposit issued by the clearing-house will be of the denominations of $5,000 and $10,000 and will be signed by Frederick D. Tappen, Chairman of the Clearing-House committee, and countersigned by William Sherer, the manager of the clearing-house, who will register them. The gold will all be carefully tested and weighed by experts before the certificates are issued. Probably between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 will be deposited in the aggregate by the associated banks. The plethora of money in this city and the absolute inability of the holders of it to employ it profitably in either time or call loans has caused the trust companies to reduce the rate of interest paid on deposits. At present it is virtually impossible to put much money out on call on good collateral at 1 per cent, and money on time has practically been offered at that rate in large amounts. The associated banks of this city now hold more than $70,000,000 surplus reserve. Not a little of this is trust company money.

Wild Man Creates Stampedes.

The community of Rockaway Beach, L. I., has been thrown into a state of excitement by a wild man, large of stature, weird in appearance, with fierce, bloodshot eyes, long, flowing, matted hair, and a shaggy beard. This strange being has already assaulted persons of both sexes, dashed headlong through closed windows, and generally scared all persons in the neighborhood out of their wits. His present supposed habitat is somewhere among the sand dunes of Block House Point. His diet is raw clams found along the beach and raw chickens, the results of his raids among the neighboring poultry yards. It is thought he is an insane sailor. An effort is being made to capture him.

To Suppress Noisy Students.

Theatrical managers say the youths from Yale and Princeton will not create any disturbances in the amusement houses tomorrow night. In fact, steps have been taken to keep them out of many theaters, while those which will extend them a welcome have adopted the precaution of scattering them. Wherever they get in, if the unanimous word of the managers counts for anything, they will be made to behave. Letters from Yale and Princeton youths have been pouring into the box offices here for the last two weeks. To the letters the unvarying reply was no seats would be reserved for Thanksgiving. The suspects were told no tickets would be sold in large blocks, the number being limited to two or three for each individual purchaser. If one of these suspicious characters decided to buy under these conditions a note was made of the location of the seats he took, and the lot given to the next of his kind was in a different part of the house. But not many seats were disposed of in this way before the regular demand from theater-goers practically exhausted the supply. Peaceful performances are looked for.

Cry from the Sugar People.

Today's stock market was strong and in several stocks, notably Western Union, Rock Island, and Chicago Gas, there were material advances. There was, however, no aggressive support, and towards the close of business a group of traders undertook to sell down prices, apparently on the theory that the reaction, which most people looked for Monday morning, was now in order. Sugar certificates were the point of special activity and yielded materially under the bear selling. The indications of the day's earlier market were that the stock had found its normal level under existing circumstances. There was an increased distressing cry from the Sugar people, and the suggestion was raised in some quarters that the stock's ruling price for the last year had discounted far in advance the inevitable withdrawal of government favors. The returns of granger railway earnings are in discussion of the market's future as an element of the first importance. The recent figures from this source have been remarkable.

Two Men Charged with Fraud.

Robert Williams was arrested today on complaint of Benjamin B. Groom, who has 30,728 acres of land in Pan-Handle, Tex. He says Williams and Lawyer Henry H. Findley, No. 33 Broad street, conspired to rob him of $1,380 on the pretense they desired to purchase his Pan-Handle lands. The amount was paid by Groom, he says, in Chicago to Homer B. Findley, a brother of Henry H., who was the expert selected to examine the property. Findley was arrested, too. The police say they believe "Mr. Williams" is in reality R. W. Davies, said to have held important public office in England at one time. Mrs. Caldwell denied tonight she was about to be married to Williams.

To Take the Texas Pacific.

The second mortgage bonds provide in case the full 5 per cent interest is not paid the trustee at the request of one-third of the bondholders may take charge of the road.

Gotham Brevities.

Mrs. Benson S. Coolidge of Chicago is at the Hotel New Netherland.

Boss McKane is disappointed because the Kings County grand jury decided to send the case which he has attempted to make against Col. Alexander Bacon to the extraordinary grand jury.

Women and girls living in West Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth streets between Eighth and Ninth avenues have been thrown into a condition bordering on hysterics by the depredations of a "Jack the Hair-Cutter" who made his appearance in the neighborhood about a week ago and has been foraging for glossy braids ever since. Two women have lost their tresses.

The crew of the schooner Louisa H. Randall, stranded off Smith's Point, near Bellport, L. I., was rescued by the Merritt Coast Wrecking company steamer I. J. Merritt after the life-savers of that beach had given up all hope of saving the men. They were brought to New York. Capt. Hathorn, his wife, the cabin boy, and nine sailors were saved. Physically none are any the worse for their terrible experience.

Justice Patterson in the Supreme Court Circuit directed the jury to find a verdict in favor of Lawrence Drake and others, the heirs, in the suit brought against them by Peter Shute and 114 others to break the will of Mrs. Anna Drake Seamen. The Judge said the evidence was absolutely barren of proof in support of the plaintiffs' claim. Gardine Conklin said an attempt had been made to bribe him that he might change his testimony.

Kilbourne Must Not Trouble Sunny.

RECORD OF THE COURTS.

To Decide Two Important Cases.

Judge Tuley has temporarily left the Circuit Court bench, and his place is now occupied by Judge Windes, who will hear chancery proceedings. Judge Tuley will resume his seat next January. Next week he leaves for the South in company with Mrs. Tuley, who is obliged to spend the winter there. The senior Judge of the Circuit Court will not enjoy an undisturbed vacation, however, as he takes with him under consideration two important cases—the Gore's Hotel litigation and the Orval Pool estate settlement. Both of these affairs have been in court for several years, and now come up for final adjudication. It is probable when a decision is rendered in the Pool case it will be taken to the Supreme Court for review. If this is done it will establish a new record in appeals, as in one shape or another the litigation has already been five times before the court of last resort.

BLOW AT ROYALTIES.

COURT DECIDES CASE AGAINST THE GOODYEAR SHOE COMPANY.

Important Results Expected by Those Who Pay for Use of Patents—Selz, Schwab & Co. Win the Appealed Suit—Iroquois Club Will Occupy a Michigan Avenue Building—Plans for the Enlargement of Lincoln Park by Addition on the North End—General Local News.

The decision handed down by the Appellate Court last Monday affirming judgment for defendant in the suit of the Goodyear Shoe Machinery company vs. Selz, Schwab & Co. is, according to the parties interested, one of the most important and far-reaching judgments rendered by that tribunal in a long time. The judgment was rendered on an appeal taken by the Goodyear company from a decision rendered against it in a case affecting the payment of royalties for the use of a shoe manufacturing machine. The dictum of the Appellate Court, it is said, will have a direct bearing upon scores of contracts made for the payment of royalty by the patentees of machines which are used in the maze of American manufactures.

The Goodyear Shoe Machinery company, say the people interested, controls the device extensively used in shoe factories for building footwear by the powerful aid of steam. Its machines are in use in most of the factories in Chicago and elsewhere. There is an automatic clock attached to each machine which registers the amount of work it performs and constitutes an infallible guide for the Goodyear inspector who regularly makes his appearance to ascertain what the machine has done and the royalty due the company holding the patents. Altogether, it is said, the Goodyear company holds some forty patents.

Another company claimed to own some of the devices and took its claims into court for adjudication. One decision in its favor was rendered, and on the strength of this the company notified the many users of the machine that they would be called on to pay royalties to the claimants.

The Chicago users of the machine got together and declined to pay the Goodyear company further royalties unless it would furnish a bond to protect them against the effects of a final decision in favor of the contesting company. The Goodyear company gave no bond and finally bought out the other company. This apparently ended the litigation.

The contracts of the Goodyear company were, however, drawn in a peculiar way. They specified the amount that the Chicago users should pay for the use of the machine and stipulating that the royalty should be paid each month. If the royalty was paid by the 15th of the month next following instead of thirty days after the sum was due, it was to be 50 per cent less than the amount demanded in the latter case.

The payment of a royalty amounting to something over $1,000, due thirty days thereafter, was refused by Selz, Schwab & Co. They claim in effect that the amount was a usurious penalty. Judge Clifford rendered a decision in favor of Selz, Schwab & Co., and the Appellate Court affirmed it in a lengthy decision.

Levy Mayer, who represents Selz, Schwab & Co. in the litigation, said last night: "Scores of industries and manufactures will feel the effect of this decision. Royalties amounting to many hundreds of thousands of dollars are affected."

NEW HOME FOR IROQUOIS CLUB.

Brunswick Hotel Property Has Been Leased and Will Be Refitted.

Some day Michigan avenue will be noted for its row of beautiful club houses. Already it has the Standard, Calumet, Chicago, and Chicago Athletic clubs, and May 1, 1894, the Iroquois club will be in the row. For years the present quarters above the Columbia Theater on Monroe street have been too small for the growing club and for months the members have been looking for an available location for a club house. Within a few days a deal has been consummated by which the club secured a long lease on the Brunswick Hotel property at Adams street and Michigan avenue. This is a brick and stone structure, which, with slight alterations, is well suited for club purposes. The interior will be somewhat remodeled according to plans to be drawn by John Addison. The hotel has already been vacated and the work of changing the interior will begin soon. The present entrance to the building will be greatly changed. The matter has been in the hands of Spoor Mackey for the Iroquois club.

ATKISSON GETS A VERDICT OF $750.

Pullman Conductor Wins His Suit Based on False Imprisonment.

A jury returned a verdict of $750 damages in favor of Stephen Atkisson in his suit against the Fair in Judge Grosscup's court yesterday. The case was for false imprisonment. Mr. Atkisson is a Pullman conductor on the Monon route. He lives at Salem, Ind. April 26 he went to the Fair to exchange the lid of an ironware kettle which was damaged for a good one. His wife had bought it the day before. It was seen in his pocket without a paper around it by a floorwalker. Atkisson was seized for shoplifting and locked up in the Harrison Street Police Station. He was confined an hour and a half before getting bail. Suit was brought in the Circuit Court before Judge Bunn. A verdict for $3,000 was set aside on motion for a new trial on the claim of excessive damages. The defendants had offered to compromise for $1,000 after the first trial.

HIS DEATH DUE TO A PRACTICAL JOKE.

John Brown of Pullman Dies and His Fellow-Workmen Are Arrested.

Peter Miller, Fergus Furgeson, Michael Morrity, and Samuel Dyke, all of Burnside, are locked up at Kensington on a charge of murdering John Brown at No. 828 Erickson avenue, Pullman. All the men were laborers on the Illinois Central railroad. Several days ago the four men now prisoners played a practical joke on Brown. While he was asleep, it is said, they bound him and tied him to a stake. Brown was awakened, and in attempting to rise injured himself. He continued with his work until evening, but grew worse rapidly and died in great agony yesterday. Dr. Rankin says Brown's death was caused by the injuries he received at the hands of his companions. It is said they have in the past made Brown the victim of many rough jokes. He leaves a destitute family.

PLAN TO ENLARGE LINCOLN PARK.

Property Owners and Commissioners Talk of Buying a Tract on the North.

A number of property owners on the lake shore north of Diversey street and several members of the Lincoln Park Board have a plan by which sixty acres of valuable land can be added to the park. The plan is to buy the triangular ten-acre tract adjoining the park on the north. Its purchase would add half a mile to the shore line of the park and fifty acres of new ground could be made by filling. It is said that the land is worth now about $1,500,000. It is owned by a syndicate and four or five individuals. Beyond discussing the matter with some of the property owners the Park Commissioners as yet have taken no action toward the purchase of the ground.

Gorrell on the Witness Stand.

In the Gorrell conspiracy case yesterday, Attorney Prendergast asked Judge Hutchinson to instruct the jury to pay no attention to anything that had been published in the case. This request was joined in by the defense, and the Judge gave the instructions. The defendant, W. F. Gorrell, was examined as to the nature of the instructions given him by the Home Life Insurance company. Judge Hutchinson did not make any investigation into the charges made by the defense of the improper treatment of one of their witnesses by the prosecution. Attorney Hardy said his intention was to ask for a rule on the persons implicated in the transaction to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court.

Against the Judgment Creditors.

Judge Tuley decided yesterday that a judgment creditor could not enjoin a contractor from receiving money due him from a municipal corporation for work done under special assessment. The Weber-LaBahn Brick company filed a creditor's bill some time ago in the Circuit Court against Thomas J. Mellon, a sewer contractor, for nearly $2,000, a judgment held by the company against Mr. Mellon. Judge McConnell granted an injunction restraining Contractor Mellon from receiving money coming to him from the Village of Park Ridge on a contract. Judge Tuley has dissolved this injunction and given the defendant leave to suggest damages.

The visiting clergy are requested to present themselves at the school building adjoining the church at 10 o'clock.

Hughes in Court Again.

William Hughes was before Justice Foster yesterday on a charge of vagrancy. He had been indicted for the murder of Vincent Valentine April 26 and had never been tried. He was indicted May 5. Aug. 4 Assistant State's-Attorney Bottum appeared before Judge Clifford and asked that the case be stricken from the docket with leave to reinstate. It was impossible to secure evidence enough to convict Hughes at the August term of the Criminal Court. No new evidence has been discovered. Vincent Valentine was killed in his room on Desplaines street, the object being robbery.

Sues for Payment of Certificates.

William Fitzgerald brought suit in the Circuit Court yesterday against the Globe National and Metropolitan National Banks to enforce the payment of two certificates of deposit. Saturday E. Graume lost a $500 certificate from the Globe National Bank and a certificate for $300 from the Metropolitan in a down-town gambling house. Monday Graume's wife asked that payment on the certificates be stopped. When the banks persisted in a refusal to pay the certificates Fitzgerald, who now holds the documents, brought suit.

Yesterday morning when the hotel proprietor arose he noticed the smell of escaping natural gas. He traced it to the room occupied by the two girls. The room was found full of gas and the girls unconscious. They are now out of danger. It is not known how the gas was turned on.

When two police officers went to No. 434 West Fourteenth street to arrest John Fishbein on a disorderly warrant they were met by Mrs. Rose Fishbein and her daughter Etta. They informed the woman that they had a warrant for Fishbein's arrest. Mrs. Fishbein seized a rolling-pin and struck Officer Golden on the head, while Miss Etta cut a long rent in Officer Horwich's overcoat. The women were arrested. Yesterday Justice Dooley took the case under advisement until tomorrow.

Stops the Boiling of Bones.

Commissioner Reynolds of the Health Department yesterday put a stop to the plans of Chinamen to exhume the bones of their countrymen who have been buried in Rosehill Cemetery. He sent for Secretary Long of the Rosehill Cemetery Association, who admitted that the Chinese intended to take up the bodies of their countrymen and ship them to China, but he thought no body had yet been exhumed. No more bodies will be disinterred without express orders from the Health Department.

Judge Burke Enters on His Duties.

Fully 2,000 persons were vaccinated by physicians of the Health Department yesterday in the neighborhood of No. 883 James avenue, the house from which ten smallpox patients have been taken recently. Mary Dropski, one of the children taken from the house at No. 883 James avenue, died at the pest-house yesterday morning and was buried yesterday afternoon.

Steals the Company's Towels.

In the last few weeks the Pullman Palace Car company has missed $3,000 worth of linens from the various depots. Yesterday a young man giving his name as Ralph Badger was locked up at the Armory Station. At the Palace Hotel, where he roomed, $200 worth of towels and other linen belonging to the car company was found. Badger is charged with larceny.

The New York relatives of Timothy Rafferty, whose body was found in the river beneath the Randolph street viaduct Tuesday night, believe he was foully dealt with, as he had $500 in his possession when he left home. The police do not credit the theory.

Carl Blonberg of No. 44 Oak place, an employé of the Wells-Fargo Express company, died yesterday from the effects of a bullet wound accidentally received while unloading his wagon in front of the Dearborn street office of the company. The accident occurred Saturday night.

Charles W. Caryl, who came to Chicago to save the White City, is made defendant in an action at law commenced by the Eclipse Wind Engine company of Beloit, Wis., to recover the face of ten $100 notes, with interest added. Judgment upon two notes has already been recovered in Justice Wallace's court.

STUFFED PAY-ROLLS.

SALOONKEEPERS ATTEMPT TO DRAW PAY AS CITY EMPLOYES.

Thirteen of Them Are Made to Figure as Street Inspectors—The Names of Many Notoriously Incompetent Men Are Also Found on the Rolls—Mayor Swift Orders an Investigation—Luke Coyne's Resignation Accepted and Chief Clerk Appleton Is Requested to Go.

Acting Mayor Swift was a little astonished when the following pay-roll for Street Inspectors for the month ending Nov. 15 was submitted to him about ten days ago. It had been presented to the Controller with the necessary warrant on the treasury. The amount for inspector service struck the Commissioner as being rather high for this season. It was referred to the Mayor for examination. As a former Commissioner of Public Work it appeared rather steep to him. It was suggested that the large number on the rolls could be accounted for by the fact that there had been an election during the month and that the Street Superintendent who appointed the men had a special interest in it, one of his personal friends being a candidate for Judge. That explained some of the items. Investigations have been commenced concerning others. Though the investigation has not progressed far yet, enough has been ascertained to indicate that the pay-roll does not represent honest service for the city. Thus it appears that a large number of the men employed had no knowledge of the work which they were sent to inspect. As many as ninety-three have had no certain occupation before their employment or their names did not appear in the directory.

Saloonkeepers Drawing Pay from the City.

At least thirteen are saloonkeepers. They carried on the business at their groggeries while drawing pay from the city for inspection work. Among them are the following:

John Arado, Lawrence Baer, Jacob Buxbaum, P. C. Curley, M. E. Cronin, M. Creighton, Dennis Creed, John F. Carey, H. P. Flemming, T. J. Kennaly, John Kolle, D. F. Nicholson, T. J. O'Brien.

Doubtless there are others. That the Superintendent of Streets did not neglect his primary will appear from the fact that the following, and perhaps others, are from the Second Ward:

John Coyle, Charles E. Carney, Michael Cronin, Dennis Creed, A. J. Creighton, Francis Dillon, James Doolan, W. J. Dignan, Pat Flynn, T. J. Gaynor, C. A. Gillespie, T. J. Hanley, Joseph Lery, Richard Lyman, Anton Rueck, John Huck, Arthur McCarthy, E. J. Murphy, Walter Shanley, John Sheilds, C. W. Thompson, Oscar Wigle.

Appended is the full list of the 215 names with the amount of their payment for the month and their residences as far as the same could be ascertained from the directory.

Appleton and Coyne Made to Go.

Twenty-four hours after the investigation of Luke Coyne's charges against Chief Clerk Appleton of the Street Department were finished both the accuser and the accused were stricken off the city pay-rolls. Mayor Swift gave Commissioner Jones a hint Tuesday night that the city might get along without Mr. Appleton and yesterday morning the Commissioner informed Supt. McCarthy of the Mayor's hint. As a result Mr. Appleton was called into the office and informed that the city would try and get along without his services. He was given time to clean up his desk that he might leave things in good condition for his successor, who has not yet been appointed.

About the same time Mayor Swift was writing a letter to Mr. Coyne informing him that his resignation had been accepted. This resignation was presented nearly a week ago and when the Superintendent of Streets heard of it he made some remarks which Mr. Coyne did not like. Coyne's friends then asked the Mayor not to accept the resignation until Coyne had had time to answer Mr. McCarthy's charges. The answer was made at the time the Appleton investigation was being made and the Mayor therefore accepted the resignation.

Mayor Swift has ordered the heads of departments to purge their rolls of every unnecessary workman. In the Department of Public Works this work is going on at a lively rate. Yesterday twenty-five bridge carpenters were let go. There is work for them, but Commissioner Jones says the work can be done next year when the city has more money. All the assistant foremen in all the departments have been let go. Supt. Welles of the Street and Alley Bureau has decapitated a good many men. City Engineer Artingstall let 300 laborers go the first of the week and will discharge about thirty others before the close of the week. It is probable, therefore, that the pay-rolls will be much smaller at the end of this month.

Tennessee Freight Thieves Captured.

JACKSON, Tenn., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Jesse Booth, leader of a notorious gang of thieves whose depredations have annoyed the Illinois Central railroad, was captured last night at Murray, Ky. The Booth gang did business on a large scale, robbing freight trains between Michigan City and Lamar, where there is a heavy grade, and it was easy to enter cars and throw out their contents. It is estimated that the gang has stolen several thousand dollars' worth of freight during the last sixteen months.

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

FRENCH CRISIS ENDS BY THE SELECTION OF A CABINET.

Unofficial List of Names Chosen by Spuller Is Announced—All Are New Members—Carnot's Ambition for Another Term Said to Be the Cause of the Protracted Uncertainty—Many Lives Lost in a Railroad Collision Near Milan, Italy—Prince and Princess Colonna May Be Reunited.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

PARIS, Nov. 29.—[Copyright, 1893, by the Sun Publishing Company.]—At last the French crisis appears ended. Spuller has officially informed Carnot that he accepts the task of forming a Cabinet, having secured the acceptance of Raynal and Burdeau. The new Premier was seen as he was alighting from a cab in front of the Elysée bringing the good news to the President, and he had only time to say that his Cabinet was ready. The list is said to be as follows:

PREMIER AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS—EUGENE SPULLER.
INTERIOR—DAVID RAYNAL.
INSTRUCTION—RAYMOND POINCAREE.
FINANCE—AUGUST BURDEAU.
PUBLIC WORKS—JEAN LOUIS BARTHOU.
COMMERCE—EUGENE ETENNE.
AGRICULTURE—JAMES DE KERJEGU.
MARINE—ADMIRAL GERVAIS.
WAR—GEN. FERRON.
COLONIES—THEOPHILO DELCASSE.
JUSTICE—A SENATOR, NAME UNKNOWN.

None of the old Ministers are in the new Cabinet. This shows decided will on the part of Spuller. He will take an entirely new political line. Burdeau's acceptance of the Finances will be welcomed by the financial world. The other new members are known as clever business-men. The list of names of the members of the new Cabinet as given is not official, but is most likely to be the one that will be gazetted. A general feeling of relief prevails tonight in political circles, and it may be said that the Presidency of the Republic has escaped threatening ruin.

MANY KILLED IN A RAILROAD WRECK.

Collision Near Milan—Emigrants Are the Chief Victims.

ROME, Nov. 29.—News has reached this city of a railroad accident last night at Melzo, a town in Lombardy, twelve miles northeast of Milan. Two trains, an express from Milan for Venice and a goods train laden with inflammable material, collided just outside Melzo. The wreckage was set on fire by the lights on the trains. The accident occurred about the middle of the night. A number of passengers were instantly killed, while others were pinioned by the masses of wreckage lying upon them.

It is expected the deaths will exceed thirty and that over forty are injured. Most of the killed were emigrants who were on the way to the steamer that was to convey them across the ocean. It will be impossible to identify many of the dead, their bodies having been burned to a crisp. Half the train was burned, but the postal wagon was saved.

Doctors went to the scene of the wreck from Milan and other places and did much to alleviate the sufferings of the injured. As soon as possible all the injured were removed to the hospital at Milan. Today the hospital has been besieged by persons who had relatives or friends on the train and who have not heard from them. It is thought that many of the injured will die.

One of the seven carriages which caught fire in the railway wreck at Melzo was filled with emigrants from Venice who were bound for America. This carriage and the Pullman car were smoldering at 4 o'clock this morning. Throughout the night men and women but half clothed wandered about in the dense fog and sought shelter near the scene of the wreck. They were found at daylight lying exhausted and semi-conscious in the fields.

Details as to the exact number of killed and wounded are lacking. Among the wounded is Mlle. Frandin, a rather celebrated music hall singer. She lost all her jewels and 80,000 francs in money in the wreck.

CARNOT PROTRACTS THE CRISIS.

Desires to Pose as Indispensable to Secure Another Term.

[Copyright, 1893, by the United Press.]

PARIS, Nov. 29.—The continuance of the Cabinet crisis is believed to be the result of President's Carnot's personal efforts. The suspicion grows hourly that he is trying to prevent the creation of a strong, moderate Republican ministry in order that he may pose as an indispensable executive and thus secure another term of the Presidency. Either one of his possible competitors at next year's election—Casimir-Perier, President of the Chamber, or Senator Constans—could have formed a ministry this week had Carnot permitted. Casimir-Perier especially was sure of ready support from a permanent working majority. His rival, while not having equally good support, is recognized still as the "Strong Man Constans," and his statesmanlike ability as Premier would have assured to the President a capable Cabinet. Dupuy, the last Premier, also was able to secure a ministry, but he was offended by Carnot's willingness to deal indiscriminately with men of every faction.

In falling back tonight on M. Spuller the President obviously intends to convey to the present Moderate leaders the idea that none of them is indispensable. Spuller has long been out of competition for the foremost ministerial places. Carnot resuscitates him politically doubtless as a man of good character who never has departed from the traditions of his teacher, Gambetta. It will be impossible, however, to group round such a man a Cabinet with much promise of long life. Both ex-Minister Raynal and ex-Minister Burdeau, who are helping Spuller get together a Cabinet, are better men for the Cabinet than he. The newspapers, almost without party distinction, express regret that the situation is so unsatisfactory.

Criticism of Clemenceau.

In his Justice M. Clemenceau, hitherto parliamentary leader of the Radicals, gives this opinion:

> The country views with astounded eyes the situation. France waits upon divine chance to give us a government. Nobody knows who will be master tomorrow. Some audacious spirits declare for M. Carnot, others for M. Casimir-Perier, others, mostly fools, for the republic.

The Figaro says:

> It is a pitiable assortment of photographs which have been called upon to govern us—Casimir-Perier, Melline, Challemel-Lacour, Bardoux, Merlin, etc. We have requests, responses, objections, refusals, denials, and all come to the one end that nobody will enter the councils of the Elysée. French statesmen disdain combinations which are shifting every moment.

Leaders in other papers might be quoted indefinitely to prove the same tendency of opinion on all sides.

Opposition Groups Dismayed.

The opposition groups look on without knowing exactly how to act. The Progressist Left passed the order of the day, the empty character of which shows sufficiently their lack of practical policy equal to the present emergency.

The Progressist Left say: "We repel all compromise and are resolved to pursue our political and social reforms in the name of democracy. We will support only that government which will inspires these reforms."

Go to Berlin to Protest.

M. Haussman, Under-Secretary of the Colonies, accompanied by Commandant Comteil, will start tomorrow for Berlin. He will try to settle the dispute as to the Hinterland of the Cameroons and the new Anglo-German agreement. He will present a note expressing the surprise of his government upon learning that England and Germany, without consulting France, concluded a convention concerning their spheres of influence in Northwestern Africa.

The Debats prints an interview with Señor Domenech, the Spanish Judge especially appointed to preside at the trial of the Anarchists who threw bombs in the Lyceum Opera-House. Domenech said the secret investigations were nearly complete, but the date of the trial was not yet fixed. He declined to say more, but Señor Roca, Civil Governor of the Province of Barcelona, was much less reticent.

Facts in the Opera-House Plot.

"Our reports show," he said, "that the prisoner Binaldi, whose real name is Mosso, is seriously compromised. Fifteen persons were concerned in the plot to blow up the Lyceum—eleven Spaniards, three Italians, and one Frenchman. As all have not been arrested, I cannot disclose their names. We have arrested and still keep imprisoned 113 men who are incriminated, although only indirectly. In our searches of the rooms of Anarchists we found complete directions for the manufacture of bombs."

At the banquet of Socialist Deputies in the Restaurant Maison du Peuple Deputies Jaures, Millerand, and Vivians spoke at length on the Cabinet crisis. Several Anarchists who were present tried to speak on the close relations of socialism and anarchy, but they were ejected from the room.

The American Embassy and Consulate and the offices and stores owned by Americans will be closed tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving.

Señor Guanabara, ex-Deputy in the Brazilian Congress, denies that the State of Para has gone over to the insurgents.

Riot of Race-Track Losers.

The defeat of all the favorites at the Bois de Colombes horse races yesterday so disgusted the people present who had lost their money that they vented their spite upon the horses, jockeys, and owners. The mare Nell Gwynn was hit in the eye with a stone and quite badly injured. Her owner, Mr. Bocher, was caught by the mob and severely handled. Before the mob could do further harm the gendarmes dispersed them.

Many revolutionary placards were posted in the city early this morning by Anarchists.

MAY BE REUNITED TO THE PRINCE.

Friends of Princess Colonna Believe She Would Welcome Reconciliation.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A special dispatch from Paris says that more than a year ago bitter quarrels occurred between Prince Colonna and his wife, the step-daughter of John A. Mackay, when the Prince, so his friends say, objected to what he termed his wife's overfondness for society.

The Princess was seen today, but excused herself from saying anything. Everybody who is acquainted with the Princess knows her to be a discreet, good woman who is entirely devoted to her three little children. The Princess' friends believe she would forgive the Prince if he took the first steps towards a reconciliation.

It is common gossip among Americans on the continent that ever since his marriage the Prince has squandered Mr. Mackay's money without counting it. Besides the large sums he constantly demanded, large bills addressed to the Princess were received. These bills were for jewelry and other feminine adornments, and the Princess was unable to doubt the object of the articles that had been charged to her, but which she had never seen. She, her brothers, and her mother were accurately informed of the Prince's actions by pretended friends. Colonna's "princely" spirit was unable to brook reproach, though when he was driven to bay with an absolutely empty purse to face his gambling debts, he several times responded to his wife's meek complaints, tears, and a check for a large sum of money, with promises of amendment, which, the money in his possession, he treated like the proverbial piecrust.

The final scene is said to have been a violent one, in which Mrs. Mackay, unsparing of her words, told the Prince just what she thought of him and his conduct. The Prince could make no defense, so he contented himself with comparing his Princely origin with the origin of Mrs. Mackay.

No Jurisdiction Over the Sultan.

The appeal of Miss Jenny Mighell from the decision of the lower court, which held that English courts had no jurisdiction over the Sultan of Johore, was dismissed today. Miss Mighell, who is a handsome girl residing in Brighton, met the Sultan some years ago, when he was introduced to her as Albert Baker. Miss Mighell claimed the Sultan promised to marry her. She finally learned of his identity, and continued to receive him and correspond with him. On the occasion of the Sultan's last visit to England Miss Mitchell, who believed she was to return to India with him, made some communications to him which he refused to acknowledge. Finding she was ignored she brought suit against the Sultan for breach of promise of marriage, placing her damages at £10,000. The Sultan pleaded he was a reigning sovereign and, therefore, the English courts had no jurisdiction whatever over him. This contention has now been upheld by the Court of Appeals.

Entanglement at Rome.

A special dispatch from Rome says the friends of Sig. Giolitti, who resigned the Prime Ministership last week, state that Sig. Tantongo's nomination as Senator was decided upon by Sig. Zanardelli, now President of the Chamber of Deputies, who has been summoned by King Humbert to form a Cabinet, and Sig. Grimaldi, Minister of the Treasury in Sig. Giolitti's Cabinet. This decision was made, it is said, by Sigs. Zanardelli and Grimaldi while they were dining at Sig. Tantongo's house. Newspapers supporting Sig. Giolitti publish letters from Sig. Zanardelli to Sig. Tantongo, in which the former advises the latter to subsidize members of the press to favor and support his candidacy. Sig. Tantongo was governor of the Banca Romano and was arrested on the charge of complicity in the frauds. His trial before the Assize Court, however, resulted in his acquittal. The publication of these letters has caused considerable comment. Other scandals are threatened, and every one in political life is on the qui vive to learn who will be implicated.

DISCUSS THE INFERNAL MACHINES.

Emperor Thinks the Attempt on Caprivi's Life Was Made by a Madman.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—At the opening of the Reichstag this afternoon Herr von Levetzow, the President, expressed the indignation felt by himself and other members of the House without regard to party feelings at the attempt to assassinate the Emperor and Chancellor von Caprivi by means of infernal machines. Chancellor von Caprivi and Maj. Ebmeyer, his aide, were received by Emperor William at the new palace, Potsdam, today. Maj. Ebmeyer told in detail all the facts he knew in connection with the infernal machine that was sent to the Chancellor. His story in all respects agreed with that told at the time. The Emperor, after listening to the story, said the whole thing was the work of a madman. He added that he in no way identified France with the attempted outrage, though the package was sent from Orleans. Even the Anarchists of Berlin have expressed their non-approval of the attempt on the Chancellor's life. They held a meeting last night and declared that the Anarchists were in no way connected with the outrage. The Chancellor, it was emphatically said, had no enemies among the Anarchists.

KUCHAN'S WEEK OF DISASTER.

Further Details of the Earthquake by Which 12,000 Persons Were Killed.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Further advices regarding the awful disaster at Kuchan, the town in Northern Persia that was recently destroyed by an earthquake, when 12,000 persons lost their lives, show that 160 shocks were felt from Nov. 17 until Nov. 24. On that date heavy rain and snow storms set in and added to the misery of the survivors. Most of those who escaped when the town was destroyed on the night of Nov. 17 fled from the city to the adjacent mountains, but after a time they returned and encamped on the level ground near where the town had stood. Skin and other tents were set up and in these the survivors are living. Everything they possessed was destroyed, and had it not been for those living in the valley round about Kuchan many of them would have starved to death. The inhabitants of the towns and villages have supplied the Kuchanites with provisions and have done all in their power to alleviate the sufferings.

Admiral Stanton Starts for New York.

Admiral Stanton, who was relieved of the command of the American South Atlantic squadron for saluting the insurgent Admiral Mello, arrived on the steamer Thames at Southampton from Rio Janeiro Nov. 18. He left Southampton for New York on the North German Lloyd steamer Spree, which sailed Nov. 22.

Baird Suit Settled.

It is understood Mr. Seaton will receive from the executors of the estate of the late Abingdon Baird the sum of £4,000 in settlement of his action against them for his commission for securing the return of a check for £30,000 given to Mrs. Langtry by Mr. Baird. This is £3,000 less than he was promised for getting the check back.

MEXICAN REVOLUTION IS SERIOUS.

Government Growing Alarmed Over the Growth of the Movement.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

CIUDAD, Juarez, Mexico, via Galveston, Tex., Nov. 29.—[Copyright, 1893, by James Gordon Bennett.]—The Chihuahua revolt is assuming a most serious aspect and Diaz's followers are becoming greatly alarmed. Despite their claims that the trouble is not a revolution but the work of a few bandits out for plunder they show their apprehension. In addition to the patrol of the Rio Grande in this section, the United States Government will be urgently requested to place a large force in the field on the American side of the river.

The government is now anticipating uprisings further south in the Garza section. One of the phases which has created consternation in army circles is the fact that the regular troops are in some secret manner getting possession of seditious literature. The forced draft of men in this section has embraced several who are revolutionists and who belong to the secret order all the rebels are members of.

These men have of course preached their doctrines to the regular soldiers and they are now seized with disaffection. The regular soldiers are mainly convicts sent to the army on account of lack of room in the penitentiaries and their allowance is 37½ cents a day, equivalent to a little more than 25 cents American money. Out of this amount they must furnish their own food and anything they need except clothing.

Soldiers fighting under such conditions are not formidable, and if the revolutionists are paying good wages the regulars may yet be induced to join their ranks.

Americans Asked to Help.

Nicare Pacheco was in El Paso, Tex., up to Tuesday morning. During his stay he issued a new pronunciamento calling on Americans to join the present bodies of revolutionists in the field and fight for freedom.

The document appeals to the regular soldiery in strong terms and through some channel a plentiful supply of the inflammatory documents got into the hands of the soldiery. Perez, while in El Paso, purchased a large quantity of ammunition. He had with him a train of fifteen wagons, which he loaded and crossed back into Mexico before sunrise. Besides Pacheco and his party several other bodies, all well supplied with arms and ammunition, effected crossings, and today military officers are in a fevered state of anxiety. They recognize the fact that the rebels have money in abundance, that they are well supplied with war munitions, that they cross the river when it suits their convenience, and that they cannot be dislodged from their stronghold.

All they can now depend upon is the American Government taking summary action and increasing the forces in Texas to patrol the Rio Grande from Brownsville to El Paso, which would require several thousand men. If the United States troops take that much of the campaigns off their hands they can then reduce some of their garrison forces and put more men in the field.

Revolutionists Are Confident.

The revolutionists, however, do not seem to think the American Government will go to such an enormous outlay of money so long as there is no hostile demonstrations on the Texas soil, and also cite the fact that as Mello or any other South American revolutionist can purchase arms in New York there is nothing to prevent the same in Texas. The revolutionists are not at present on the aggressive. They are gaining recruits and expect in the course of the next two or three weeks to come out of their present stronghold and operate southward. They believe that they are able to force from Diaz nearly all the concessions they are fighting for, and that be their plan of campaign.

NEW IRONCLADS FOR ARGENTINA.

Disquieting News from Chile Causes the Decision by Minister of War.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, via Galveston, Tex., Nov. 29.—[Copyright, 1893, by James Gordon Bennett.]—The Minister of War has held a conference with a number of military and naval chiefs to discuss the question of armaments. It is reported that it has been decided to immediately order the building of two new ironclads. This addition to the navy, together with the purchase of a large quantity of rifles and guns, was determined on, it is believed, owing to the receipt of disquieting news from Chile. The Ministers discussed in secret in the Chamber the protocol on the boundary question.

CONFER IN INTEREST OF PEACE.

Brazil's New Ships May Be a Drug on the Market When They Arrive.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, via Galveston, Tex., Nov. 29.—[Copyright, 1893, by James Gordon Bennett.]—It is reported here that Minister Assis of Brazil, on behalf of President Peixoto, has discussed with the leaders of the revolutionary movement here looking to some decisive arrangement regarding the rebel fleet and the situation in Rio Grande do Sul. The fact that Minister Assis had a conference with Demetrio Ribeiro, the representative of the revolutionists, is taken as confirmation of the rumor. It is also said the result of the conference will be peace throughout all of Brazil.

Minister Assis admitted today it was true he had called on Demetrio, but declares politics was not discussed, that it was merely a visit of friendship. This statement, which is received with suspicion, does not allay the hope that favorable negotiations will be completed before the arrival of Peixoto's fleet purchased in New York. The torpedo boat Aurora is expected here in eight days.

From the agent of the revolution in Santa Catharina news has been received that the rebel forces under Gen. Samiva have captured Cunlyba, the capital of Parana. They also secured twenty-three Krupp guns and many shells.

OUR STORE Is Closed All Day Today (Thanksgiving).
More Than Ever Headquarters for Silks More Than Ever.
WE have much to be thankful for. We are very thankful in a business way that the people of Chicago can appreciate real values in Silks. . . . Only a few years ago we started with little but Silk ability. We have in these few years built up the leading retail Silk business of America. We have done this in the face of the keenest competition and without the aid of expert advertisement writers. We are very thankful for our future prospects, for we really have just reached the position where we can grow rapidly. Our present buying facilities, covering, as they do, every silk-producing center of the world, are unsurpassed by any house in existence. Our well-known superior qualities, our superior styles, the exclusiveness of our styles, our stronger assortments, our wider reaching prestige, our thoroughness in Silks, brought about by dealing only in Silks and Silk Goods, thinking Silks, studying Silks, talking only Silks and Silk Goods—has unquestionably placed us in a position to increase our patronage much more rapidly in the future than we have in the past.
The numerons surprises in extraordinary Silk values we have been giving our trade of late are causing our store to be commented upon everywhere. An investigation on your part will at once convince you that there is abundant reason for all this talk, for never in the history of the Silk business have such marvelous values been shown as we are now giving in our Great Special Sale of High-Class Silks at $1.00 per yard. They are positively $3.00, $2.50, and $2.00 Silks for only $1.00 per yard—not a few lines, but an enormous variety in Blacks, Fancies, Colors, and evenings—endless variety of finest Silks produced at proportionately ridiculous prices. FOOTBALL DAY HERE.

CHICAGO AND BOSTON TO MEET ON THE GRIDIRON FIELD.

Games Scheduled from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast—Universities of Michigan and Chicago to Meet This Morning—Boston Men Arrive and Are Entertained by Their Opponents Last Night—Wabash Cancels Its Game with Northwestern.

This is football day and throughout the land the weird swish of the oval pigskin will be heard.

On the Pacific coast Stanford and California Universities will battle for supremacy; on the Eastern seaboard Yale and Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania braves will meet on the gridiron, and here in the center of the Republic Boston and Chicago will line up in their annual contest.

But these are not the only games. Through the length and breadth of the land the thundering of the rush line will be heard, and when today's sun sinks behind the Western horizen the football season of 1893 will have gone down to history. There will be weeks of wild rejoicing or vain regrets as the case may be, a busy period for the college barber getting the matted hair from the college cranium and the football player will sink into obscurity for another brief period.

There was a time when the turkey reigned supreme on Thanksgiving day. He has long since been supplanted. True he is a necessary factor in the proper celebration of the day but the football player is the real hero of the occasion.

Two games will be played here under Intercollegiate rules. This morning at Fifty-seventh and Ellis avenue the University of Chicago and University of Michigan. The Northwestern University and Wabash game is canceled This afternoon the Boston and Chicago Athletic Association teams will line up opposite each other.

Boston's Team Is Entertained.

The Boston football team went to McVicker's Theater last night to see "Blue Jeans." The team was the guest of the Chicago club, and both elevens occupied the boxes and front seats in the house. These boxes were decorated with the colors of both clubs. All through the play the colors of Chicago and Boston were displayed by the characters in the play and on the property used. The drum major of the "Rising Sun Roarers" had a big letter C on his cap and the letters and colored ribbons of the rival clubs appeared on the "barbecued" ox. After the play both elevens retired for the night to rest up for today's game.

THE GREAT CHICAGO-BOSTON GAME.

Only Peters Is Absent from the Eastern Team—Chicago's Strong Array.

Today's weather local indications are: Fair and much colder.

Both Chicago fields are likely to be hard and slippery.

By far the most important of these is the afternoon game, and if the good weather promised is granted nothing more is needed to make the annual football game at the South Side grounds an unqualified success.

The Boston team arrived here at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Manager Harry Cornish of the local team met them at the state line and the party alighted at Twenty-second street and went to the Lexington Hotel. When the Bostons arrived the outlook was not promising. The sky was overcast and there was enough moisture in sight to float a ship. But football players are used to nasty weather and do not mind it a great deal.

The Bostons will be minus the services of Peters, their great running half back, who is in Texas on business. His place will be taken by Garcelon, who made such a good showing in the athletic championships here. The absence of Peters will weaken the visitors back of the line. He was their great ground gainer, and local lovers of the game will remember how neatly he skirted the Chicago end last year.

Chicago.	Weight.	Position.	Weight.	Boston.
Stevenson	196	Center	178	Hastings.
N. Flint	181	Right guard	190	Fay.
Smith	158	Right tackle	178	Waters.
Culver	181	Right end	158	Wardner.
Wood	158	Quarter back	156	Belfield.
Alward	150	Left half back	152	Garcelon.
Stickney	164	Right half back	162	Anthony.
Noyes	168	Full back	152	McNear.

The substitutes are: For Chicago, Hart, Stone, Heyworth, and Hately; and for Boston, Burns, Wood, Ware, Howard, and Batchelder. In addition to the substitutes the Boston party includes John Graham, manager, and Henry Harrison and George Beals of the Board of Governors.

Mr. Beals will referee the game, while Alonzo Stagg will act as umpire. In addition to these officials John Graham and Harry Cornish will act as timers, and there will be a substitute from each team to aid the referee in marking distances. With such an efficient corps of officials there should be no mistakes in the executive.

The advance sale of seats has been as large as usual, and with any kind of fair weather the grounds promise to be crowded.

ANN ARBOR TO MEET STAGG'S MEN.

The Teams Have Played Before and the Local Men Won.

Next in importance to the South Side game will be the meeting of the University of Chicago and University of Michigan at Fifty-seventh street and Ellis avenue. The game will be called at 11 o'clock.

The game promises to be bitterly contested, as Michigan has the memory of a defeat this season to efface.

The local team defeated Ann Arbor Oct. 21 by a score of 10 to 6, but since that date the Northerners have added scalp after scalp to their belt. Among the teams defeated was the famous Purdue eleven.

Chicago.	Weight.	Position.	Weight.	Michigan.
Wyant	165	Center	230	Smith.
Lozier	165	Right guard	175	Singer.
Knapp	170	Right tackle	195	Villa.
Nichols	160	Right end	153	Hayes.
Raycraft	146	Quarter back	145	Balm.
Hering	150	Half back	140	Forwert.
Gale	170	Half back	130	Freund.
Neel	150	Full back	160	Dygert.

The Chicago team is in great condition, and will render a good account of itself.

The Ann Arbor team arrived last night.

GAELIC FOOTBALLERS TO PLAY.

Irish and Scotch Teams to Meet on the South Side Grounds.

A match under Gaelic rules is to be played this afternoon at Thirty-seventh street and Indiana avenue. The Irishmen will be represented by the famous Shamrock club, which has not suffered defeat this season. The Scotch team is made up of players from various clubs, and contains players familiar with both the Rugby and association codes. As the Gaelic game is a mixture of the two the Scotchmen expect to make a strong fight, and hope to lower the colors of the champions. Play begins at 3 o'clock.

The Scotch team will be chosen from the following:

E. Butcher, D. Robertson, A. Rhydderich, L. Bowford, J. G. Davis, W. Odlum, R. Hepwell, N. O'Shea, J. Cowan, G. Aston, R. Edwards, J. Keely, J. Wild, W. Norton, I. Bottomley, C. Dobson, T. Monroe, and several reserve players.

The Shamrocks will play their regular team as far as possible made up of:

P. Barry, captain; W. Powers, E. Powers, P. Nugent, T. Egeney, P. Gallagher, N. Crane, J. Lyons, P. Burke, T. Ryan, B. O'Brien, P. Doyle, M. Powers P. Ryan, M. Ryan, T. Woodley. Referee, Mr. P. D. Quinn.

This morning at 10 o'clock teams from the office and stock departments of Marshall Field & Co. will play for the championship of the house, under association rules.

The game set today between the Thistles and Swifts has been declared off.

No Northwestern-Wabash Game.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The football game to have taken place this forenoon at Evanston between Northwestern and Wabash Colleges has been declared off. A telegram was received at Evanston this afternoon that the Wabash team had disbanded.

HAWTHORNE RACES OFF.

Events Discarded on Account of Bad Track and a New Card Today.

There was no racing at Hawthorne yesterday afternoon on account of the condition of the track and the entire program was declared off. Racing will be resumed today with a new card.

This is the second time in the history of the track that bad weather caused a postponement. One day last winter the card was declared off.

The Hawthorne track will have raced 259 days this year when its meeting ends Saturday.

It has had a most successful meeting, from both a financial and racing standpoint. The racing has been peculiarly clean, and, while there have been nasty spots in it at times, they were few and far between. The track has given away $684,732.50. Of this amount Pat Dunne, Eugene Leigh, and Ed Corrigan himself won the largest share. Clifford was the largest individual winner, both in the races captured and money placed to his credit.

It is said that the track will not be opened until May. This may be reversed and the gates thrown open earlier.

Pat Dunne and a number of the better class of horsemen will remain here for the time being. All contend that a winter in the Chicago climate serves to harden horses and make them more fit to stand the wear and tear of a season's campaigning.

FRED FOSTER'S GOOD THING FAILS.

Bessie Bisland, at a Longer Price, Defeats Eloroy at Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—The racing at Bennings today was fairly interesting, there being good fields and liberal speculation. The attendance was the best of the meeting, the track fairly good, and the weather splendid. Fred Foster attempted a coup with Eloroy, but the good thing was beaten a scant half length by Bessie Bisland, who was at 7 to 1, and heavily played by J. J. McCafferty and his followers. The summaries:

First race, selling, four and one-half furlongs—Charley Wilson, 106 pounds (Morgan), 5 to 1, won; Tom Hardin, 119 (McCafferty), 9 to 5, second; Capt. Wagner, 103 (Burrell), 7 to 2, third. Time, :57. Gray Eagle, Beautiful Bells, Ruby, Robin Hood, Fidget, and Risk also ran.

Second race, maiden 2-year-olds, five furlongs—Yucatan, 110 pounds (Blake), 4 to 1, won; Pottowatomie, 110 (Simms), 7 to 5, second; Hartford, 110 (J. Lambley), 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:04¾. Sprinkle, McDonald, Calomel filly, Gleesome, Brightwood, Kenmore, Smoke, Dispatch, Dry Dollar, and Pirre Waggaman also ran.

Third race, handicap, one mile—Logan, 110 pounds (Shields), 6 to 5, won; Lizzie, 96 (J. Lambley), 7 to 2, second; Equity, 110 (Morrissey), 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:45½. Panway also ran.

Fourth race, handicap, 2-year-olds, six furlongs—Aurelian, 110 pounds (W. Midgley, 3 to 5, won; Factotum, 102 (J. Lambley), 10 to 1, second; Setauket, 100 (Ham), 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:17¼. Florence, Flannigan, Golden Valley, and Little Pearl also ran.

GUTTENBERG, N. J., Nov. 29.—The last day but one saw a large crowd at Guttenberg. A most attractive card was run off and the sport was hugely enjoyed.

TIGERS TO TRY YALE.

PRINCETON AND THE BLUES TO PLAY ON MANHATTAN FIELD.

The Game Likely to Be Played in Rain and Mud—The New Haven Men Favorites at 5 to 3, but the Tigers Have Many Supporters—Yale Given Three Days Holiday and Nearly All the Students Leave for New York—Harvard and Pennsylvania to Meet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The weather indications for tomorrow are for rain. A storm is approaching from the central valleys. The cold wave from the west cannot reach here in time to clear the sky. In that case the field will be muddy and deep.

The vanguard of the college football contingent has arrived in town. Last night and this morning students were not infrequent along this way and every train from Princeton and New Haven brings more of them. There is to be less noise this year than on previous occasions. Supt. Byrnes says: "Students will have to seek other vocal methods to give vent to their feelings. This of course does not refer to Manhattan field, for a game without cheering would be like soup without salt. On the streets, at hotels and theaters lung exercise must be curbed."

The students will probably make up for this by an additional display of their college colors. The very latest caper in this regard was brought out by a Yale man yesterday who carried a bunch of blue ribbons with a white "Y" painted on them.

It is estimated that over 25,000 people will be on Manhattan field tomorrow afternoon. If there had been room the number might have reached half as many again, for applications were received for 30,000 seats and a good many did not apply, knowing there were no seats to be had. It has been the aim of the University Athletic club this year to keep Yale and Princeton students together as much as possible; a most pleasing feature, as those who have seen the Springfield games know. The University Athletic Club committee visited Manhattan field this evening to see that everything is in shape and whether any additional improvements can be made for handling the crowd.

Princeton Men Are Confident.

There has been no great betting on the game as yet. Princeton men were acting as did Yale men last week. They are confident, but ask good odds. At the Stock Exchange as good as 2 to 1 was offered. At the hotels tonight 2 to 1 was given right along. The prestige of Yale's recent victory will not deter Princeton one whit, as far as hard work and determination are concerned. Both teams arrived in town tonight. Princeton is at the Murray Hill and Yale at the Fifth Avenue,

YALE EXPECTS A VICTORY.

Partisans of the Blue Betting Even That Tigers Will Not Score.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Yale is quiet and deserted tonight.

The football eleven and nineteen substitutes departed this afternoon for New York and more than half the students of the university left town about the same time. The faculty has decreed a three days' holiday and only a few members of the university have failed to take advantage of it.

Betting here was "lively" today. So much Harvard money was won last Saturday that Yale men are today betting on everything. They are putting up even money that Princeton will not score, giving odds that Yale's score will double Princeton, and taking even money that Yale will not score 12 points. The favorite wager, however still continues to be that Yale will defeat Princeton, Yale giving odds of 5 to 3. Thorne, the Yale left half back, left here in bad shape today. An injury to the thigh received last Saturday has not been healed and he is very lame. Unless he asserts an utterly stoic disposition he will play but a few minutes tomorrow. Armstrong's shoulder was better this afternoon and he is likely to play the game through. Hart will probably take Thorne's place. Tickets for the Princeton game are selling at three times their face value tonight.

The Yale team will line up as follows:

Name.	Position.	Wgt.	Hgt.	Age.
F. A. Hinkey	Left end	159	5.10	22
F. T. Murphy	Left tackle	172	5.11	20
J. A. McCrea	Left guard	204	5.10	19
P. T. Stillman	Center	206	6.1	20
W. O. Hickok	Right guard	202	6.2	19
A. C. Beard	Right tackle	195	6.2	21
J. C. Greenway	Right end	162	6.1	21
G. T. Adee	Quarter back	155	5.8	19
S. B. Thorne	Left half back	171	5.11	22
R. Armstrong	Right half back	161	5.9	20
F. S. Butterworth	Full back	170	5.11	22

JARVIS FIELD WILL BE SOFT.

Good Weather and a Big Crowd Promised at Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—This mild, springlike day has left Jarvis field somewhat soft, the frost having broken out, but the chill of tonight promises to remedy this and it is thought the gridiron will be in first-class shape tomorrow.

It bids fair to be an ideal day for the game and 20,000 people are expected to be present.

The U. of P. team, twenty rugged fellows, arrived tonight and registered at the Tremont House. They are all big fellows compared with Harvard. In the game tomorrow they will line up thus: Simmons, left end; Mackey, left tackle; Oliver, left guard; Thornton, center; Woodruff, right guard; Reese, right tackle; Newton, right end; Williams, quarter back; Osgood and Knipe, half backs; Brooke, full back.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The opinion here relative to the Pennsylvania University team is that it will score against Harvard, but no one looks for a victory.

The most encouraging reports are received from the men and they are in good condition. Advices state that Harvard hopes to rattle the Philadelphia team and dispose of it easily. Experts mark the figures at 24 for Harvard 12 for Philadelphia, and also 18 to 6. Capt. Mackey telegraphed tonight that he proposes playing a fast and hustling game against Harvard, and he says his team is playing a strong interference game.

HARVARD READY FOR PENNSYLVANIA

The Crimson Eleven Has Discarded Its Absurd Plays.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Harvard's football players had their last practice of the season today on Jarvis field. The second eleven was not called out. For half an hour this morning the 'Varsity team was kept plunging through the plays and signals. It was noticeable that the team's répertoire of plays was smaller and that a number of the old regular plays of the earlier part of the season were substituted for the so-called Deland maneuvers.

Brewer, the full back, was specially practiced in punting and was made to stand full five yards further back of the rushes than in the Yale game. The eleven's make-up for tomorrow's game with Pennsylvania will be the same as against Yale, Dunlap filling Waters' place and Lewis, center rusher, captaining the team. The desperation that has marked the Harvard men's work since Saturday has caused their stock to rise, and now the betting is even that the Quakers cannot score.

The Harvard team will line up as follows:

Name.	Position.	Wt.	Ht.	Age.
Acton	Left guard	190	6.1	24
Lewis	Center	180	5.11	24
Mackie	Right guard	201	6.2	23
Newell	Right tackle	172	5.8	22
Stevenson	Right end	165	5.10	17
A. Beale	Quarter back	155	5.9½	19
Dunlop	Right half back	180	5.11	22
Brewer	Full back	155	5.8¾	20

V. M. HARDING.

Princeton Team in Good Shape.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The Princeton team left for New York on the 6:47 train and will make Murray Hill Hotel their headquarters. Capt. Trenchard took a majority of the substitutes with the regular team. Crowds have left for New York on every train today. The Pennsylvania road will run a special football train from here tomorrow. The interest taken in the struggle tomorrow on Manhattan field has never been greater than this year.

The team will line up as follows:

H. O. Brown	Left end	164	5.11½	21

Chicago Kennel Club Bench Show.

The coming bench show to be held under the auspices of the Chicago Kennel club Dec. 13, 14, 15, and 16 at the Second Regiment Armory, Washington boulevard and Curtis street, promises well. The entries are numerous and of high class. They include several of the most noted dogs in America and close Dec. 4 at the office of the club, Room 725 Unity Building.

General Sporting Notes.

Tom Williams' Cadmus went to the post lame when he was beaten twenty lengths by Sir Reel in the Fame Stakes at San Francisco.

Bob Fitzsimmons still insists that when he said he could whip Mitchell in eight rounds he meant it, and is ready to try when a price is offered and the Englishman is ready.

While Full Back Butterworth was playing at Springfield last Saturday thieves broke into his rooms on the college campus at New Haven and stole $350 worth of clothes.

J. B. S., Chicago: Princeton and Harvard have met thirteen times. Princeton won nine times, Harvard three times, and one game was a tie. Princeton in the games made 167 and Harvard 72 points.

Delaney and McVey, trainers of Corbett, will soon leave New York for Jacksonville, Fla., where they will prepare the champion for his battle with Mitchell, which it is now said will take place in that State.

John White of the Farmington Athletic club football team, who was injured in the game with the Yale seniors at Farmington, Conn., died last night at the hospital at Hartford. His head was jammed in a collision and paralysis followed.

G. B., City: J. F. Donahue's fourteen miles in 1:02, made in Holland in 1888, is nearest the figures you want. The mile walking record is W. Perkins, 6:23, London, Eng., June 1, 1874; the two-mile record J. W. Raby's 13:14, London, Eng., April 25, 1891.

Advices from Laredo, Tex., declare that a $20,000 purse is ready for Mitchell and Corbett if they cannot meet in Florida. The promoters' idea is to bring the fight off at New Laredo, Mexico, on the old bullfight arena, and they say that there is no specific law against pugilism in Mexico.

The story comes from Washington that Joseph J. Burke will probably occupy the judges' stand on the Board of Control tracks next summer. It is said on good authority that the judge's services have already been bespoken for the place and that he only needs to say yes to secure a position that many covet. The judge, it is said, has not given any definite answer as yet, for he is in somewhat of a quandary, as he is in great demand in the West.

The contestants in the New York broadsword contest, which begins at Madison Square Garden today, are: Duncan C. Ross, American champion; Maj. J. A. McGuire of Ireland; Chevalier Eugenio Pini, Instructor of the Royal Naval Academy of Naples; Chevalier Greco, Instructor Royal Military School of Rome; Chevalier Xavier Orlofski of Germany, Sergt. Charles Walsh, Fritz Lund of Denmark, Lieut. James Kendall, Anton Gaston of France, Hendreck Olsen of Sweden, and Joseph Slavaltsky of Russia.

Telegraphic Notes of Sport.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 29.—The Stanford-Berkeley University football game will take place tomorrow afternoon, rain or shine. It has been raining all day and the indication is a wet day for the game.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—President Von der Ahe has requested Pitchers Breitenstein and Gleason and Catcher Peitz to sign for next season for the same low salaries paid them last. Gleason has refused and it is likely Breitenstein and Peitz will too.

BELOIT, Wis., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—There has been considerable excitement in the city this evening over the preparation for a prize-fight between Billy Moore and Con O'Leary of Milwaukee. The fight was to take place on the Illinois side of the State line about midnight.

LAMONT'S STATISTICS.

ARMY AFFAIRS DECLARED TO BE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION.

Remarkable Progress Made in Establishing Coast Defenses and Erecting Fortifications—Heavy Ordnance of the Best Kind Produced in This Country—Recommendation That the Admissions to the West Point Military Academy Be Increased—New Rifles Ready.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—Secretary Lamont has issued the annual report of the War Department reviewing the operations of the army and the progress of the work on the seacoast defenses. The Secretary says that Indian warfare is practically at an end, that demand for the employment of the army to preserve order within the States has become infrequent, and that the gradual concentration of the army on the seacoast and the frontiers is prescribed by the conditions of the time. The work of fortification at thirteen large seaports renders the conversion of a portion of the infantry to the artillery arm a manifest necessity. The total strength of the army on Sept. 30, 1893, was 2,144 officers and 25,779 enlisted men. The army lost 9,456 enlisted men during the year and gained 9,074 recruits. Transportation was furnished for 367,577 persons, 6,948 animals, and 99,692 tons of freight. The Secretary of War recommends the repeal of the law fixing ten years as the maximum period of enlistment, and favors a reduction of the period of first enlistment to three years instead of five. The prosecution of the experiment of enlisting Indian companies will be continued only on the present small scale until success or failure has been proved. The three-battalion organization for infantry regiments is recommended. The entire infantry force will be equipped with the new magazine rifle before the close of the coming year. The issue of the new 3.2 steel field guns to the militia and colleges and schools is suggested. One-third of the report is devoted to the progress of the last eight years in the manufacture of heavy ordnance and seacoast defense. The mounting of the first 12-inch gun, with its lift, in its emplacement at Sandy Hook, signifies the ability of our manufacturers to produce heavy forgings for high power guns. The cost of the type battery at Sandy Hook is $524,121. By Jan. 1, 1894, there will be ready for mounting nine 12-inch guns, twenty 10-inch guns, thirty-four 8-inch guns, and seventy-five 12-inch mortars. The engineer corps is preparing at Portland, Me.; Boston, New York, Washington, Hampton Roads, and San Francisco emplacements for four 12-inch guns, twenty 10-inch guns, five 8-inch guns, sixty-four 12-inch mortars, and twenty-four casements for submarine torpedo operations. Work will be progressing next year at thirteen of the twenty-eight ports proposed for fortifications. The annual output of the Watervliet gun factory is fifteen 12-inch guns, fifteen 10-inch, and twelve 8-inch guns, and the first of the 100 large guns contracted for with the Bethlehem iron works is due next year. The expenditures for seacoast defense for the year ending June 30, 1893, were $3,163,094.

The report holds that the shore duration of recent wars demonstrates the important part of the exact sciences in modern warfare, and that progress in the War Department must be along the lines of a national university of military science as well as along those of coast defense. An increase in the number of cadets at the West Point Military Academy is suggested for an early day. Growing interest in military instruction at colleges and schools is reported. In 1892-93 the number of students was 10,970, a gain of 42 per cent. The Secretary recommends that military instruction by army officers be extended to the high schools of the larger cities. The latest returns report an organized militia of 112,597 in all the States. The improvement of the harbors and internal water-ways of the country has made excellent progress. The Chief of Engineers estimates that in the continuance of these works the sum of $38,770,611 can be expended during the next fiscal year. The department does not think that more than $7,500,000 is needed this year. The Secretary recommends the erection of a memorial bridge from Washington to Potomac Heights as a suitable approach to the National Cemetery at Arlington. The sum of $863,017 has been expended by the States on the field of Gettysburg, in addition to considerable sums contributed by private organizations. The greater part of the work of establishing the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military Park has been completed.

The work of the Record and Pension Office of the War Department has so far advanced that a reduction of $345,000 can be made during the coming year. It is recommended that Congress take appropriate action for the relief of the sufferers in the accident at the old Ford Theater Building.

PROCTOR TAKES JOHNSTON'S PLACE.

The Louisiana Man's Troubles Which Led Up to Civil Service Commission Charge.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The Civil Service Commission manages to keep itself before the public by its internal broils. President Cleveland's removal of Commissioner Johnston of Louisiann has helped to recall to mind that there is such a thing. John R. Proctor was today appointed to take the vacancy. Johnston is a sportsman who undertook to carry out the spoils theory as a Civil Service Commissioner. This brought him in contact with Roosevelt. Roosevelt made himself unpopular with some of the public officials during the Harrison administration by insisting on carrying out the law. He could do no less under a Democratic administration. He staid in office on the assurance from President Cleveland that his policy would be supported.

The Terre Haute Postoffice furnished a flagrant case of conflict between civil service and spoils service. Commissioner Johnston sided with the Democrat who was made Postmaster there. Roosevelt sought to have the law obeyed regardless of the wishes of Senator Voorhees. Roosevelt has also been demanding some show of observing the law in the Treasury Department and has made himself obnoxious to Secretary Carlisle. Commissioner Johnston naturally sided with Carlisle. Then Roosevelt told the President that either he or Johnston would have to go. Johnston was given opportunity to resign and take a consulate at Victoria. He refused and was therefore removed. He is trying to make himself out a martyr, but there is no sympathy given him. It has been reported that the President would further reorganize the commission by dropping Lyman, but the objections to the man are of a negative sort, and as he has no politics and is backed by the mugwumps he will probably stay.

Prof. John R. Proctor, the newly-appointed member of the Civil Service Commission, was born in Mason County March 16, 1844, was educated at the noted academy at Maysville and at home, afterward completing his studies by a special course at the University of Pennsylvania. He soldiered through the war with the Confederate army. In 1873, on the organization of the Geological Survey, he was appointed an assistant, and steadily advanced in position until on the resignation of Prof. Shaler in May, 1880, he was appointed chief of the department to succeed the former. This position he held with credit until this year, when the Kentucky Legislature refused to make another appropriation to maintain the department.

Senator Turpie Says He Was Well Treated.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 29.—Senator Turpie, when asked today if it was true that he was originally slated for Chairman of the Pensions committee, but was scratched off when his position was learned, said: "I don't know anything of it. I know that I was well treated. I was entitled to two Chairmanships under the rule of succession and could not expect both."

BISHOP COXE AGAIN ATTACKS SATOLLI.

Prediction That the Cahensly Doctrine Will Yet Prevail Here.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 29.—A second letter from the Rt.-Rev. A. Cleveland Coxe, Bishop of Buffalo, to Archbishop Satolli, the papal delegate to the United States, appeared today, in which criticism of the latter is continued. He again resents the delegate's interference in American affairs, and says: "Yours is a deliberate invasion of our capital and a practical intermeddling with our most delicate domestic affairs, which you threaten to make permanent. Our system of education and our common schools are as the apple of the eye of every true American, whether of your own religion or otherwise. As Americans it is the right of your co-religionists to settle their relations with their fellow-citizens without any alien interference." He questions the ablegate's sincerity and predicts that the Cahensly doctrine is reserved for a time when things shall be ripe for its enforcement. The ablegate himself he denominates the "Vice-Pope." There is a general attack on the Catholic Church, and the promise that in a third letter he will point out a Jesuit party in American politics, like the parti-pretre in the French Parliament and the Windthorst party in the Reichstag.

Negroes in Paris.

TRIED AND APPROVED BY THE BILIOUS.

For over a third of a century a great specific has been on trial by a national jury of the bilious. Although a verdict in its favor was rendered long since, it is still on trial. Never when it has been "weighed in the balance" has it been found wanting. The name of this medicine is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which more speedily than any other terminates those villainous sensations which attend disorder of the liver. It expels bile from the blood and secretions, remedies chronic costiveness, and reinforces the organ of digestion and assimilation. Sick headache, yellowness of the skin and eyeballs, furred tongue, and other indications that the liver has temporarily knocked off work and gone on the strike, disappear when it is used. It is a most efficient safeguard against malaria, rheumatism, and kidney trouble, and fortifies a nervous and enfeebled invalid effectually.

FAIR WILL NOT PAY IT.

DIRECTORS CONSIDER SOUTH PARK BOARD'S DEMAND EXCESSIVE.

There Is a Chance for a Compromise on $150,000 or $200,000—It Is Hinted the $100,000 Bond May Be Forfeited as a Way Out—Heavy Cut in the List of Exposition Employes—Beloit Gets a Grecian Collection—Notes and News of the World's Fair.

Members of the Fair Directory will not pay the South Park board the $441,000 asked by the latter in consideration of its accepting the buildings at Jackson Park and releasing the directory from its bond. There was a largely attended meeting of the Executive Committee yesterday when President Higinbotham submitted a statement relative to the conference held with the Park Board Tuesday afternoon. The members all thought the amount excessive, and it will have to be cut down before any sort of terms are reached with the Commissioners. President Higinbotham said the Park Commissioners should not receive anything; but some of the members of the committee spoke as if willing for a compromise.

Director Lyman J. Gage said he had made no figures as yet, but the sum set forth by the Commissioners was entirely too much. It is probable not more than $150,000 or $200,000 would be recommended by any of the directors while others will insist on giving nothing.

In this connection there is a bond for $100,000 filed by the Exposition company to carry out its agreement. Its forfeiture by the Exposition company would simplify the matter in some respects but add litigation. The directors also are under obligations when they begin tearing away the buildings, if they do, to furnish another bond of $100,000. That has not been given yet because destruction has not yet begun. No director will openly advocate, but some of them merely say somewhat significantly that they are good for the amount of the bond and there is a possibility of its forfeiture. One of the strong men of the committee who was present at yesterday's meeting said:

"I would not think of granting the South Park Board the amount it asks. It is more than excessive; it is out of reason. If we turn over everything to the board its members certainly can realize in improvements and salvage $1,000,000. But if the Exposition company holds on, it means a great deal of time given up by directors who cannot afford longer to have the fair interfere with their business. The Commissioners, on the other hand, can carry the buildings along and dispose of the salvage in a leisurely manner as a part of their park duty. Therefore, I am in favor of paying something to be rid of the business. I think $150,000 is somewhere near the compromise point. That is my opinion."

The resignation of Auditor Ackerman was accepted by the committee to take effect Dec. 1. Mr. Ackerman has audited the accounts of the Exposition since its preliminary organization. He was a member of the first Board of Directors. He has staid with the Exposition until the important business of his office is finished. He will go East presently for a rest. The committee appointed Directors Odell and Peck to draw up suitable resolutions.

MANY EMPLOYES LOSE THEIR JOBS.

Fifteen Hundred Fair Workers Dropped After Dec. 1.

One thousand five hundred employés of the Exposition will celebrate Thanksgiving day by losing the jobs they have held, some of them, for two or three years. The Columbian Guard will lead off in this slaughter. Adj. Smith issued orders yesterday to company commanders to select one-half of their members for dismissal Dec. 1. This will reduce the guard, including the officers, to 500 or fewer. Whether the remnant is to be decimated daily, as the whole corps has been for the last month, Adjt. Smith did not know. Capt. J. L. Wilson, Company 11, has been ordered to Washington by the War Department.

Another wholesale slaughter has been ordered in the Transportation Department. Supt. Holcomb will dispense with the services of 400 or more of his men after today. The department as reduced will consist of an office force of five clerks and all the switchmen, trainmen, and warehousemen, making 100 in all. The work of loading the exhibits, done hitherto by the 400 men who are dismissed, will be done under contract by the Kimball & Cobb Stone company, which will use sixty teams and put narrow gauge railroads in the side aisles of the Manufactures Building. There will be two foremen in each of the large buildings and the work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

General Manager Graham will discharge 500 men from the Department of Works; Capt. Bonfield's secret service corps of fifty-nine men will be disbanded; Supt. Tucker's Department of Admissions, including twenty men, will be disbanded; Supt. Blackmar's Department of Collections, including twelve men, will be disbanded; Chief Allison will let twelve of his clerks go; Chief Smith will lose five, Chief Peabody four, Chief Skiff four, Chief Robinson two, and Chief Collins two.

GIFTS TO THE COLUMBIAN MUSEUM.

Japanese, Electric, and Irish Exhibits Among the Newest Donations.

The museum was remembered handsomely yesterday by the exhibiters at Jackson Park as follows:

Japanese Commission—Entire Japanese exhibit in the Agricultural Building. The Japanese have previously given to the museum their exhibits in all the other buildings.

General Electric Company—First dynamo ever used for incandescent lights; first steam dynamo ever used, called the "Edison Jumbo," and first commercial exhibit of incandescent lamps ever made, together with their cases.

Belfast and Northern Counties Railway and the Great Northern Railway of Ireland—Joint pavilion of these railways and its contents in the Transportation Building. This pavilion is a handsome structure, 30x12 feet, solidly built, and decorated with Irish heraldry and the insignia of the two companies. It contains over fifty large photographs of the scenic beauties of the north of Ireland, taken by Robert Welch, an Irish photo-artist. There also is displayed in the pavilion a collection of stones from the Giant's Causeway in County Antrim, illustrating in an interesting manner this wonderful basaltic formation.

BELOIT, Wis., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Beloit College gets the Greek Government World's Fair exhibit of casts of Grecian statuary. The collection consists of many pieces and has been greatly desired by colleges and art institutes. Beloit is favored through the loyalty to the college of L. G. Fisher of Chicago, a former student, and whose father, L. G. Fisher, was for forty years a member of the college board of trustees. Mr. Fisher has bought the collection and presented it to the college as a memorial of his father.

Buys the Norwegian Building.

The Norwegian Building has been sold to C. K. G. Billings for $1,500 and will be taken apart and reconstructed on his place at Geneva Lake. This building is the smallest foreign building on the grounds, and stands between the Ceylon Building and the German Building but farther from the lake. It is built entirely of wood and was constructed and first put together in Norway. In its architecture it is an imitation of the Norwegian churches of many centuries ago. Including transportation it cost $10,000.

Big Bill for taking Liberty Bell Home.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Controller Thompson today received the Council's World's Fair committee bill for $3,099.91 for bringing Liberty Bell back. One item is: "To Auditorium Hotel company, debtor, board for five and a half days, fifty-two persons, $1,716." There were but twenty-six members of the joint committee. Another item is: "Pullman Palace Car company, for commissary supplies furnished car 'Bellevue,' Philadelphia to Chicago and return, $820."

Alley "L" Quits Jackson Park.

After today Alley "L" trains will stop at Stony Island avenue. The Sixty-second street and Fifty-seventh street gates will be open for paid visitors from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m, and to passholders all day and all night. No other gates will be used.

World's Fair Notes.

The paid admissions to the Fair grounds yesterday were: For adults, 230; for children, 2; total, 232.

The Executive committee of the National Commission decided finally yesterday that John Boyd Thacher might remove his Awards Department to Washington. The revised lists of awards have been furnished foreign Commissioners.

Director-General Davis thinks the force of Fair Customs Inspectors should be doubled, and has so written Collector Clark.

LAKE SHIPPING NEWS.

Around the Lakes.

CHICAGO.—All kinds of weather prevailed on the lakes last night. In the afternoon a furious snowstorm from the northwest set in at Mackinaw, but on Lake Erie the wind was from the west, and while strong was not accompanied by snow. On Lake Superior the wind was northwest and was reported to be strong at some points and light in others.

DULUTH, MINN.—The steamer M. B. Grover cleared last night with the last cargo of ore for the year from the Mesaba dock. Including 81,000 tons from the Allouez docks, 507,000 tons of ore have been handled this season by the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern. Seven boats are yet coming before the close of the season.

ST. CATHARINES, ONT.—W. Ellis, Superintendent of the Welland Canal, said today: "The canal will not be closed so long as ice will allow vessels to pass through. At present everything is open and the weather is warm." This insures all boats bound to Lake Ontario getting through the canal.

CLEVELAND, O.—Warner & Co. have the Alcona and Alta loading iron ore at $1 at Escanaba today. These will probably be the last ore cargoes loaded at any port this season. The Moore, now unloading coal at Green Bay, is still to bring a cargo of flour from that place.

KINGSTON, ONT.—The steamer Tilley, ashore near Nine Mile Point, was lightered today and floated off, apparently uninjured.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

CATARRH ❖ ❖ IN CHILDREN

For over two years my little girl's life was made miserable by a case of Catarrh. The discharge from the nose was large, constant and very offensive. Her eyes became inflamed, the lids swollen and very painful. After trying various remedies, I gave her S.S.S. The first bottle seemed to aggravate the disease, but the symptoms soon abated, and in a short time she was cured.

THOMAS CARLYLE

The largest, best selected, and most elaborate collection of Choice Christmas Gift Books, Booklets, Novelties, Calendars, etc., ever placed on our counters. This department now occupies nearly double the space ever before devoted to it. Its Books, Bindings, and Editions are the world's best efforts—its salespeople are thoroughly experienced and well informed in book lore and are abundantly competent to render valuable assistance in making selections; and in addition to all this the prices are the wonder of the times. The explanation is simple enough, however: In July and August when the panic was at its height we were busy formulating plans to make this holiday season of the World's Fair year a memorial one in our history. We took advantage of the failure of the Book Trust; and the offers of publishers to sell us books at cost of manufacture in order to secure cash and keep the Sheriff from their doors, and the result of all these efforts is before you today. Our book corner is a credit to the city in which it is located; it is conducted on a broad and liberal plane to meet the requirements of all classes of book-buyers. Remember, this Christmas stock is not composed of cheap books, but BOOKS CHEAP.

DON'T DELAY=COME AT ONCE

If you can, but, if you can't, send your order by mail for any book or books on our list, and you'll receive the same prompt and careful attention you would if you gave your order to our salesmen at the counter. Distance is no barrier—it's a trouble-saver in this instance. Save time, annoyance, and fatigue and order your books by mail, but order promptly, before the great Christmas rush is upon us. Send 10c for our large illustrated Book Catalogue. You can order from it at home as well as at the counter. Space will not admit of an extensive enumeration of the wonderful bargains we are offering—all we can do is to name a few by way of example.

Thanksgiving
B C

HOLIDAYS IN CHICAGO'S INFANCY were not observed with the lavishness that is today spent upon them. Then the residents gave more time to the cares of business and less to pleasure, although they were not entirely without the latter. The occasions for merrymaking were few and far between and were confined principally to Christmas and the Fourth of July. But when they did celebrate they gave their whole attention to it, throwing aside the worries of everyday life and entering into the festivities with the vigorous enthusiasm that marked the Western pioneer.

Previous to 1841 Thanksgiving day as a public institution was not observed in Chicago. A great many of the 4,000 inhabitants then comprising the city were from New England and cherished in their hearts recollections of the time-honored custom of their ancestors in celebrating a day of thanks. These families ate their turkey and plum pudding in the privacy of their homes and returned thanks in an undemonstrative manner. But they wanted their neighbors to participate also. They wished them to join in the celebration and longed for the day to come when its observance would be honored here as it was in the East.

The spirit of thankfulness spread as time went on until in 1841 it culminated in the issuing of a Thanksgiving proclamation. In November of that year Julius Wadsworth, an ex-city Alderman, proposed to Thomas Hoyne, then City Clerk, that he should draft a resolution and draw up a proclamation in due form, so that it could go out signed by the Mayor and clerk as authorities fixing a special day at the usual time in the city as a day for thanksgiving. By requesting the churches to observe it and the people of the city to close their places of business the people of Chicago, he thought, could have a holiday, the turkey would be eaten, and the inhabitants would be made happy. This proposition was carried out and the movement became quite popular. Of the City Council proceedings Monday evening, Nov. 22, 1841, the following report is given:

Present, His Honor the Mayor, and Ald. Charles Follansbee, Peter Page, Jason McCord, Ira Miltimore, William O. Snell, G. F. Foster, James L. Howe.

The petition of sundry citizens praying for the Mayor to appoint a day of Thanksgiving was read: Whereupon, on motion of Ald. Miltimore,

Resolved, That the Mayor issue his proclamation appointing the 25th day of the present month as a day of public Thanksgiving for the City of Chicago.

The following is the proclamation as issued by the Mayor:

PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF CHICAGO.

Whereas, In accordance with the Petition of the Common Council of the City of Chicago, That the Mayor appoint Thursday the 25th day day of November inst. as a day of Public Thanksgiving and Prayer;

And Whereas, it hath pleased Almighty God to crown the outgoing year with the abundance of His Providence, and to have continued to the people of our City, as well as of our State and Nation, those dispensations of His Goodness, whereby the anticipations of seed time and the golden promises of an unusually prosperous harvest have been realized and gathered in; and as the Pilgrim Fathers, in the wilderness, set apart days of fasting and prayer, in honor of the Divine Goodness in supplying them with the means of subsistence, but more particularly for the freedom they enjoyed in the exercise of every social and religious privilege, so the hearts of their descendants must feel a deeper gratitude that the blessings secured by the toil of their ancestors have descended to them, and that every returning year brings with it additional assurance that the fabric, founded in their wisdom and example, is now adequate to perpetuate similar blessings to their children.

Now, therefore, in view of our many blessings, and in pursuance of the Resolution aforesaid, I do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the 25th inst., as a day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise to Almighty God.

: L. S. : Given under my hand and the seal of the city this 23d day of November, Anno Domini, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Forty-one.

FRANCIS C. SHERMAN,
Mayor.

(Attest):
Thomas Hoyne, Clerk.

This, so far as can be learned with any degree of anthenticity, was the first Thanksgiving proclamation issued in Chicago or in the State. It was published in the Daily American, Tuesday, Nov. 23, and preparations were immediately begun for the proper observance of the day. A wholesale slaughter of turkeys and chickens took place, pies were baked, apples picked, and bustle and anticipation were apparent in the homes throughout the city.

Thanksgiving day dawned clear and cold. A heavy snow had fallen and the merry jingle of bells sounded along the streets. A majority of the stores was closed and the people donned holiday attire. Relations from the country began to arrive early in the morning in large bob-sleds and in wagon-beds converted for the time being into sleds. These were filled with straw and contained entire families warmly wrapped in furs and blankets, who would drive up to the houses laughing and shouting, tumble out of the sled and rush into the presence of a glowing log fire.

Then everybody got ready for church. A number of the various denominations combined and the services were held in one church. The churches in Chicago at that time were St. Mary's, Catholic; First Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, German Evangelical Association, First Unitarian, and Swedenborgian. Some of these held no services at all. At the conclusion of the Thanksgiving sermon those who attended returned to their various homes, hungry and ready for the dinner awaiting them.

And what a dinner it was! Big turkeys browned and done to a turn occupied the position of honor, ably seconded by a variety of game then rather plentiful in the neighborhood, cranberry sauce, and the inevitable chicken pot pie, the delight of the New Englander's heart. The game consisted of wild pigeons, prairie chickens, deer, ducks, quail, and squirrels. Vegetables were in abundance. For dessert there were the steaming plum-pudding, pies—pumpkin and mince predominating—apples, nuts, and plenty of fresh, sweet cider.

There wasn't much in the way of etiquette to cater to. Blessed with keen appetites, good humor, and a clear conscience, the people lost no time on ceremony, but set to work with a good will to do justice to the good things set before them. And when after a time the principal edibles had been disposed of and the apples, nuts, and cider were served many were the tales and reminiscences told by the older people and listened to in open-eyed wonder by the younger generation.

The afternoon was spent in various ways. In some families it was devoted to singing songs of a religious nature. In others there were family reunions. In a number of instances where the younger blood prevailed the rooms were cleared, musicians were secured, and dancing was indulged in. Many a heart was lost, so it is said, in the maze of a "Virginia Reel" or while listening to the merry tune of "Old Dan Tucker." Frequently parties would be made up for a dance in the country, large wagon box-sleds filled with straw were brought into requisition, and into these the young folks piled, joking and laughing, to be driven to some farm house, where the evening was spent in dancing. They were generally accompanied by a substantial supper and a fiddler.

One of these objective points was Berry's Point, a tavern about nine miles west of Chicago. Upon arriving there the rooms were speedily transformed into impromptu ballrooms, the furniture taken out all except a chair, upon which perched the fiddler, ready for business. He combined the offices of caller-off, orchestra, floor committee, master of ceremonies, and general manager. When tired, but happy, the festivities were concluded the sleds were sought and a merry ride back to the city closed the day's program.

The day was observed also at the hotels, of which Chicago boasted in 1841 of about twenty-five. Some of these, however, could hardly be called hotels, but were more after the style of English inns. Among the larger caravansaries were the Sauganash, kept by John Murphy; the Green Tree Tavern, George W. Rogers; Western Hotel, W. H. Stowe; Lake House, D. S. Griswold; City Hall, Jacob Russell; and the Mansion House, Asher Rossiter. Most of these served extra dinner at noon, and the boarders were regaled with a variety of game and plum pudding.

Chicago has attained the size of a metropolis and its advancement from a village to a city of wealth and prominence has been remarkable, but it is doubtful if its inhabitants enjoy at the present time the day set apart for thanksgiving and feasting more than did the early settlers. Now there is a surfeit of good things and celebrations. Then it was the contrast between stern reality and infrequent pleasures that made the latter all the more enjoyable.

WHERE THE BATTLE IS WON AND LOST.

AUNT JANE'S OLD BUREAU.

How One Blue Thanksgiving Was Changed to a Happy Festival.

Jack Thornton believed he had the best little wife in the world. He had been married about six months, and, as he told his "old bach" friends, the honeymoon had never ceased. And this was the more remarkable because soon after they were married Jack struck a streak of bad luck which culminated about a week before the Thanksgiving festival of the year 1889. You remember the old proverb, when poverty comes in at the door love flies out at the window. Well, this was one of the true love matches which proved that this, like many of those old chestnuts, is a sad libel on the fair sex.

"I have bad news for my little woman tonight," said Jack, as Alice was clearing away the supper things and tidying up the little sitting-room, while Jack got out his pipe and she produced the tobacco jar preparatory to the post-prandial smoke.

Alice took the lid off the jar and with her own fingers filled up the meerschaum bowl, for Jack, the sybarite, always declared that it made his pipe taste sweeter.

"Light up, dear Jack," she remarked as if in somber mood, "and when Brown Bess is going full speed you can tell me all about it."

Thereupon Mistress Thornton brought a neat work basket filled to the brim with all sorts of things in white muslin and flannel, the beginnings of garments intended for a very small person indeed. As she sat under the lamplight busily plying her needle, the brown curls falling over her brow, she made a very charming picture. At any rate Jack Thornton must have thought so, for he said, when Brown Bess had got under such good headway that a thick, blue cloud was settling around the ceiling:

"I feel as if I had done a very cruel thing in taking you away from a comfortable home to share the bad luck of a second-rate fiddler in a third-rate theater."

"Jack Thornton, I'm ashamed of you," replied Alice with energy. "What was it the parson made me say after him—'for richer, for poorer'——"

"Yes, dear," said Jack, "but you have got all 'the poorer' and so far none of 'the richer' of the bargain."

"That will come in good time," she answered cheerily, and as a seal of the augury she rose from her chair, threw one arm around his neck, and kissed him.

Thus encouraged Jack poured out his latest misfortune. The prevalent hard times had struck the Odeon and the manager was obliged to dispense with three or four members of the orchestra of that "third-rate theater," as Jack had termed it. Of course the first to be released was the latest addition, and that was the hero of the story. It was true that Mr. Mabley had promised to eive Thornton a call as soon as times grew better, but, said Jack:

"With the winter coming right fast, and coal not in yet, the prospect, you must admit, little wife, is blue."

Alice, stubborn creature that she was, would not admit that there was anything unusual about this condition of things, and declared that it might have been worse.

"And I've been thinking, dear, that there are one or two things we might sell so as to buy coal enough to last us till the Odeon man wants you again."

"What things, for instance," asked Jack, "would you sell?"

"Well, there's my watch. You know I never even wind it up, and I'm sure I should never miss it."

"No," Jack said decidedly; "the watch is out of the question. What would your Uncle William say if he should find out that you had sold the only present he ever gave you?"

"It will serve him right for being so mean to us since we have been married," replied Alice, "as never to have called to ask how we were getting on. But," after a pause, "suppose we sell that old bureau, which was the only present my other rich relative gave me for a wedding gift?"

Jack Thornton pondered and blew a prodigious cloud before he replied. "If we have to part with anything," he said, "I suppose we can better do without that lumbering article of furniture."

This, after some further deliberation, the young couple decided to do, and, as Thursday was Thanksgiving, they further decided to consummate the sale of the old bureau the very next day.

Thereupon Jack took down Brown Bess and brought the old violin, his next best friend, to provide as it had often done consolation in their trouble:

He sways them with harmony merry and loud;
He fills with his power their hearts to the brim—
Was aught ever heard like his fiddle and him?

Next morning bright and early Jack fell to polishing Aunt Jane's bureau. With a soft rag, a little oil, and a fair share of "elbow grease" the old walnut sides of the relic fairly shone. Over the breakfast table Jack began speculating how much they were likely to get for the bureau.

"Not less than $12," was hopeful Alice's opinion, "and while you are gone after old Mr. Myers, who is the most honest of the second-hand furniture dealers, Jack, I will take out and dust the drawers so that whoever buys my aunt's present will find it clean inside as well as out."

"I was thinking, my dear," said Jack, as he put on his well-worn overcoat, "that perhaps poor Werner, the trombone player, will have no place to go to for his Thanksgiving and it would be nice if we could manage to entertain him tomorrow."

"Just like you, you old darling," was the little woman's comment, and she added, "Why of course we can have poor Werner and will enjoy his company. You might drop round and see him after you have called on Mr. Myers."

With a hearty good-by kiss Jack Thornton went on his way, his two errands of business and sociability being important enough to occupy his mind and to cause him to forget the gloom of the immediate future. Alice was not given to repining, and yet as she began to take out the drawers of the old bureau she could not refrain from a few tears, not, you must understand, at parting with that piece of furniture, but at the dire necessity which prompted the act. As she removed the first drawer her thoughts went back to the old farmhouse, not many miles north of Cincinnati, where she had passed her childhood and received what share of Aunt Jane's love was not given to her chicken farm, which occupied the first place in her affections.

As the second drawer was taken out and carefully dusted the little woman thought of the first meeting with Jack. He had come from the city in answer to Uncle William's advertisement for boarders for the summer. It was a case of love at first sight. Her guardians had offered no objection to the match, indeed Aunt Jane had seemed glad to be relieved of the charge of the orphan child.

Then, as she pulled out the third drawer, Alice recalled the memorable event of the wedding, when Jack's Odeon friends had come out to Elmville, and the orchestra had given a concert in the farm-yard, to the delight of the entire neighborhood, and the consternation of Aunt Jane's feathered community. The Odeon people all brought presents, and Alice was richer that day than she had ever expected to be in her life.

The fourth drawer stuck, and after a few hard pulls at the brass knobs the busy housewife was about to give it up until Jack returned, when she suddenly remembered that on that wedding day she had been so vividly recalling her aunt had, at the dinner which was given in the barn, made the one speech of her life, an effort which, by the way, had much amused and edified the Odeon folk.

"You have received so many fine presents from your husband's good friends and a gold watch and chain from your uncle that my gift must be something of use in housekeeping. The walnut bureau that stands in the parlor shall be my gift, and here is the key which opens all the drawers." So saying, she handed the bride a small brass key and resumed her seat, not a little flustered with having made what she afterwards declared was the greatest speech of her life.

Where was this key? Surely in the lower part of the eight-day clock. In a minute Alice had recovered the brass key and had unlocked the last drawer, which she pulled out with no little effort, for it was heavy, while the other three had been light. Another curious thing was that it was covered with a thin panel of polished walnut which bore the inscription in Uncle William's handwriting:

AUNT JANE'S WEDDING GIFT TO HER NIECE ALICE.

This panel was divided in the center and secured by a sliding bolt. As she opened it an astonishing sight met Alice's gaze. The entire drawer was divided into sections like a cashier's drawer, and each compartment was comfortably filled with money. On the top of a neat bundle of $100 bills was a card addressed to Mrs. Jack Thornton.

"Dear Alice," it ran, "in this drawer you will find the sum of $2,853.43, which is one-half the proceeds of the chicken farm for the last five years. As you earned this by your work in taking care of the chickens during the years since you left school, you may feel that this is justly yours. Take gook care of it and of your Aunt Jane's old bureau."

"There's the bureau, Mr. Myers," Jack said as he entered the room on Elm street, which the young folks had made their home for several months. "What is the best you can do for it?"

The furniture dealer looked the relic carefully over and slowly drew out a canvas bag and counted out $6.

"Six dollars is the best I can do for that old article, Mr. Thornton, and it is a good price, too."

"It isn't enough, Mr. Myers," Alice said. "I will not sell my aunt's wedding gift for less than $50."

"Good morning, ma'am," the dealer said with a smile, "I see you don't want to sell the bureau."

When he had gone Jack turned with an inquiring look to his wife:

"You funny little woman, what is the meaning of this?"

For an answer she gave him a volley of kisses, which she fired off with the rapidity of a saluting battery with electric attachment. Then, first carefully locking the door, she unlocked the drawer and showed Jack her treasure trove.

What looked suspiciously like tears twinkled in his eyes as he clasped "the best wife in the world" in a loving embrace and then, as a relief to his overcharged feelings, he filled Brown Bess to the brim and smoked placidly for an hour, thinking much but saying little.

What a Thanksgiving that was! Werner came and was astonished at the bountiful spread. Jack's violin never discoursed sweeter music, and as he played he drew glad smiles and tears from his little wife as she thought of the happiness that had come to them with Aunt Jane's old bureau. J. I. C.

"PULL FAIR—THE LONG END GETS IT."

NATIONAL THANKSGIVING GAME.

Football as a Modern Means of Celebrating and Returning Thanks.

This is football day.

When the sun goes down tonight the last games of the season of 1893 will have been lost and won. This is the day for which hundreds of strong, hearty, active young men have for months foresworn the luxuries of life, the day to which tens of thousands have looked.

Time was when Thanksgiving day meant roast turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pies, and fireside family reunions. Today it is so transformed that thousands of fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers, cousins and friends will leave their comfortable homes and sit for five or six hours on a cold, airy perch to see Tom, Dick, or Harry "buck the center" or "go 'round the end."

It has come to be a day on which boys of thirty or forty years ago lay aside their dignity, and, as they watch a son of the dear old blue or a young giant in the orange and black of Nassau fall across the enemy's goal line, fling their glossy hats in the air and yell until they are hoarse.

Five years ago knowledge of the game was confined almost exclusively to college men and their immediate families. Indeed, the latter were often at a loss to understand the game and its fascination. To an outsider it was a series of rough and tumble scrimmages for the possession of a leather-covered ball—rough, senseless, and altogether to be condemned. But college graduates were abroad in the land. They talked football, they argued football, they boomed football. It soon became the fashion in certain high social quarters. Not to know the difference between a center-rusher and a goal line was to be an object of pity. The game, once stamped with this approval, took great bounds into popularity.

So Thanksgiving day has come to be the great football day. As the last day of the season it is the time when the most powerful and skillful teams meet. For weeks they have played against weaker teams, slowly but surely correcting their errors, until, on Thanksgiving morning, if the trainer's coachers and captains have secured the desired end, the eleven is theoretically perfect at every point.

Today four great football battles will be fought. Yale and Princeton meet at New York; the Chicago and Boston Athletic clubs play at Chicago; the Denver Athletic club and the Colorado State School of Mines oppose each other at Denver; the University of California and Leland Stanford Jr. University settle the championship of the Pacific coast. These games have become regular Thanksgiving day features and are attended by thousands representing America's best society, beauty, and wealth.

FORMING THE WEDGE.

Football, as it is played in America today, is purely an American product. Like many other sports, it came originally from England, but has been so changed and, to American ideas, improved that it is hardly more like the imported article than baseball is like the old game of "three old cats."

THE RUN AROUND THE END.

The first game of Rugby football was played at New Haven in 1876. It was played by two sides of eleven men each, and every man played his own game in the manner which best pleased him. There were no settled rules and as a consequence the game was a general rumpus, without reason and practically without results. The next year, however, a convention was called and a code of rules adopted. This helped matters some, but did not materially improve the playing or add to its attractiveness. Nevertheless, for the next ten years the game grew slowly into popularity with college undergraduates. It contained the elements to make it dear to athletic youths. It required strength and speed, skill and nerve. Each year the rules were changed to meet some new exigency. About this time the rules governing interference were radically changed. Prior to this the rules said that no player when off side could interfere with an opposing player unless he had the ball. To have construed this literally would have been to destroy the fundamental principles of the game, for every time a team lined up on a down it could not help the moment the ball was snapped back, being off side and interfering with an opponent who did not have the ball. A change was made so that a player could interfere with an opponent as long as he did not use his hands or arms.

This change took away much of the old attractiveness of the game from a spectator's point of view. Instead of long open plays made principally by a few star men, whose moves and the reason for them were apparent to all, the game became a series of short, bunchy plays, a moving forward in a solid phalanx. This was the beginning of the wedge plays, so called, which are so popular with football teams today.

The game as it is now played is done by teams of eleven men; a center rusher, two guards, two tackles, two end rushers, two half backs, a quarter back, and a full back. The first seven, known as the rush line, are chosen first for their ability to put up a strong defensive game, and second to assist in the offensive work. The two half backs and the full back are the principals in most of the offensive work, and must be strong, quick men, who can "buck the line," "go round the ends," or return punts. The quarter back is really the key to an eleven. It is he who, under the direction of the Captain, decides each play and assigns each player his part. In nearly every play he receives the ball from the center rusher and passes it to one of the backs.

Football plays may be roughly divided into two kinds—wedge or mass plays and runs around the ends. When a game begins the two elevens are drawn up into lines facing each other's goals. These goals are 330 feet apart, 10 feet high, and 18 feet and 6 inches wide. The ball is placed on a line midway between the goals and the eleven in whose possession it is stand near it, but between it and their own goal; the other eleven ten yards away, nearer their own goal. The customary opening play is by a wedge of some sort. The simplest sort is when the center rush stands facing the ball, the rest of the rush line close behind and a little to either side, formed in a V shape. When all is ready the center passes the ball back to the quarter back, who in turn quickly hands it to a half back. The men at once move forward with a firm formation. The opponents run forward as soon as the ball is passed back and by various tactics endeavor to stop the moving mass. When the ball can be forged ahead no farther the man having the ball cries "down" and his opponents cry "held." The ball is then placed on the ground at the point where the man having it was stopped and the two rush lines stand facing each other, the ball being between the center rushers.

If, now, a run round the end is to be the play the quarter back receives the ball as the center rusher snaps it back, passes it to one of the half backs, who starts toward the end of the rush line designated by the signals. The other two backs and the quarter back run along with him and between him and the rush line to ward off any opponent who may try to stop or tackle him. The man continues running until some opponent brings him to earth, and then the lines are reformed.

In bucking the line the men form as before, but the half back on receiving the ball makes a dash for the line. The men in his line, at the point he expects to go through, try to get their opposites out of the way sufficiently far to give him a chance to get through. To further clear the path one of the backs sometimes goes ahead of the runner, while the other backs follow closely in his rear to give him the added impetus of their weight the moment he strikes the line. When the runner is "down" or "held" the lines reform as before. In three consecutive downs an eleven must have advanced five yards, gone back twenty, or give the ball to its opponents. When an eleven by a series of maneuvers has carried the ball past its opponents' goal it has scored a touchdown, which counts four points. After each touchdown the team making it must try for a goal. This is generally done by bringing the ball out toward the center of the field such a distance as is thought proper and at right angles to the point where it passed the goal line. It is then placed for a kick. If a goal is kicked two points are added to the score.

A goal from the field is made by sending the ball by a drop kick, which is dropping the ball and kicking it the instant it rises from the ground, over the opponents' goal. This counts five points. The only other means of scoring is to force an opponent having the ball across his own goal line, thus causing him to make a safety. This counts two points for the side forcing the safety.

There are innumerable variations of the wedge and round the end plays. Each is carefully worked out weeks before the game and practiced long and faithfully. Every play is designated by a cipher known only to the teams using it. It is so arranged that when any combination is called each player knows what trick is to be tried and what players are to take part in it. Nothing in the play of a first-class eleven is left to chance. Of course, many plays are checked by opponents, but as far as chance can be eliminated it is done.

IS A FREE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Penniless Men Can Get Good Food and Lodging by Working.

Any penniless man who is willing to work need not go hungry or homeless if he will apply at No. 37 Michigan street. There an employment bureau has been established, with a dining-room and dormitory in connection. No fee is charged for obtaining employment, and no money is charged for meals and lodging. The applicant is only asked to do some work to pay for what he gets. For the professional tramp the place will have no attractions—it will rather be a place to avoid: for the superintendent, F. V. Welch, is a man who has been engaged in just such work for years, and the faces of thousands of bums and tramps are familiar to him and they meet with a chilly reception, but the deserving man who is out of money and out of work, but willing to earn his living, will receive practical help—the kind of help he can receive without sacrificing his self-respect. He will be given nothing he cannot pay for in coin that he has always with him—muscle—and he will be assisted to find employment.

The men at the head of the movement are men who are accustomed to succeed in whatever they undertake. They will not be content with trying to find employment for those who need it, they will find it. The movement is in charge of a committee composed of the following business-men: James L. Houghteling, Joseph R. Barroll, John M. Locke, R. W. Jennings, Burton F. White, W. R. Sterling, H. E. Hall, Frank Sayre Osborne, H. P. Knapp.

The committee secured the first floor and basement of the large building at No. 37 Michigan street, put F. V. Welch in charge, and issued the following circular to employers:

This is going to be a hard winter and many men will be out of work. We are endeavoring to procure employment for those who are deserving, particularly residents of Chicago. To facilitate matters the Brotherhood Employment Bureau has been established at No. 37 Michigan street. Upon applying there every man who is physically able and willing to work will be assisted. This is not an employment "agency" where fees are exacted or expected from either side. It is simply an effort to help those who try to help themselves. We investigate the cases of all applicants as thoroughly as the time and means at our command will permit. Please bear the matter in mind and coöperate with us when in need of men. State clearly the kind of man or men you want, whether for the trades, common manual labor, or office work. Your application will be promptly attended to.

Money is needed as well as employment, for it is the purpose of the committee to furnish food and lodging for penniless and homeless applicants. Checks should be made payable to John M. Locke, No. 166 Market street. The quarters at No. 37 Michigan street were thrown open Monday morning. Monday night four men were furnished with supper, a bath, and a bed, and Tuesday with three good meals. The office and waiting-room are bright and sunny, having a southern exposure. The dormitory in the rear is separated from the waiting-room by a plain pine partition. Here are sixteen neat new cots and more will be put up when needed. To the rear of the dormitory is a bath-room, with hot and cold water and plenty of soap and towels. Every man will be obliged to take a bath before going to bed and turn his clothes over to the janitor to be fumigated. At the rear of the building is a large work-room, where the lodgers will be required to split wood to pay for their accommodations. Down in the basement is the kitchen, which also serves as dining-room. Here an abundance of plain food will be served to each deserving applicant. Last night the bill of fare for supper was pea soup, cold corned beef, pancakes, sirup, bread, butter, and coffee. Contributions of cast-off clothing are also needed at the office, as well as reading matter for the men while waiting at the office.

YACHT MINA AN EXCELLENT BOAT.

Built and Designed by Burgess and Owned by L. R. Giddings—Its Value.

The yacht Mina, which went ashore near St. Joe Tuesday, was the property of L. R. Giddings of Chicago and one of the handsomest pleasure crafts owned in the city. The yacht came here some years ago from Boston. It was built and designed by Burgess, the designer of the cup defenders Mayflower and Puritan. The boat was 61 feet 4 inches long by 10 feet beam, two masts, schooner rigged, had two boats, and was finished with walnut and mahogany. Sleeping accommodations for the crew were in the bow, a large wheelhouse and smoking-room next, followed by the kitchen, and with the boiler and engine-room in the center. The main cabin, with bath-rooms and all modern appliances, came next, and then the open deck with awning cover. Its value was $8,000 to $10,000.

SUFFERING IRON MINERS PROTEST.

They Prepare a Petition to the President Against One Free List Item.

ASHLAND, Wis., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The citizens of Bessemer, one of the mining towns on the Michigan side of the Gogebic iron range, held a mass-meeting yesterday and prepared a petition, which will be forwarded directly to President Cleveland, which is substantially as follows:

The citizens of Bessemer, regardless of party or political affiliations, view with alarm the reported action of the Ways and Means committee of Congress in recommending that iron ore be placed upon the free list, and respectfully submit for your consideration:

That during 1892 the number of men directly employed in the iron mines of this county was not less than 6,000, whose average wage earning power was from $350,000 to $400,000 monthly.

In addition there was expended by the mines monthly for mining timber, wood, logging, and mining supplies $150,000 to $200,000, which indirectly gave employment to over 1,000 additional workmen, and that the prosperity of this county and its people is dependent almost entirely upon the prosperity of the iron industry.

Owing to doubts, fears, and uncertainty as to the policy of the general government relative to the protection of American industries and American labor, and especially as to the reported intention to change existing tariff schedules and class iron ore as raw material and place it upon the free list, every mine in this county has been closed down to await the settlement of tariff legislation, that thousands of laborers have been thrown out of employment and are unable to obtain work at any price, and that much want and suffering exist in this community in consequence. The only labor now employed in this county is that engaged in manning the pumps and keeping the mines free from water, and the whole number thus employed will not exceed 400 men, whose average monthly earning will not exceed $15,000. Thousands of men in this county are unable to secure employment, are in actual want, and hundreds of honest and deserving families are in consequence obliged to ask public aid and subsist on public charity. The expenditures for poor purposes in the County of Gogebic during the year 1892 did not exceed $10,000, the expenditures of eight months in the present year have already exceeded $22,000, and the funds of this county available for poor purposes have been exhausted and all funds available for other purposes have been applied to relieve want and suffering among our people and the county treasury is now empty. Investigation shows that there are in this city alone 100 families, or 500 persons, women and children, dependent upon public charity and in pressing need of immediate assistance in the shape of food and clothing, and that the condition of affairs in other sections of the county is comparatively no better than the condition of affairs in this city.

The classing of iron-ore as raw material and placing it upon the list of articles to be admitted free of duty will prove destructive to the mining industries of this section and the prosperity of our people, and we respectfully, but none the less earnestly, protest against such contemplated action of the administration and the present Congress, and urge that not only the present duty be retained but increased as well, believing that such action would bring to the depressed industries of our section a return of its past prosperity.

We respectfully submit that iron ore in its natural state, and in place in the earth before human labor has been expended upon it, it is raw material and its value is determined by the royalty demanded upon it by the owners of the soil, which on the range averages 35 cents a ton. The cost of a ton of iron ore delivered to the furnaces at Lake Erie ports is $3.96, made up as follows:

Mining	$ .72
Tramming	.13
Pumping	.10
Loading	.07
Hoisting	.12
Timbering	.25
Miscellaneous, insurance, and incidentals	.02
Taxes	.06
Exploring and developing	.25
Maintaining and additions to buildings and equipment	.09
Royalty	.35
Railroad and lake freights	1.65
Commission and insurance	.15
Total	$3.96

To which must be added the cost of superintendence and interest on the capital invested. And we protest against iron ore being classed as raw material when more than ten-elevenths of its value at the furnace consists of the labor and cost of its production and transportation. The iron ore from our mines loaded for transportation to the furnace is the finished product of our people. We submit that every article into which human labor has entered has ceased to be raw material and we demand that the product of American labor be protected to the end that the American market be reserved for American labor.

The petition closes with a protest against iron ore being classed as raw material and placed on the free list and a request that should the Chief Executive feel bound to recommend in his annual message the adoption of this tariff policy that this protest against the adoption of such a policy be submitted to Congress.

Wilson's Ad Valorem.

Pittsburg Dispatch: The Wilson tariff bill looks very much like a smoke consumer.

Wheeling (W. Va.) Intelligencer: The Mills bill was a gentle zephyr in comparison with the Wilson cyclone.

Minneapolis Journal: The Democratic program to heavily tax articles of luxury doesn't seem to be carried out very rigidly. Diamonds are placed on the free list along with lemon juice.

San Francisco Examiner: But nevertheless the new tariff bill will pass. It must pass if the Democracy is to have a future.

Indianapolis Journal: In the eyes of the Wilson-Bynum tariff committee a foreigner who lives in a foreign land is better than an American citizen.

Cleveland Leader: It is not exactly a free trade bill, but then the Democrats have recently heard from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Iowa, and several other States.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The thing above all others that the American people do not want is another controversy about the tariff; and so the Democratic party is going to give it to them.

Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph: When the administration gets goat's hair and bristles on the free list and restores the crown to Liliuokalani it is hoped that business prosperity will resume.

Detroit Tribune: Congressman Wilson's reverence for the opinions of Henry Clay is, perhaps, the most notable feature of his tariff views as expressed in the explanation of the new revenues bill. Mr. Clay died in 1852.

St. Louis Republic (Dem.): The bill is admirable in theory and is a practical tax measure carefully worked out. It will need few amendments and only a short debate. Our Federal taxation is getting close to the Constitution.

Toledo Blade: Will Congress dare pass such a bill? Every friend of the toiling millions in that body should set his face as a flint against this iniquitous measure; and the people should see to it that no man who votes for it shall ever receive their votes to return to that body.

Milwaukee Sentinel: A careful analysis of the Wilson tariff bill will convince all unprejudiced persons who have made a study of the tariff question that the measure is a crude and unscientific treatment of the great problem of adjusting the schedules.

Albany (N. Y.) Journal: The best answer to Chairman Wilson which has ever been prepared may be found in the public papers of Daniel Manning, who, over seven years ago, when Secretary of the Treasury, gave full and cogent reasons why specific duties were superior and preferable to ad valorem.

Terre Haute Gazette: The Democrats of the House should hold a caucus on the bill and unite to push it through just as rapidly as is consistent with a full and fair opportunity given the Republicans for debate. The bill ought to go to the Senate before the holiday recess. What will happen to it in the Senate God alone in his infinite wisdom can foretell.

Duluth Tribune: The whole bill is an enormity. It is bad in nearly every respect. It is simply an outrage upon the industries and a blow at the prosperity of the country. It is not a revenue tariff, unless the duties proposed under it shall be regarded as premiums for importations. It is not a free trade tariff, but it is that more than anything else.

Cincinnati Times-Star: It [the bill] will leave the farmer defenseless and put the wages of labor permanently at a lower level. This result is inevitable, for home manufacture will be brought into sharp competition with foreign producers, which will make necessary a reduction in the cost of manufacture if they are to continue in the business and find a market for their goods.

New York Commercial Advertiser: But notwithstanding the cowardice displayed in the Wilson bill, the free list is long enough to be a great menace. No wonder the London Times is exultant! For the fourth time in a dozen years Democracy proposes assassination of American industry. We Americans have hitherto wholly baffled our enemies. Republicans promise the country to minimize the slaughter this time as much as possible.

Philadelphia Telegram: It may be said, in a word, that if this bill, as prepared by Mr. Wilson and his Democratic associates, should be adopted and put in force, it would utterly destroy many branches of American industry, cause a most destructive industrial revolution, and impoverish hundreds of thousands of honest work people who would be compelled to accept a European rate of wages or take to the highways in search of some other means of livelihood.

Memphis Avalanche-Appeal: The hope of the country now is that there shall be no merely time-killing speeches and that the new bill will become a law before spring. The bill has been drafted doubtless with the full knowledge and consent of both Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Carlisle, and the public will now await with unusual interest the message of the one and the report of the other. If the bill be passed and all goes well Mr. Carlisle will be naturally conspicuous as an availability before the next national Democratic convention, and a race between Carlisle and McKinley would be quite in line with the eternal fitness of things.

GREAT LAWS OF HEALTH.

These are few and simple. Any one can learn them. The trouble is too many neglect them after they know them. Then they suffer, lose precious time, pay big doctor bills. Some do not. These always watch

THE STOMACH.—They know that things can't go on well if the Stomach does not take food and digest it. They also know the difference between dosing and treatment, between makeshift and [illegible] remedies. If there is HEARTBURN—sour eructations, pain, and distention, they know that food is fermenting, not digesting. They clean the mucous linings by using Mandrake as compounded in Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills. This not only cleanses the surface but sets the secretions going and improve their quality so that there will be no more sourness.

DYSPEPSIA—has a hundred shapes. Always painful and distressing. The Stomach must be treated carefully and persistently. For this purpose there is nothing in nature like Mandrake. Schenck's Mandrake Pills never fail.

COSTIVENESS.—A dangerous condition of bowels leading to inflammation, piles, rupture, hemorrhage. Due to bad digestion. Never was a case that the Mandrake Pills would not cure. And so of DIARRHŒA—and painful irregularity of bowels owing to the irritation of the mucous linings by the passage of sour and indigested food. Cleanse and soothe the linings and see that the stomach stops imposing on the bowels. Schenck's Mandrake Pills are sovereign.

THE LIVER—works with the Stomach and the Stomach with the Liver. You must have good bile to have perfect digestion, and free liver action to have pure blood. Therefore beware of a congested Liver, which is nothing more than a thickened and clogged Liver. The great reducer of congestion is Mandrake.

BILIOUSNESS.—An early and ugly form of liver trouble. It is blood poison. The liver is not taking the bile ingredients from the blood. Treat it with Schenck's Mandrake Pills and make it do so.

JAUNDICE.—Only confirmed biliousness. The poisons are changing the structure of the blood. You must persist in the treatment for biliousness till a cure is brought about.

BREAKING DOWN.—If you have neglected the laws of health too long and feel that your lungs are involved in any way, send for Dr. Schenck's new work on the Lungs and their Diseases. It is sent free, and will be of infinite service to you.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1893.

If you have been able to make anybody else's Thanksgiving happier today give thanks.

Frank Lawler, candidate for Mayor—Issue, Frank's political sore toe and Grover's ingratitude.

There is a goodly number of pardoned murderers and thieves running at large today who ought to be thankful to Gov. Altgeld.

To the Democrats: Let your Thanksgiving turkey be seasoned with gratitude that the Presidential election did not take place this year.

It is cause for thanksgiving that the South Park Commissioners do not insist on having Jackson Park restored to its primeval condition of swampy loveliness.

The really able Democratic editors will not commit themselves unreservedly to the support of the proposed tariff until Congress has licked it into its final shape.

Col. Watterson is not entirely pleased with the Wilson tariff schedule, but he does not appear to be indulging in any wild and picturesque language having reference to slaughter-houses and open graves.

One of the circumstances in connection with the new tariff that naturally gives rise to some uneasiness is that many of the Democratic editorials treating of it close with this remark: "But we shall have more to say about this subject hereafter."

The junior Democratic organ thinks that "Swift is a weak candidate." But at the same time it urges the Democratic convention to nominate a strong, unobjectionable man against him. Very well. The election will prove whether Swift is the "weak candidate" the Democratic organ says he is.

The very wide difference between estimates of damage to Jackson Park by the World's Fair suggests it as possible that there is one item which has not been mentioned but is carefully kept in mind by one of the parties. It is neglected dignity of the South Park Commissioners. For many months they had nothing to do with the management of Jackson Park, and should there be no compensation for that?

The Charleston News and Courier is displeased because Senator Gordon of Georgia at the close of a lecture in New York took the United States flag in his hand and talked patriotically about it. "Haven't we reached the point yet," inquires our Charleston contemporary, "where a Southern man can deliver a lecture, or tell a story, or crack a joke on the other side of the border without having to do the calico act at the end of the performance?" The News and Courier, if we remember rightly, found no fault with the calico act performed by Mr. Blount at Honolulu.

The New York stock market was irregular, but as a rule showed considerable strength. The local market was dull and rather heavy, but there were only small offerings of stock. Sterling exchange again advanced. New York exchange was 75 cents premium.—The leading produce markets were not broad so far as price changes were concerned, yet a good business was done. Provisions showed a recovery, corn was nearly steady, and in wheat there was exhibited an undertone of fair confidence in the stability of prices. As compared with the latest prices of the previous day May wheat closed ¼ cent higher, corn easy, oats steady, cash rye firm, barley steady, flaxseed ½ cent higher, January pork 25 cents higher, lard 5 cents higher, and ribs 12½ cents higher.

J. Crawford reports to Science some interesting results of ten months of nearly continuous exploration by him in Northeastern Nicaragua. In that time an area of ten to twelve thousand square miles of uninhabited wilderness and jungle was examined with reference to its geology, mineralogy, and flora. There are evidences of the former existence of a glacial epoch in that tropical country covering an area of several thousand square miles with glacial ice. Many of the reefs and lodes are auriferous, the quartz veins piercing the mountains and ridges parallel to the length of the series of the system. Gold is found exposed in the banks at sides of streams, in the channels of creeks, and in strata in the lower parts of valleys. This wilderness contains much undeveloped wealth in export varieties of trees, medicinal and fibrous plants, and in very fertile agricultural lands.

Mayor Swift is quite right. The time is too short to listen to all the complaints of disgruntled city employés about the shortcomings of their fellows. There are too many Luke Coynes with grievances and with tales. Some of their stories are no doubt true. There have been stuffing of pay-rolls, waste of the public funds, extravagance and jobbery in the City Hall departments. Certain City Hall officials, taking advantage of the late Mayor Harrison's absorption in World's Fair matters, did as they pleased. They tried in some instances to enrich themselves at the expense of the taxpayers. They converted the public service into a mere political machine. It is useless for the acting Mayor at this time to go into a thorough investigation of all the wrongdoing. That is work for a grand jury. What the acting Mayor can do—what he says he will do—is to dismiss from the public employment the jobbers, the crooks, and the worthless fellows. It is not necessary for him at this time to fill their places. There is no politics in their dismissal. There is economy in it, however, and there is the promise of reform also. The whole gang of informing and tale-bearing taxeaters are a bad lot. Their stories are all inspired by a desire for vengeance or the hope of saving their own salaries. The Mayor is wise in not wasting time on them.

THE THANKSGIVING ANNIVERSARY.

The annual festival of gratitude for mercies received during the year has come round again, emphasized by the proclamations of the President and of Governors of States—in one State doubly emphasized, since Oregon as a State will flock by itself, thanks to its boorish and churlish Governor. Though it has been a year of financial panic and industrial distress, of unusual casualties by fire, flood, and field, with a hard present and uncertain future, still there are so many silver linings that only the most confirmed pessimist will discover causes for refusing to be grateful.

The whole country can be grateful for good crops, for unbroken peace and good order; for the absence of epidemics which have ravaged other lands; for stable government, whereas the governments of every other country are suffering more or less from political disorders; for the marvelous increase of educational resources and the substantial growth of artistic, social, moral, and religious agencies; for the unexampled manner in which wealth has contributed to advance the interests of the people and to relieve the sufferings of the poor. The Republican party will offer its special and hearty thanks for the great political revolution which swept over the country in November, returning by huge majorities New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Ohio, and South Dakota to the Republican fold, and in this splendid result they will find a sure promise of greater victories to come. The people also will be grateful that the silver controversy is settled and that a gold standard will be maintained, that confidence is restored, and that credits have not been disturbed seriously. They also will be grateful that a halt has been called upon the conspiracy of the administration to substitute a monarchy for a republic in the neighboring islands of Hawaii.

Chicago has every reason to be thankful. It will be grateful that the party of disorder was routed by the party of law and order in the November election and that Judge Gary was vindicated and reëlected to the place on the bench he has held so long. It will be grateful that all signs point to the election of a Republican Mayor who will administer its government on business principles; that it has enjoyed immunity from disease and that it has prospered in spite of the general financial and industrial distress. It will be thankful for the splendid generosity of its merchant princes, who have given millions for the advancement of the interests of the whole people; thankful for its art institutes, its museums, its universities, and its libraries; thankful, also, that in every step that makes for Chicago's prosperity in any direction its people are hand in hand, working harmoniously together.

More than all, Chicago is thankful for the success of its great Fair, the influences of which in the future no one can estimate; thankful for its beauty, for the admirable manner in which it was administered by all concerned; for the vastness and excellence of its exhibits; for the splendor of its artistic and architectural achievements; for the perfect weather which prevailed throughout the whole period; for the vast attendance and unexampled financial result; and for the unstinted praise which has come from every part of the world. And not the least thankful because John Boyd Thacher has gone to Washington with his mischief-making Bureau of Awards.

Whatever may happen elsewhere, the people of Chicago will be grateful that they live in such a goodly, energetic, hustling, patriotic city. This will add zest to the Thanksgiving turkey and pudding. To crown the feast there is but one thing left. See that the poor also have some reason to be grateful in the midst of their hard and uncertain conditions. On this day of all days let every home have occasion for thanksgiving.

ALARMED ABOUT THEIR WAGES.

The workingmen of Pittsburg, one of the great manufacturing centers of this country, are scared by the tariff bill and the effect of its reductions on their wages. What they would not see last November they see now. The President of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers says:

> The measure is a menace to our manufacturing industries. The manufacturers whom the committee is aiming at can stand it by closing their mills but the employés will starve in the meantime.

Iron is one of the great Pittsburg industries. The Wilson bill proposes to reduce to 22½ per cent the duty on pig iron, which was 35.58 per cent by the law of 1883 and was left at that figure by the McKinley law. The duty on bar iron is cut down from 58.33 to 30 per cent, and on beams, girders, joists, etc., from 82.62 to 35 per cent. Iron in forms intermediate between pig and bar is reduced from 57 to 25 per cent. The duty on tin-plate, the manufacture of which has secured a foothold in the United States, is to be lowered from 76 to 35 per cent. This is but a trifle higher than the 34.66 per cent of the law of 1883, under which no tin-plate was made. Cotton ties, on which there was a duty of 35 per cent under the law of 1883, increased by that of 1890, are made free. The mills where thousands of tons of these ties were made will be compelled to shut up for good, and the men who were working in them for fair wages will have to look for other jobs.

The Democrats promised that if they were allowed to pass a tariff bill wages should not be lowered. In the case of these cotton tie men wages are worse than lowered—they shrink to nothing. The workmen in other iron industries appreciate the fact that these heavy reductions in duties mean that they must take lower wages and count themselves lucky to get them, for the amount of work to be done will be reduced. The labor thus made idle will have to seek employment at something else. That will overcrowd the labor market in other trades, including those which are not directly affected by the tariff, and thus, little by little, men in the building trades, for instance, will find their wages tending inexorably downward.

Glass is another Pittsburg industry. The President of the Window Glass Workers' Association, who speaks for the employés and not for the employers, says:

> If the bill passes the window glass trade will be ruined. The reduction is between 50 and 65 per cent and to get even manufacturers will reduce wages. If the latter are reduced in proportion to the cut the employés cannot live. Even a compromise under the circumstances would be vicious.

The President of the Flint Glass Workers' Union says:

> If the bill goes through it will throw hundreds of men in the tableware business out of employment. We will certainly protest against the measure and ask our representatives to do everything they can to defeat it.

The ad valorem duties on unpolished cylinder crown and common window glass under the Wilson bill range from 61 to 73.72 per cent. Under the law of 1883, which was not changed in 1890 except by the reimposition of the duty on packages, the range was from 67.61 to 132 per cent. The duty on cut and engraved glass and table ware generally is brought from 60 to 35 per cent.

It is estimated by the glass men that tariff reductions of this severity will have to be made good by a reduction of about 30 per cent in the wages of the men, who have been getting very high pay as a result of the protection which this industry has enjoyed. Otherwise the manufactories will have to close. The owners of them are desirous to go on—they do not want to sacrifice their plants—but they will not manufacture at a loss. Their policy depends entirely on the workmen.

The latter are holding meetings, as are those engaged in other industries, and drawing up protests against the passage of the Wilson bill to be submitted to Congress. They will appeal to a Democratic majority, which promised them last year that wages should not be reduced, but they will appeal in vain. Happily they can register a more effectual protest next November, when a new House will be chosen.

THE NATION'S POSTOFFICES.

The first annual report by Postmaster-General Bissell contains statements of fact which are highly complimentary to the energy and activity of Chicago, and all the more so as the fiscal year passed under review ended with the second month of the World's Fair. The gross receipts of the Chicago office for the year were $4,672,018, being an increase of 18.3 per cent over the business for the previous year, while the increase for New York was only 8.7 per cent, though its total receipts of nearly $7,360,000 exceeded ours by 79 per cent. In amount of business Philadelphia ranked third, Boston fourth, and St. Louis fifth. The group of ten cities, including these, Cincinnati, Brooklyn, San Francisco, Baltimore, and Pittsburg, had an aggregate of 30.2 per cent of the total revenues of the department, and the Postmaster-General thinks it would be advisable to put these ten cities into a class by themselves, appropriations by Congress to be made for them direct and without the intervention of the rules and methods as to allowances that are properly applicable to other postoffices. If that suggestion be not favored he would recommend such special grouping for the first five, and at least for the two cities of New York and Chicago. On the efficient management of those two that of the whole postal service of the country largely depends. As collectors and distributers of what may be called the world's through mail those two offices render a service not at all measured by the local population served or by the amount of revenue. The greatest concentration of railway mail service is at Chicago, which otherwise demands special attention from the fact that it now has fifty-five offices within its corporate limits.

The Columbian postage stamps were not the success expected. The original contract called for the printing of three billions of them at 17 cents per 1,000, but only 1,045 millions of the stamps and 55 million stamped Columbian envelopes were issued. Thirty-six clerks and thirty-one letter carriers were employed at the World's Fair station at a cost of $29,614 for them and furniture, with $13,877 for postal-cars and employés connected with them. The 4,681,086 pieces of first-class mail matter received there were nearly five times the number received at the Centennial station in Philadelphia seventeen years ago. Lower grade matter shows about the same proportion, and on registered matter the World's Fair station handled six times as much as the Centennial station. The $34,175,924 in money orders was three times that at the Centennial, and the World's Fair was practically the centennial of the postal service in the United States, that having been established in 1794 in about its present form.

The financial statement shows that the deficiency for the last fiscal year exceeded five million dollars, or more than three times the deficiency estimated by Mr. Wanamaker, and that there will be a deficiency of nearly eight millions for the current fiscal year, which will be decreased one and a quarter millions by funds taken from the unpaid money order accounts. The gross expenditures for this year are estimated to exceed ninety millions. The report is adverse to the extension of the experimental free delivery system, states that claims by carriers for overtime are being closely watched, and suggests that postal notes be abolished, rates charged for domestic money orders be reduced, and the form of order simplified. It estimates that the present force of 6,645 men in the railway mail service will need to be increased this year to 7,000, recommends legislation that will provide a reasonable sum to be paid to widows and minor children of railway mail clerks killed while on duty, favors the utilization of local electric car lines for mail transportation, and intimates a desire that no new ocean mail subsidy contracts be entered upon. Last year the department carried 301 million pounds of second-class matter, being an increase of 14 per cent, and delivered 87 million pounds of free mail matter. If charged for the same as private matter, making no allowance for newspapers and other periodicals mailed free in their respective counties of publication, this would pay about the amount of the average annual deficiency of the department.

Mr. Bissell recommends legislation which will permit the suspension of employés for ten days without pay for violation of the rules and the granting of not more than three months' leave with full pay to any carrier or clerk disabled by casualty while in performance of duty. He devotes considerable space to a discussion of civil service reform, of which he professes to be an admirer, and thinks it would be impossible to conduct the affairs of the department with any approach to its present degree of efficiency without the benefit and protection of the civil service law. He holds that the rule that fourth-class Postmasters shall not be removed in less than four years after appointment, unless for cause shown, will have the tendency to dignify the office by placing it on a par with the Presidential office as to tenure.

THE PROPOSED TARIFF CHANGES.

The Tribune prints this morning a detailed and accurate comparison of the duties under the McKinley, or present tariff law, and under the Wilson bill. In order that there may be no difficulty in seeing the extent of the changes it is proposed to make in those cases where the existing specific duties are to be replaced by ad valorem ones the ad valorem equivalents of the former are given. Where a duty is a specific one in both cases, as in that of butter for instance, the ad valorem equivalent is not required. As the entire free list was printed last Tuesday, only those articles are reprinted now which are made free by the Wilson bill.

With this table before him any manufacturer can see how much protection he gets now, and of how great a portion of it the Committee on Ways and Means proposes to deprive him. Every merchant can see just what effect the tariff changes will have on the price of foreign manufactured goods, and every farmer can see how much protection the Democrats have left him. The workingmen, looking through the long columns of decreases, which show the lessened amount of protection on various competitive products, may be able to estimate for themselves how much their wages will have to be shrunk to enable their employers to remain in business and furnish them with work. The tables are most instructive and should be studied carefully.

DO NOT DROP THE INVESTIGATION.

The State challenged peremptorily two of the jurors who had been accepted in the Coughlin case. The official reason assigned was that they were not legally competent, both having served on juries within a year, and one being a clerk and the other a judge of election. The real reason in the case of one man was some remarks made by his wife, which probably meant nothing, but which were susceptible of a sinister construction. The reason in the case of the other was the irregular and peculiar way in which he happened to get on the jury.

The irregularity thus revealed was one which must be inquired into to the bottom and steps taken to prevent its recurrence, for its potentialities for mischief are great. The County Clerk has in his office a long list of the names of persons who may be called on to act as jurors. Opposite each of these names is a number. These names and numbers are written on separate cards which are placed in a box. When veniremen are wanted in a particular court the Clerk sends for a number of these cards and the men whose names occur on them are subpœnaed to attend.

The number on the card of one of these challenged jurors was 30,167. The jury list showed that that number was against the name of quite a different individual. It was evident from this and other facts that there had been a substitution of cards by some one, so that instead of A. B. being summoned to serve, C. D., whose name was not on the jury list, was put on the panel and found his way on the jury. The card made out at the County Clerk's office had been destroyed and replaced by another.

It is not necessary here to inquire into the motives of the person who received one card from the County Clerk and handed a different one to the Clerk of the Criminal Court. He may have wanted merely to get a job for a friend who was out of work, or he may have wished to smuggle on the jury a person who ought not to be there. It is easy to see, however, how important it is to find out the guilty party and punish him so severely that the offense will not be repeated.

If a criminal wishes to get on the jury which is to try him some man who will be sure to vote for his acquittal he has but to corrupt some one who handles the jury cards, and the chances are fair that he will get a jury which will disagree. Juries can be stuffed in civil cases as well as in criminal ones. It will be impossible to have honest trials if the methods just brought to light are not broken up.

It is not enough, therefore, to purge the Coughlin jury. That official, one or more of whose subordinates may have been mixed up in this business, should insist on a thorough investigation and the discovery and punishment of the guilty party or parties. He must also devise and enforce precautionary measures which will make this smuggling of people on juries more difficult than it appears to be now.

Of course the State's-Attorney's office will leave no stone unturned to find out who is behind this attempt to get a man on the Coughlin jury. If that could be done it might be possible to write the true history of the Cronin murder. If the employé who changed the cards did not do it of his own motion, who was the individual who put him up to it?

THE HOME FESTIVAL.

Thanksgiving day, established in New England by our Puritan fathers, has become preëminently a home festival day throughout the land. We do well thus to set apart one day for the celebration of the institution of the home; the characters of men and women depend so largely on the homes from which they come that too much pains cannot be taken to enrich home life and to see to it that it becomes a power making for the good and the great in the life of the individual.

What a change our worthy ancestors would discover in the external conditions of home life today—the average citizen living in what would seem palaces to them, and new forms of comfort, convenience, and luxury available even to the poor. But external conditions are the least trustworthy of all evidences of the prosperity or happiness of the home; the supreme test lies in the quality of the men and women it gives to the world; only if we can claim superiority here, shall we be able to boast that the modern home is superior to the old type.

Very charming are the pictures of these homes of the early day—such as Mrs. Stowe has given us in "Oldtown Folks," or Whittier in "Snow-Bound." Perhaps the most noticeable thing to us, looking backward to the homes from which came such men as Sumner, Channing, Emerson, and Whittier, is their formal respect and reverence, especially on the part of children towards parents. Channing writes of his father that he was a strict disciplinarian and, "according to the mistaken notion of his time, kept his children at too great a distance from him." Emerson's mother was one of the tenderest and most loving of women, but she felt great distrust of undue expression of her feelings. We are not to conclude that these parents were lacking in real and ardent affection; on the contrary, as a rule, their lives were one long devotion to duty and family interests. Without wishing to see this almost grim atmosphere restored, is it not questionable whether the reaction from it has not been carried too far? Emerson quotes the man who complained that he was born when children had no rights and had lived to the time when parents had none. The modern theory seems to be that in the child's development as much as possible must be left to nature and that the parent must forbear to control and restrict lest he should warp. Such an entire departure from the canons of an earlier age is far from being wholly a gain. Undoubtedly a bright and happy childhood is one of the greatest of all life's blessings, but it is purchased at too heavy a price if at the expense of those lessons of self-control and self-denial which all must learn sooner or later, if the child has never learned the stern truth that there is a higher law for every one than the law of his own self-will. One misses the deferential and considerate manner that is appropriate and charming in youth. It is not uncommon to find in the younger members of a household a behavior far inferior to their elders in grace and politeness. The revolt from overtraining has proceeded too far when it substitutes no training; something more than a kind heart is necessary to the making of fine manners. One may learn Greek or the planetary laws late in life; but a fine manner, like the correct use of one's mother tongue, must begin with the cradle and be cultivated in the nursery. The modern home is unfaithful to its obligations just so far as it leaves the development of its children to haphazard, and the non-intervention of parents is a mistaken kindness.

Another striking thing in the backward glance at the Puritan home is the discovery that there was a time when fathers bore their full half, or perhaps somewhat more than half, of the parental responsibilities. The claims of business and professional life have withdrawn men more and more from active part in the family direction until mothers have become almost the sole authority. It is the mother who determines what school the child shall attend; what shall be its course of study; what shall be the style of living; in what society the family shall move.

What busy women those Puritan mothers were! "Housekeepers by the wrath of God," some of them irreverently have been called. But the old notion that a woman is "smart" because she does her own housework is practically extinct. It is now recognized that it is higher work for an intellectual woman to teach an ignorant woman how to cook than it is herself to cook, that it requires more ability to administer the government of a household than to do the work of a household, that a woman is quite as much in the line of home duties when she is making her home the object of cultivated thought as when she is darning stockings or making pies. If in the evolution of the modern home it has come to be (as it should not be) that its type is to be fixed almost entirely by the mother, then let her be faithful to the high calling. By planning for leisure and a fresh mind in the evening, by the allurements of the sitting-room or out-of-door pleasures, by music, games, and reading, by small gatherings of congenial friends, by all the possible things with which one can help to realize the ideal or idealize the real, let the house-mother seek to make home the dearest spot on earth. No better or wiser Thanksgiving festival could be kept than for all, both men and women, to take into their hearts this suggestion of the possible sweetness and serenity of home as an ideal to be attained.

LEHIGH STRIKE IS DEAD.

There is no longer any room to doubt that the strike on the Lehigh Valley railroad is dead. The business of the line is proceeding nearly as usual. All the freight trains are running regularly, and there has not at any time been any considerable trouble with the passenger trains. Some of the strikers have returned to work, deserting the brotherhood to do so, and the rest regard the struggle as a hopeless one for themselves. They talk about having been unjustly used by the federation, but that does not alter the fact that the strike has failed, and without any heavy pressure being brought to bear by the officials of the road.

The weak point with the strikers was their inability to induce their comrades on other lines to drop their situations in sympathy. It was expected that the engineers on the Nickel Plate and Erie and some other roads would join in the fight. But they refused to do so. Having no grievances of their own and knowing what a bad time this would be to prevent their places from being taken by men now unemployed, they declined to go out, and it is said have decided not to quit even if ordered to do so by the required two-thirds vote of the association. In this they showed good sense. Doubtless they weighed well the conditions and decided it would be the height of folly to vacate their situations on the edge of winter because the employés of another line had a minor grievance which was all their own.

As previously stated in The Tribune, the question was not one of wages. The Lehigh strikers had not been asked to accept less pay than heretofore. The disagreement was in regard to the order in which certain men should be called on to do what work was required of them. It should seem this is a matter that ought to be left with the officials who are charged with the duty of seeing the work done in the best and most effective manner. It was a case in which the workers sought to dictate to the boss on points which it should be the province of the latter to decide. It was a very different thing from resistance to a proposition to reduce wages, and evidently the engineers on the other lines so regarded it. Hence their refusal to budge and the inability of the Lehigh strikers to carry the day.

It is well for the community that the struggle is ended thus speedily. Had it been a protracted one, owing to a cessation of work on other lines, the result would have been much loss and no small amount of suffering to the people. The price of hard coal would have been advanced, and probably also that of soft coal, as the owners of the latter would have been only too ready to embrace the opportunity offered by the greater demand for their product. Half a dollar per ton, or more, added to the cost of all the coal consumed in the United States this winter would not have been a pleasant thing to contemplate or endure. The infliction would have been far greater than any possible counterbalancing advantage to the strikers, and they must have felt the force of the odium entailed by their conduct had it been successful after a long paralysis of business on the carrying lines. By the refusal of others to join them the strikers have been saved from the worst consequences that might have been expected from their own folly.

At the close of last week the associated banks of New York held 71 million dollars in excess of legal requirements, a much larger surplus reserve than any previously reported. Similar conditions are reported by the banks of Chicago. They are piling up money in the absence of an immediate demand, and some of them have on hand fully 60 per cent of their deposits. Merchants are using funds, but manufacturing activities are sluggish, and speculation is kept at a low ebb by uncertainties in regard to the outcome of Democratic tinkering with the tariff. This dullness may be expected to continue till something more definite is known about the way in which different classes of industrial occupation will be affected by tariff revision. Our legislators at Washington ought to lose no time in working out the changes which they profess to think will constitute a reform. The country is waiting on their pleasure, and there is little probability of the money now lying idle in the banks of this and other cities being called out to active employment till people know the ground they will have to work on for the future. Nobody wants to buy raw or finished material either at wholesale or retail, beyond what is required to supply immediate and pressing wants, while there seems to be a chance that prices will be considerably reduced by laws making in the direction of free trade.

Now that the ward clubs have been organized, it is time for the ward statesmen of the Republican party to settle down to work and prepare for the registration of next Tuesday. There has been enough loud talking at the headquarters and in the committee-rooms. The work is required in the wards. Have the canvassers prepared the lists of Republicans who are entitled to register next Tuesday? Have they made arrangements to get those voters to the registry booths so that their names may be placed on the voting lists? Are they sure that the Republican clerks are wide-awake, active, resolute men, who will do their duty on the days of revision? Have they examined the registry lists of November to ascertain how many names ought to be stricken off next week? Have they made a careful canvass of the precincts with a view to preventing the stuffing of the registries by the Democrats? The work indicated here is what tells election day. It is worth all the ward-meetings, and all the mass-meetings, and all the tall talking that can be had between now and election day. If it is carefully attended to, if it is well done, George B. Swift's election as Mayor of Chicago on the 19th of next month is a certainty.

It looks as if the esteemed South Park Commissioners were disposed to charge a fancy price for scrub-oak timber.

Hatter's Clerk—"Yes, sir. Here's a line that will just suit you. Best quality and latest style. Gentleman's hat. What size?"

"Haven't you something wider in the brim and a little higher in the crown?"

"Yes, sir. That's the kind we sell to Chinamen."

"Let me see some of them, please."

"Yes, sir; but I don't think they will suit you at all. Nobody but a Chinaman buys that sort of hat now. I've sold 'em two dozen of that kind in the last month."

"That style just suits them, does it?"

"Always."

"It's what they ask for when they come in, is it?"

"Every time."

"And you don't try to sell them any other kind, do you?"

"You bet I don't."

"Well, I guess I'll go to some store where they are as anxious to please a white man as they are to please a Chinaman. Good evening."

THE NOBLE GAME TODAY.

Philadelphia Press: There are good grounds for protest against the brutalities of football when players kick the bucket instead of the ball.

Wheeling Intelligencer: Remember, young gentlemen, that legitimate football is not played with rooster spurs or five-ounce gloves. It is possible to knock the life out of a good thing.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: The rules for the playing of football should include regulations for an ambulance corps and a cessation of hostilities while the victims of rushes are carried from the field.

Washington Post: Meanwhile it would seem the rankest infatuation to harbor the theory that football is a more gentlemanly and a less demoralizing practice than prize fighting. The record indicates the contrary.

Kansas City Star: Football is the sole amusement in the world that carries with it the semblance and excitement of the great game of war. The first inquiry after a match is, "Who won the victory?" The next is concerning the number of killed and wounded.

New York World: On the other hand, true courage is not prompted by wanton foolhardiness, and if the element of special danger is necessary to its popularity the sport caters to and cultivates brutal tastes. It deserves to be classed with prize fights and bull fights, which are condemned as cruel and brutalizing.

Appreciation of Judge Gary.

Joliet Republican: Our State Supreme Court appreciates Judge Gary even if John P. Altgeld does not. Hence that court has assigned him to the bench of the Appellate Court in Chicago, a position which he has adorned for years. The fact is, Judge Gary will be honored and respected by all decent people when Altgeld is forgotten, or only remembered for his sympathy with Anarchists.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

A new dramatic company which, during the last three months, has quietly been perfecting its organization and acquiring a repertory of plays that will tend to place it on a footing of marked superiority over the general run of traveling companies will start out from Chicago next week for an extended tour of the Southern cities. Mr. John Stapleton, who is well and favorably known in this city as an able, thoughtful dramatic writer and stage manager, is at the head of the enterprise and will personally direct the tour of the company. His plan as it is outlined is admirable and with the proper support of the playgoers of the smaller cities will supply a want that has long been manifest. The purpose is to present in the cities not visited by the large stock organizations plays that have a place in the best class of city theaters and that will tend to promote the beautiful in the drama and appeal to higher tastes and intelligence, a field which among the metropolitan cities is occupied by the organizations of Augustin Daly, Daniel Frohman, and A. M. Palmer. The company will leave Chicago well equipped for its work, and Mr. Stapleton, who for many years was Mr. Daly's stage manager and is now a dramatist and actor far above the general average, will, without doubt, realize the promises that he has made of supplying to the smaller centers of population an order of entertainment that at present is confined only to the larger cities. The repertory of this new company bears the stamp of positive merit. It is composed of adaptations from the German and French dramas that have met with success and one or two plays that are original with Mr. Stapleton, who has been associated with Richard Mansfield as his collaborator, as well as with other prominent actors and writers. Among the adaptations will be "The Marble Arch," by Edward Rose and A. J. Garroway, which is one of the brightest comediettas that can be found among stage productions, and "Our Bitterest Foe," dealing with a stirring episode of the late Franco-Prussian War, by G. C. Herbert. Each of these plays will be spiced with bright musical and dancing specialties. Other features of the repertory will be "The Arabian Nights," Von Moser's brilliant farce adapted from the German by Sydney Grundy, "A Literary Feller"; a three-act comedy from the German of Franz von Schonthau and identical with Augustin Daly's "7-20-8"; "Our New Governess," Mr. Stapleton's latest and most ingenious comedy in three acts; "Betsy," a rollicking farce in three acts by F. C. Burnand, editor of Punch; "A Woman's Won't," Augustin Daly's farce adapted from the German; and Grace Furniss' satirical farce, "A Box of Monkeys." These are plays that extend over a broad range and enlist more beauty and good taste in their proper presentation than any of the silly farces and senseless melodramas that are bandied about the country by the usual traveling companies. The people who will appear in the plays just mentioned are all favorably known in Chicago, being mostly residents of the city, whose first dramatic work has been done in local theaters. The principal of the company will be Miss Bernice Wheeler, a handsome, vivacious actress, whose début last season at Hooley's in "Lady Fortune" created much surprise and flattering criticism. She combines the elements necessary to a successful stage career, possessing ready conception, an excellent stage presence, a most pleasing personality, and an unusual ambition to establish a place for herself among the successful women of the stage. Last summer, it will be remembered, she was a pleasing member of Sol Smith Russell's supporting company at the Grand Opera-House. She will fill all the leading feminine rôles in the plays that have been enumerated. Miss May Vokes, the dancer, who is now in New York studying special dances for the plays under Mme. Zruger, is also a member of the company, together with Miss Clara Middleton, Miss Alma Anwerda, and others. Among the men are Gerald Kitridge, a promising character actor and low comedian, George Dillon, Thomas Reynolds, David D. Kearns, and Philip Stapleton, a brother of the manager. Mr. Stapleton will have the advantage of lavish encouragement from all the local managers and, with the exercise of good taste, supplemented by fair patronage from the cities he will visit, the new Chicago company ought to make a record.

⁂

Bizet's "Carmen" was the opera undertaken by the Tavary company at the Chicago Opera-House last evening. Had Carmen survived the dagger stroke in the fourth act and lived to be a grandmother she would doubtless have appeared somewhat as did Miss Helen von Doenhoff in the rôle. As a study in archeology, however, it was unique. As Michaela, Mme. Tavary, although somewhat mature for the part, gave the music with an intelligence that was grateful and an oasis in an arid performance. Emil Steger, as Escamillo, presented his idea of the rôle, which differs notably from the composer's. Payne Clarke, as Don José, sang with a degree more of feeling than usual. The balance of the cast included Sofie Romani, R. Goettrisch, H. Lallmans, S. H. Dudley, and J. Mencler, who undertook the several minor rôles. This afternoon "Bohemian Girl" will be given and tonight "Il Trovatore."

⁂

Manager James H. McVicker has offered a double manifestation of his generosity to Daniel Shelby, who is to be tendered a benefit by Medina Temple of the Mystic Shrine Thursday, Dec. 7. He has not only placed his theater at Mr. Shelby's disposal for the afternoon, but has also sent in his check for $50 for a box. Joseph Jefferson has also wired that he will purchase a box at that price. The theatrical managers about town have taken an interest in the benefit, and volunteers from the professional people now in the city are rapidly offering their services. An interesting program will undoubtedly be arranged.

The Henri Marteau recital, under the auspices of the Amateur Musical club, which was announced for Friday afternoon, Dec. 1, has been postponed to Saturday morning, Dec. 2, owing to the Chicago Orchestra concert. The hour fixed for the recital, which will be given in Central Music Hall, is 11 o'clock. M. Marteau will play the Bruch Concerto No. 1, op. 26; Adagio and Fugue in G minor for violin alone, by Bach; the Gounod-Wieniawski "Faust" fantasie; Air Printemps by Grieg; Andante religioso, Thomé; Serenade Mysterieuse, Boisdeffre; and the Second Polonaise of Wieniawski.

Manager Harry L. Hamlin of the Grand Opera-House telegraphed the theater from New York yesterday that he had made arrangements to bring the successful French pantomime "L'Enfant Prodigue" to his theater during New Year's week. This is the novel piece which made a decided hit at Daly's Theater in New York early in the fall and which at present is meeting with equal success at the Boston Museum. It is purely pantomime, and as it is being skillfully performed it tells in action an amusing story quite as clearly as if the lines were spoken.

Mme. Modjeska will tender Ben Rogers, the aged actor who was recently stricken with paralysis, a benefit at Hooley's Theater Sunday evening. The performance will be of strong artistic interest, as it will be the first appearance in Chicago of Mr. Otis Skinner as Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice." Mme. Modjeska will repeat the poetic interpretation of Portia, which was made familiar in Chicago during her joint starring tour with Edwin Booth.

The sale of seats for the entertainment to be given the evenings of Dec. 5 and 7 at Central Music Hall by James Whitcomb Riley, assisted by Douglas Sherley, Opie Read, and Elwyn A. Barron, will begin at the box office tomorrow morning. As it will be Mr. Riley's last appearance in Chicago this season as an entertainer a large audience is assured.

In response to a number of urgent requests Mrs. John Drew gave a special performance of "The Road to Ruin" at the Schiller Theater yesterday afternoon. "The Rivals" will be given at the extra Thanksgiving matinée, as it will be during the week and at the farewell matinée Saturday.

The advance sale of seats and boxes for the approaching engagement of Miss Jennie Yeamans in "Jane" next Monday evening at the Schiller Theater will open at the box office Thursday morning.

All the down-town theaters will offer special holiday matinées this afternoon. Extra performances will also be given at the outlying playhouses.

Herr Hesing's Nine Gods.

New York Evening Sun: Herr Washington Hesing of Chicago swore by the nine gods that the report of his appointment as Postmaster was untrue. That was Saturday. So, of course, the news was yesterday found to be correct. Why the secrecy and mystery were maintained it is impossible to tell, except that ex-Congressman Frank Lawler, who was passed over, had the support of all the Democratic Congressmen from Illinois, except Mr. Durborow, and secured the largest petition ever presented to the President in behalf of an applicant for a Federal office.

The "Yaller" Dog in Georgia.

Atlanta (Ga.) Journal: The attempt to pass a dog law has been made in Georgia several times, but has invariably been defeated by the politicians, who are afraid of the influence of the cur. In some parts of Georgia sheep raising could be made a profitable industry, but it is impossible now to carry it on without such ravages from dogs as will make it a losing business. LOW DRAINAGE BIDS.

FIVE MILES OF CANAL TO COST A MILLION AND A HALF DOLLARS.

Workingmen Request That Chicago's Unemployed Be Set to Work on Section Fourteen, Abandoned by Contractor McCormick—Employes to Be Vaccinated Under Direction of the State Board of Health—Corporations Must Settle with the City Before They Can Excavate Streets.

Bids for the construction of five miles of the Drainage Canal were opened yesterday by the trustees of the Sanitary District at their regular weekly meeting held in their rooms at the Rialto Building. Twenty-five bids from as many different contracting firms were offered for the work, the lowest on each of the six divisions into which the five miles were divided for convenience in bidding being as follows:

Sec.	Bidder.	Price per cubic yard.	Amount.
G.	Casgrain & McDonald, Chicago	.28	$372,400
H.	Gahan & Byrne, Chicago	.29	319,000
I.	Christie & Lowe, Chicago	.25	284,000
K.	Christie & Lowe, Chicago	.25	289,250
L.	Heidenreich company, Chicago	.19 7-10	215.124
M.	Heidenreich company, Chicago	.21 7-10	156,023
	Total		$1,535,797

The other bidders were: Fred Stafford, Chicago; Halversen, Richards & Co., Minneapolis; W. A. McGillis & Co., A. J. McBean, William Innes, and C. E. Loss & Co., Chicago; McCormick Moran, Pittsburg; Winston Bros., Minneapolis; Mason, Hoge & Co., Frankfort, Ky.; John J. McClaughry, Summt, Ill.; Hayes Bros., Janesville, Wis.; McMahon & Montgomery company, Chicago; Brodhead & Hickey, Fairview, N. J.; William Dolose & Co., Chicago; Streeter & Kenefick, Summit, Ill.; Hoover & Mason, Kansas City, Mo.; Ryan & McDonald Constructing company, Baltimore, Md.; Dawson, Symmes & Co., Chicago; Patterson & Shipman, Cattlesburg, Ky.; F. H. Clement, New York; Ricker, Lee & Co., Galveston, Tex.

The work for which the bids were invited is entirely earth excavation and is the construction of that portion of the main drainage channel lying between the east line of range No. 12, east of the third principal meridian at Summit and Corwith, Ill., thus bringing the canal within the city limits. The amount of excavation on each section in cubic yards is: Sec. G, 1,330,000; Sec. H, 1,100,000; Sec. I, 1,136,000; Sec. K. 1,157,000; Sec. L, 1,092,000; Sec. M, 719,000; a total of 6,534,000 yards. The prices bid for the work per cubic yard varied from 19 7-10 cents to 49 cents, and the members of the Drainage Board were greatly pleased with the results of the bidding, the prices being somewhat lower than had been anticipated. "The sum of the lowest bids, $1,535.797," said Mr. Cooley, "is not above the estimate made for this portion of the work." The bids were referred to the Joint Committee on Engineering and Finance for consideration. When the committee has satisfied itself of the financial standing of the four firms who are lowest and of their ability to do the work the contracts will be let.

A committee representing several labor organizations attended the meeting and requested that unemployed men of Chicago be given work on Sec. 14 of the canal, which was recently abandoned by Contractor McCormick. An opportunity will be given the labor representatives to appear before the Joint Committee on Engineering and Finance and state their request more at length. This will probably be Monday afternoon. A mass-meeting of citizens will be held some time next week for the purpose of giving more complete expression to the demand that the unemployed be given work on the drainage canal at day labor.

The contractors will be asked to see that all their employés are vaccinated to guard against the possible spread of smallpox. Sanitary Inspector Martin was directed to call in the assistance of the State Board of Health in case the contractors refused to take the precaution. The work of vaccination will begin tomorrow.

Under the direction of the Committee on Federal Relations, whose Chairman is Trustee Boldenweck, all the Congressmen-at-large and the Congressmen and Senators from Illinois will be taken as the guests of the district Dec. 28 on a tour of inspection over that part of the canal now being constructed. This was decided at yesterday's meeting of the board on recommendation of the Federal Relations committee. The purpose of the trip is to show the legislators what great progress the board has made in the last year and to familiarize them with the work in view of action by Congress in relation to the waterway between Chicago and the Mississippi.

STOPS PERMITS TO CORPORATIONS.

No More Excavations in the Streets Until They Settle.

Street Superintendent McCarthy, following on the lines recently laid down by Corporation Counsel Kraus, yesterday notified the quasi-public corporations that tear up the streets that as they have failed to make good the promises to pay for relaying the thoroughfares no permits will be given them hereafter for laying mains, pipes, etc., where that would involve disturbance of the roadways or sidewalk. This means that they cannot make repairs or connections or improvements until they come to the city's terms. It will be needless for them to apply to the Law Department for seven weeks, as Corporation Counsel Kraus threatened to do the very thing Superintendent McCarthy has done, and informed the gentlemen representing the corporations that if they desired to take the case into court he would prolong the litigation by taking the case to the Supreme Court and thus prevent them from making any repairs or laying any new underground work for five or six years. These corporations have violated the terms of their ordinances and do not dare to go to law with their case; that much they practically admitted at the time the question of doing this repair work was first discussed.

Supt. McCarthy's Notice.

At the time Supt. McCarthy was dictating the notice to his stenographer a representative of one of the largest corporations was in the outer office trying to get three permits. He was sent away without one. The letter is as follows:

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—To Chicago Telephone company, Chicago Edison company, Chicago Sectional Electric Underground company, Postal Telegraph company, Western Union Telegraph company, Chicago Economic Fuel Gas company, Chicago Gaslight and Coke company, Consumers' Gas company, Equitable Gas company, People's Gaslight and Coke company, Hyde Park Gas company, Mutual Fuel Gas company, Lake Gas company, West Chicago Street railroad company, North Chicago Street railroad company, Chicago City railway company, Waukesha Hygeia Mineral Springs company, and Northwestern Electric Light company—I desire to announce to you that no more permits to break the surface of the streets of the city will be granted to you until your company complies with the ordinances on that subject. You are aware that seven weeks ago your company with others agreed to compensate the city for advances made and to place street or portions of streets in good condition, the repairs being made necessary by your failure to do your duty under the ordinances. You must also be aware that you have failed to comply with the agreement. The city will no longer be trifled with in this matter.

JOHN MCCARTHY,
Superintendent of Streets.

Oct. 17 last all the representatives of these corporations met with Commissioner Jones, Corporation Counsel Kraus, and Supt. McCarthy to discuss the matter of repairing street torn up by these companies for the purpose of laying underground work. Supt. McCarthy had maps made of all the streets needing such repairs, the maps showing just what work each corporation was expected to do. From these maps it was found that it would cost about $600,000 to do the work laid out. The corporation representatives looked aghast, but agreed they were morally responsible for the bad condition of the streets named, and agreed to have one of their number handle the whole matter for them. Samuel Insell, President of the Edison company, was chosen for that purpose. It was agreed at that meeting that the corporations should engage an engineer to go over the streets the street engineers had examined to see if the work he thought should be done would agree with the report of the city engineers. They agreed that if the figures should be the same the work of repairs should be taken up at once. Further they agreed that if their engineer's figures should not agree with those of the city's engineer there should be no quarrel, but that the matter should be settled by arbitration.

A few days later Mr. Insell secured from the Superintendent of Streets a list of twelve streets for his engineer to work upon. While the work was in progress Mayor Harrison, who had been a ruling spirit in the negotiations, was killed.

"Since Mayor Harrison's death," says Supt. McCarty, "Mr. Insell has endeavored in every way to escape a settlement of the matter. Finally I told him he must come in and settle the matter up at once. He replied that he must go East, and that he would not be back for ten days. Meantime Mayor Swift had told me to go ahead and carry the matter through as Mayor Harrison would have had me do. In my office one day Mr. Insell said he did not think the matter would be settled until a permanent Mayor had been selected. I am positive he does not intend to settle, but does intend to put the matter off from time to time, in the hope of finally staving it off altogether. With that understanding, I have sent the letter announcing the suspension of the issuance of permits. Now I shall not treat with the companies collectively; but each individual corporation, in order to get any permits, must come in and make a satisfactory settlement."

West Park Water Debt.

Instead of $1,000, as was stated in Tuesday's meeting of the Board of West Park Commissioners, that body owes the City of Chicago for water $6,135. No bills have been paid by the Park Commissioners since October, 1892, and this big bill is the accumulation of the monthly bills for the intervening year. "We have frequently informed the board of the indebtedness to the city," said Supt. Crossette of the water office. "I have tried every way to get the money, but the only answer I have had has been that the Finance committee was still considering the payment. I came to the opinion the board did not intend to pay the bill and went to the Commissioner of Public Works with my complaint. On his order I informed the board the first of the week that unless the bill was settled before Dec. 1, I would turn off the water from all parks under its jurisdiction. I shall obey orders."

WASHED HER WAY TO AFFLUENCE.

Story of a Woman Whose Husband Wants a Divorce and Her Money.

George F. and Elizabetha Stricker were married thirty years ago when they were poor. Now, when they own property worth more than $30,000 and have on hand $2,500 in cash, Elizabetha wants her husband restrained from disposing of the property. She declares to the court that her husband hasn't treated her kindly of late, and in narrating how the money and property were accumulated she says at the beginning of their married life she did washing and for many years they worked five acres of land they had purchased, Mrs. Stricker doing all the work in the house and in the field. In the evening she and her husband walked from their home, Hoyne avenue and Addison street, to the Northwestern Depot and from 11 o'clock in the evening until next morning washed railroad cars.

Mrs. Stricker also says that her husband inserted an advertisement in an evening paper printed in German advising storekeepers not to trust her with necessaries, and she hasn't been able to get anything on credit since. As a result she has no fire and her feet are bare.

Charges Against the Great Western.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company preferred charges yesterday against the Chicago Great Western railway, alleging violation of the Western Passenger Association agreement. The St. Paul road claims that it has been compelled to make a reduced rate on excess baggage for United States Government troops. The agreement provides for a net cash rate of $9.02 for government troops, while the regular unlimited rate from Chicago to Minneapolis is $11.50. Regarding excess baggage generally the agreement provides that the rates to be charged should be 12 per cent of the highest limited regular or standard rate, or 12 per cent of the lowest unlimited regular first-class rate where no limited rates are made. In making its bid for the transportation of the troops the Chicago Great Western based the excess baggage charge on 12 per cent of the net cash rate, being under the impression that it was permitted to do so under the agreement. The Chicago Great Western failed to get business, and in addition its successful competitor brings charges against it for violation of agreement.

U. P. Receivers to Pay Interest.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The Union Pacific receivers, having reached an agreement with the trustees of the Kansas Pacific consolidated mortgage, the receivers will forward tomorrow an application to the court at Omaha for permission to pay the interest which was due Nov. 1 on the following obligations and coupons: The usual interest on the three years' notes under which Drexel, Morgan & Co. are the trustees, Kansas Pacific consolidated 6s, Kansas Pacific Denver extension 6s, Atchison and Pike's Peak 6s, Central Branch Union Pacific 7s. The receivers have also decided to petition the court to pay interest on the following obligations and securities, which fall due Dec. 1: Union Pacific collateral trust 5s, amounting to $116,925; Union Pacific 6 per cent notes, interest due Feb. 1, monthly installments, amounting to $55,245; Kansas Pacific (Middle Division) first 6s, amounting to $121,890.

The government directors and receivers have written to President Cleveland recommending the appointment of Frederick R. Coudert as a government director to fill the vacancy which now exists.

Cheap Mileage Tickets by the U. P.

It becomes more evident every day that the Union Pacific proposes to follow its own inclinations as regards the making of passenger rates over its lines, and pay no attention whatever to the wishes or desires of the Western Passenger Association roads. There is also good reason to believe that the Chicago and Northwestern is in full accord with the Union Pacific and will allow the latter to make whatever rates it pleases over its line. Information was received here yesterday that the Union Pacific had notified the Denver and Rio Grande railroad that it has decided to sell 3,000 mile tickets at a rate of 2½ cents per mile over its whole system and also over the lines of the Chicago and Northwestern. General Passenger Agent Hooper of the Denver and Rio Grande made inquiry yesterday what the eastern connections of his road mean to do to meet the Union Pacific's competition.

Railway Notes.

Western roads have refused to make any arrangements for the exchange of reduced rates inter-territorially as between the roads east and west of the Missouri River for the Christmas and New Year's holidays,

The Board of Directors of the New York, Lake Erie and Western railway company met in New York yesterday and reëlected the following officers for the ensuing year: John King, President; E. B. Thomas, Vice-President; G. H. Vaillant, Second Vice-President; A. Donaldson, Third Vice-President; A. R. McDonough, Secretary; and Edward White, Treasurer.

Commissioner Donald has issued a call for a meeting of the passenger department of the Central Traffic Association, to be held at the association rooms, Monadnock Building, Chicago, Wednesday, Dec. 6. Among the more important subjects to be considered are the following: Rate for students going home for the holidays; rate for glassworkers; request for rate for land excursions to Mississippi and Alabama points; request for rates to points in Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas.

ERIE LOWERS TARIFF

IT CLAIMS THAT OTHER ROADS MAKE SECRET CUTS.

Chicago Committee Meets and Issues a New Schedule—Erie Will Probably Act Independently in Rate Matters—Northern Pacific Receivers Seek to Avoid Rental Payments for Wisconsin Central on the Ground That the Lease Was Illegal—Charges Relating to Commissions.

Considerable excitement was caused yesterday among the officials of the Chicago east-bound roads by the discovery that the Erie had issued a new tariff, making material reductions in rates on fertilizer, green hides, dressed poultry, and butter, and eggs. The rate quoted on fertilizer is 20 cents, cut of 5 cents; green hides, 22½ cents, cut of 7½ cents; dressed poultry, 50 cents, cut of 25 cents; butter and eggs, 45 cents, cut of 20 cents. It was also reported that the Erie had decided to reduce grain rates to a basis of 20 cents, a reduction of 5 cents, but the Erie people here deny this and thus no reduced tariff on grain has come to the surface.

A meeting of the Chicago committee was held at Secretary Woffindin's office during the afternoon to decide what action is necessary in view of the reduced rates put in effect by the Erie. The representative of the Erie stated that the reduced rates were made by his company because it had secured positive evidence that other roads were secretly making such rates and it deemed it but right under such circumstances to make the rates open ones. The charge was denied by the representatives of all the other roads, but it has been an open secret for some time past that east-bound rates were not maintained, and this fact is substantiated by the recent action of the trunk line Presidents ordering a restoration in east-bound freight rates to take effect Jan. 1.

Finding that the Erie was determined to stand by its position and that it would not withdraw its reduced rates the Chicago committee decided to meet the rates made by the Erie on fertilizer and green hides, and it also agreed upon the following reduced tariff on dairy products:

	RATES IN CENTS PER 100 LBS.
From Chicago to—	Poultry or game, dressed, in boxes or brls., released —any quantity.	Eggs in boxes brls., O. P.; butter, butterine, oleomargarine, olive butter and purola, p'ked in cans or wood, O. R. L. any quantity.
New York	50	45
Boston	55	50
Philadelphia	48	43
Baltimore	47	42
Albany	45	40
Utica	42½	37½
Syracuse	37½	33
Rochester	34½	31
Binghamton	42½	38
Elmira	40½	36
Hornellsville and Wayland	38	34
Buffalo, Suspension Bridge, Dunkirk, Oil City, Titusville, Wheeling, Pittsburg, and Bellaire	27½	25

It is believed that the Erie is now determined to act independently in the matter of east-bound rates and that it will promptly meet all secret rates with open ones. The road is in the hands of receivers and is in a position to make effective war upon its competitors.

OBJECTION TO RENTAL PAYMENTS.

Northern Pacific Lease of Wisconsin Central Claimed to Be Illegal.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The receivers of the Northern Pacific railroad seek through a petition filed in the United States Court today to avoid the payment of rental fixed by the court for the time they operated the Wisconsin Central, on the ground the Northern Pacific's lease of the Central was illegal. The Northern Pacific receivers operated the road from Aug. 15 to Sept. 26. and Sept. 30 the court made an order directing them to pay as rental to Morris and Whitcomb, the general receivers, a sum equal to 35 per cent of the gross earnings of the road north and west of Neenah and 37½ per cent of the gross earnings of the road south of Neenah and north of Altenheim, Ill., which was the provision in the lease. The receivers paid Morris and Whitcomb $125,000 and a balance of $60,000 became due today. The receivers claim they have discovered that under the statutes of the United States and the State of Wisconsin the lease was illegal and without binding force on the Northern Pacific or its receivers.

The receivers ask to have the order of the court so modified that they will not be obliged to make another payment until the court has further investigated the matter; that the matter be referred to a Master to determine what would be a fair rental for the road for that time; and that if it shall be found that the amount already paid to the Central receivers is in excess of a fair rental the receivers be required to refund the excess.

Judge Jenkins issued an order directing the parties to the suit to show cause on Dec. 11 why the petition should not be granted, and specified that in the meantime and until further order the Northern Pacific receivers shall make no further payments to the Central receivers.

ROW AMONG EASTERN RAILROADS.

Street Commissions Being Freely Paid on Business Out of Chicago.

The General Managers of the Central Traffic Association roads are all parties to a rigid agreement prohibiting the payment of commissions on the sale of tickets under any pretense or in any shape or form. Notwithstanding this agreement the discovery has been made that street commissions on all business out of Chicago are being freely paid and that a majority of the roads are paying them. Those accused of being the worst offenders in this respect are the Chicago and Grand Trunk, the Wabash, the Chicago and Erie, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Big Four, and the Pennsylvania, which heretofore has been considered the bitterest opponent of the commission system. A meeting of the passenger department of the association has been called for Wednesday next and it is said that the whole matter will then receive an airing. An effort is being made to keep the whole thing quiet.

Our Great Holiday Handkerchief trade.

We have always been instinctively recognized as the best house in Chicago to buy Handkerchiefs of. There has been nothing strange in such recognition. We make stronger handkerchief preparations than any other Chicago house. Christmas is not over before we plan for the next Christmas. The market is covered in Japan by a resident buyer there, which accounts for the strangely little prices on Silk Handkerchiefs and Mufflers, as also on the art decorating work. In Belfast, Ireland, our name is almost as well known as in Chicago, so heavy are our Handkerchief transactions there. In the Paris market the dainty, nimble fingers of hundreds of French girls are working for you, through us, every working day in the year's calendar. Switzerland must not be overlooked, for they give, through the perfectness of their embroidery machines, Handkerchiefs that look suspiciously like the hand-embroidered at a wonderful difference in price. You will notice how we are doubling our space, how we are quadrupling our salespeople. If you want to see what is doing it, run your eye over the Handkerchiefs; they'll give you the cue quick enough, for they are here in more perfect taste and at smaller prices than any other house. For instance:

Your choice of thousands of dozens Women's Manufacturers' Sample Handkerchiefs, in "emb.," in hemstitched, etc., etc. etc., (values run to 25c.)	10c
Your choice of 5,000 dozens Women's Emb. Hemstitched, Initialed, Revered, Scalloped, Emb. Mull, and Japanese Silk Handkerchiefs, (Values run to 35c.)	15c
Your choice of Women's Irish Linen, fine Swiss Emb., Revered, Hemstitched, Initial, new Lace Edge, (Values run to 50c.)	19c
Your choice of 1,500 dozen Men's full size Japanese Silk Handkerchiefs, full size Women's "Jap" Silk Emb. Crepe and Chiffon Emb. Handkerchiefs, (Values run to 65c.)	25c
Your choice of 1,000 dozen fine Swiss Emb. Japanese Silk, new lace effects, revered, etc., etc., etc., (Values run to $1.)	39c

Just Begun — Our great Holiday Handkerchief Sale—it's going to be a great one—the greatest in our history.

COMPARISON CHALLENGED WITH ANY AND all the companies doing business in America. The Fouse system of Life Insurance is superior, more scientific, more secure, and gives the assured better results than any company. Our 10, 15, and 20 payment life policies are incomparable. Our 10, 15, and 20 year renewable terms is insurance at actual cost. Our 10, 15, and 20 payment Life policies have 3 options after the third payment. Cash value, paid up insurance, or extended insurance, and all policies are incontestable after the third year. Tontine estimates and mass law are laid in the shade in comparison with the policies written by the Fidelity Mutual Life. You agents that can do business come and see for yourselves. We can defeat you in comparison and make double your income with the same amount of labor. Bring in your favorite policy and compare. If you can write insurance we want you and you want us.

BOSTON. NEW YORK. CHICAGO

THE EMERSON PIANO has been sold in Chicago for nearly FORTY YEARS and thousands are now in use in this city and giving excellent satisfaction, not only in the homes of music-loving people, but is the favorite piano with many well-known musicians. They are found in MUSIC SCHOOLS, CONVENTS, CHURCHES, LODGES, and PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS, for the reason that after years of trial they have been found SATISFACTORY and are known to be DURABLE.

After a fierce and unceasing competition of over forty years the EMERSON holds its place among the few that have stood the test of time.

During the present year we have opened our new BRANCH WAREROOMS in Chicago, where we have a large variety of styles to select from, some finished in plain, serviceable cases, others in beautiful and costly woods.

Being among the largest manufacturers of pianos in America we are enabled to furnish a first-class piano at less price than most music dealers and manufacturers. We are satisfied with a reasonable manufacturer's profit. We invite you to call and examine our pianos before purchasing. The EMERSON PIANOS will tell their own story better than it can be told in print.

We have several pianos of our own make, little used, in perfect order, which we offer VERY LOW. In addition to our own make we have some bargains in new uprights of reliable manufacture, 7⅓ octave, parlor size, with stool and cover, fully warranted, $175, $200, $225. No extra charge where time payments are desired.

ON HIGHER GROUND.

LEADING MARKETS ARE AFFORDED CONSIDERABLE SUPPORT.

The Advance in Wheat Small, but an Undertone of Fair Confidence Displayed—Heavy Changing of December to May Contracts—Plenty of Money Available for This Purpose—European Stocks Show a Decrease—Longs Run Away from December Corn.

After the first hour or so wheat had fairly good support and showed some progress toward higher ground. This not so much in actual change of quotations as in what seemed to be a further quiet development of bull sentiment, appearing especially in the December, which was well supported, closing ⅛c better at the highest point of the day. Early there was some pressure, partly in the way of natural liquidation of the December and partly in showy selling, apparently for effect. It was the last day for changing over before delivery day arrives, and a lot of it was done early at 6⅞@7c spread, and eventually at 6⅝@6¾c. The first impulse of the Bradstreet report, showing fully as great an increase in domestic stocks as was anticipated, was bearish, and the crowd sold. Almost immediately, however, cognizance was taken of the figures indicating a noteworthy decrease of 1,576,000 bu in European stocks and the trading changed from selling to buying. Some of the late cables showed a stronger tone and this also helped the price. Fears of a cold wave covering the winter wheat belt following so quickly upon hard rains received some attention. The movement was favorable to the long side and was made the most of. Minneapolis and Duluth had but 598 cars, against 1,029 a year ago, and Manitoba advices talked of small farmers' deliveries. Receipts at all primary points were 671,350 bu and shipments 564,888 bu. Exports were smaller at 240,000 bu, chiefly in flour. Ream offered the market some support, Partridge covered some May and Armour bought December and sold May. Opening weak at 68⅝c May declined to 68⅛c, recovered to 69⅛c, and closed ⅛@⅜c higher for the day, at 69⅛@69¼c, with December 62⅛c. The cash market was quiet and inconsequential. Sales in store and to go there were at 62⅛@62½c for No. 2 red winter, 56@59½c for No. 3 red, and 61½@63½c for hard No. 3 spring. Free on board sales were at 57¼@60½c for No. 3 red winter, 59@61½c for No. 3 spring, and 64½c for No. 2 do.

In corn the December longs were afraid of delivery day. As a result of considerable scattered selling of the near future weakness prevailed here, while the May remained relatively firm. December sold down to 4⅝c discount under the long future, while November and cash lots were at a shade of premium. The wet weather served to steady the distant deliveries, although to all intents and purposes current receipts proved as much as the trade would readily absorb, with shippers indifferent and carriers taking most of the offerings. May sold at 39⅞@39⅝c and at 40⅛c, closing only steady at 39⅞c bid, with December at 35@35⅛c after selling at 35c. Intermediate months were dull. Receipts at primary points were 778,812 bu and shipments 562,382 bu. Exports were smaller at 80,000 bu. Locally receipts were a little over expectations at 313 cars, withdrawals 158,320 bu, charters 235,000 bu, and the estimate for today 290 cars. Liverpool was ¼@½d lower. Sale in store and to go there were at 35@35⅛c for No. 2 grades and 34@34⅜c for No. 3. Free on board sales were at 35@35⅛c for No. 3 yellow, 34⅜@35⅛c for No. 3, and 35⅛c for No. 2 white.

In oats futures the feeling was easier early, due to increased offerings, but these soon fell off and firmness was developed. The market was helped by the fact that sellers of December were scarce and scattered shorts increased bids to supply their moderate wants. Owing to this December gained ⅛c over a previous closing figure, selling up to 28⅜c, and closed steady at 28⅛c. May was less firm, ranging at 31⅛@31¼c and again closing at 31¼c. According to Bradstreet's report the available supply increased 575,000 bu. Sample lots ruled steady with the demand good and offerings ample. Free-on-board sales were at 28½@30c for No. 3 white, 28⅜c for No. 2, and 31@31½c for do white.

Cash rye was steady under meager receipts, with the inquiry again good, but futures were not so much wanted and a weaker feeling resulted. No. 2 in store was quotably 47c. None sold at that, due to an absence of offerings, while sample lots of choice went at 51c. Receipts were only two cars, and 516 bu were inspected out. December sold at 47½c, January at 48⅜c, a decline of ¼c, and May at 54c, or ½c under a previous bid price. Barley was unchanged, offerings being light and the demand tame. Medium, thin grade ranged at 36@38c, fair but not clean malting at 39@42c, choice, plump malting at 45@48c, and fancy bright lots at 49@50c.

Millstuffs were dull, with sales of bran at $10.75@12.75.

Provisions reacted somewhat from the big decline of the day before, but the business was small and speculation not decisive. Estimates on stocks were for a small increase in pork and a small decrease in ribs, lard remaining at meager proportions. Receipts of hogs were less than expected by several thousand, prices at the yards were firm, and packers as a rule disposed to neglect product, with the Cudahys apparently doing little. Roloson sold some ribs, and Stobo supported the market, and scattered shorts covered. It was difficult to execute orders at the market. January pork closed 25c higher at $12.62½, with May at $12.80, and cash at the old premium. Lard gained a nickel and ribs 10@12½c, the January ranging at $6.52½ up to $6.60 at the close, with cash lots about $7.00@7.15. Liverpool was steady to 6d lower, and locally there was a fair shipping demand. Cash sales included 300,000 lbs at $7.62½@8.25, and 789 tcs lard at $8.20@8.25.

Flaxseed experienced another upturn of ½@1c. Competition was brisk during the last half hour of the session. Armour and the crushing interests bid up the cash, offerings not being free. Receipts were light at 61 cars; shipments, 75,500 bu. No. 1 on track sold regularly at $1.16, with $1.16½ paid for cars on the Burlington and St. Paul by Armour. This was an advance of ½@1c. It appeared that a few shorts wanted the December urgently, and the price advanced ½c, at $1.15½, after selling at $1.15, with $1.15¼ the closing price. May sold at $1.20@1.20½, closing at the inside, or ½c lower. Timothy seed advanced about 5@10c. The excellent demand noted for the last two days continued, while receipts fell off. Fair to good ranged at $3.15@3.30 and common grade at $3.00. December sold at $3.40. Cloverseed was firm under a fair demand and meager offerings. Prime was nominally $9.30. Choice cash lots went at $9.37½ and fair to good at $8.75@9.25. January was quotably $9.30, February $9.40, and March $9.50.

WHAT TRADE GOSSIPS WERE SAYING.

Interesting Bits of Information Picked Up on the Floor of the Exchange.

There was something of an evening-up process in the grain markets prior to December delivery day, yet, with the exception of corn, which was weak, the markets were well sustained. December liquidation in the wheat pit attracted considerable attention, but so well were the offerings absorbed that the belief was general that deliveries, while large tomorrow morning, may not prove distressing, as they will settle into strong hands. The signal service map showed further scattered rains in the central valleys, with prospects of a cold wave for the holiday. The feeling after the close was steady. Puts on May wheat sold at 68⅝@68⅜c, and calls at 69⅞@69⅝c. Puts on May corn sold at 39⅝@40c, and calls at practically the same figures to a sixteenth over.

The committee appointed to consider changes in the system of settlement of contracts is now ready to hear suggestions from the members of the board, and those who have something to say are requested to communicate with Secretary Stone that a day may be appointed for hearing them. While not averse to the establishment and management of the new method, which is practically the Hosford plan as used in some of the exchanges, Lindblom is willing to waive that prerogative should it seem best to do so, yet strongly favors the adoption of the scheme. "The plan of the committee," said Chairman Cyrus H. Adams last night, "is to get a full and free expression of opinion from such of the members as care to be heard. To this end we invite them to appear before us from time to time and we can thus hear their arguments for and against it."

The support accorded December wheat, sustaining it well, was perhaps one of the strongest features of the day, and there was not a little buying of the month named by people here and elsewhere who expect to take it and pay for it when delivered. Another thing to which the bulls attached not a little significance was the Bradstreet report of a decrease in stocks afloat for and in Europe of 1,500,000 bu during the week in spite of the overwhelming shipments from Russia during the last ten days. Said an exporter: "There seems to be a rather better undertone to the cables, and it looks as though they will keep up their stocks of this cheap wheat."

Thomas Thompson, a grain merchant of Brandon, Man., in a letter to his Minneapolis correspondent, says, under date of Nov. 25: "Deliveries of wheat from farmers have fallen off very much in the last two weeks. Probably 60 per cent of the wheat is out of farmers' hands and 50 per cent of the crop gone east of Winnipeg. Price to farmers now is 40c per 60 lbs on the street for No. 1 and No. 2 hard; oats, 25c to 28c per 34 lbs. Much plowing has been done, and the chances are that next year's wheat acreage will be increased, bad as wheat growing is."

Near the opening Armour sold December wheat in a showy manner, possibly to create the impression that he would not support it and thus break it down. Subsequently he bought it freely and sold the May. There was a lot of this changing as it was the last day prior to December deliveries. At the start the December-May spread was 6⅞@7c, and brokers for strong houses other than that named were trying to get the December and sell the May at 7c difference, but could not do it, the difference finally narrowing to 6⅝@6¾c.

Corn is going east around Chicago which should come through this city. Bids for corn at Mississippi River points are ½@1c over the Chicago market. In the freight schedule, Mississippi River to the seaboard, there is a differential of 3½c per 100 lbs over the Chicago rate, and the action of river bidders shows that somebody is getting a good rebate. Incidentally this may account for some of the falling off in Chicago receipts.

Bradstreet's report of the available supply east of the Rockies last week increased 1,242,000 bu wheat, 175,000 bu corn, and 525,000 bu oats. Wheat on the Pacific coast increased 530,000 bu. Stocks of wheat in and afloat for Europe decreased 1,576,000 bu. Australian stocks decreased 22,000 bu.

Popular estimates on the local stock of provisions to be published the first of the month include 15,000 brls contract pork, 2,500 tcs lard, and 3,500,000 lbs ribs. One month ago they were 11,372 brls pork, 1,878 tcs lard, and 3,888,000 lbs ribs. While the small stocks work against the export trade, a fair inquiry is reported, with a moderate business passing.

Suspicion has been cast upon the reliability of the claim that the sample of "Russian" wheat shown is a fair average of what it purported to be, and well-posted men went so far as to express the belief that it had been "hand-picked," as Rye Baxter would have said.

Posted receipts at primary winter wheat points were 671,351 bu. A year ago the arrivals at the same points, exclusive of Kansas City, aggregated 1,136,900 bu.

There will be no session of the board today—Thanksgiving day. Morning deliveries Friday, Dec. 1, will be between 8:30 and 9:15 o'clock.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 100 cars; corn, 290 cars; oats, 150 cars; and 30,000 hogs.

SOUTH WATER STREET MARKETS.

A Fair Movement—Potatoes Easier—Butter, Fruits, and Vegetables Firm.

Today will be generally observed as a holiday on South Water street and most of the commission houses will be closed. In spite of the unfavorable weather there was a fair activity in street produce yesterday. Stocks of poultry were well cleaned up, although prices did not improve from the receivers' standpoint. The outlet for fruits and vegetables was generally satisfactory, and the market ruled firm. Some merchants reported potatoes easier; buyers in most cases had apparently supplied their wants on a previous day, and business lacked snap. However, cars of really fine Burbanks were salable at former prices. Butter was firm and active, while cheese was quiet and steady.

TURPENTINE—Quiet, easy at 29½@30c.

DRY GOODS—While a fair amount of business in the aggregate has been reported the market is quieter than the trade looked forward to during the closing days of last week. The impetus given to business has not been sustained, engagements entered into by purchasers then having apparently covered considerably their immediate requirements. The unexpectedly early publication of the new tariff bill has had a restraining influence over the operations of buyers. Even where merchandise is not directly affected, or affected to a slight degree only, this is noticeable today. Tomorrow's holiday is also a quieting factor, the disposition being to defer business to some extent until after the close of the month, which it ends, and the opening of December. There is no material change in the tone of the market. Such disappointment as prevails appears only in the expression of it, sellers being no easier to deal with.

OCEAN FREIGHTS—Berth freights were slow engagements. London, steam, 56,000 bu grain from store at 3¼d; 16,000 bu grain at 3d; Copenhagen, steam, 16,000 bu grain at 3s 9d.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 29.—WHEAT—Was steady today on a lower range, with a rally at the close. There was very light fluctuation and the trading was not brisk. The weakness was credited to the placing of December in Chicago, and opinion varies as to the condition of that future. Notwithstanding that some were inclined to sell today on account of possible disturbance next Monday with December there was a bullish sentiment of goodly proportions underneath the trading. A flour trader from London, who was on the floor, expressed himself as a believer in better prices as soon as the large stocks abroad could be eaten into perceptibly. He believed in a higher market eventually, and especially for American stocks. He expressed himself in a very bullish manner as to prices in this country, looking to the future, of course. There was not much news today. The market drifted pretty well as the trading carried it. Toward the close there was improved buying and a fair rally. December wheat opened at 58⅛c and closed at 58⅛c, ⅛c below the close yesterday. May opened at 63⅛c and closed at 63⅛c, the same as yesterday. The lowest point was 63c. There was a very steady market up to the last few moments. The closing feeling was firm. Demand for cash wheat was fair. There were 103 cars of No. 1 Northern sold at 59⅛c, and 14,000 bu to arrive at the same price. Other sales were scattering, with 60c reported for only one car. No. 2 Northern sold at 58½@58⅝c. Coarse grains were steady with corn a trifle firmer. Receipts of wheat here were 305 cars. CORN—Market steady, No. 3 new, 31½@32c; No. 3 yellow, 32c. OATS—No. 3 white, 26@26½c; No. 3, 26@26½c.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 29.—WHEAT—Opened weak here this morning at ⅛c below last night's closing for cash, ⅛c lower for December, and ⅛c lower for May. The market ruled firm, with advancing tendencies, and the early decline was fully recovered by noon, with fairly active trading both for cash stuff and futures. There was considerable activity in May and on each advance the offerings were liberal. The afternoon session was fairly active and strong and the close was at the best figures of the day, being unchanged from yesterday for cash, except rejected, which was ⅛c higher for December and ⅛c higher for May. Following were the closing prices: No. 1 hard cash and November, 61½c; December, 61⅝c; May, 66⅜c; No. 1 Northern, cash and November, 60⅛c; December, 60⅛c; May, 65⅜c; No. 2 Northern, cash, 57c; No. 3, 52½c; rejected, 46½c; on track, No. 1 Northern to arrive, 60½c. Corn ruled steady but local trade demand continued light and export orders generally limited, too low for business; No. 2 mixed, November, 43⅞@44c; December, January, and February, 43@43⅛c. Oats—Car lots advanced ⅛c, but local trade very quiet; futures dull and weak; No. 2 white, November, 35½@36c; December, 35¾@36⅛c; January, 36⅛@37⅛c; February, 36⅛@37⅛c. PROVISIONS—Butter quiet but firm; Pennsylvania creamery, extra, 27c. Shipments—Wheat, 2,600 bu; corn, 6,700 bu; oats, 21,200 bu.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 29.—GRAIN—Wheat sold very slowly by sample today. Low grades were ½c lower. Some wheat was sold to arrive. Round lots of No. 2 hard out of store were quoted nominally at 57c river. Receipts were 39 cars; a year ago, 78 cars. Corn, locally, was very firm and the sample offerings were light. Shippers paid 35c river or No. 2 corn Chicago yesterday. Today the bid was reduced to 34c. Receipts were 73 cars; a year ago, 27 cars. Oats continued in demand and very firm. FOREIGN GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Offerings for Wheat and Corn in Liverpool—What "The Guardian" Says.

Liverpool, Nov. 29.—BREADSTUFFS—Closing: Wheat—Holders offer moderately. Flour—Holders offer moderately. Corn—Spot, dull; holders offer freely; futures, holders offer moderately; new mixed, 4s 1¼d; November, 4s 1½d; December, 4s ¾d; January, 3s 11¾d for new. PROVISIONS—Pork—Holders offer moderately. Lard—Spot, holders offer sparingly; futures, holders not offering.

Manchester, Nov. 29.—The Guardian in its commercial article says: "The market is flat. Though cotton at Liverpool is unchanged, the position does not favor sellers, who see with the withdrawal of the Eastern demand one of their main supports removed. The extensive engagements held by producers are the chief remaining support, but each week the quietness of sales, which do not meet the production, causes urgency for fresh business. The inquiry for Madras shirtings continues and often results in small transactions. The larger offers are below prices that manufacturers will accept. The inquiry for light bleaching cloths from Madras has helped to steady prices. Offers from Calcutta for mulls are much lower and are refused. Generally speaking the demand is exceedingly sluggish. Business can only be executed by making concessions. Quotations remain unchanged, yet they are admittedly weak. The trade in yarn is poor and unsteady."

STERLING IS HIGH.

EXCHANGE ADVANCES IN FACE OF FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE.

Easy Money Leads to Important Bond Transactions—Gas Company Has Had the Issue of $2,500,000 People's Bonds Underwritten—Local Stock Market Dull, but the Offerings of Stock Are Light—Consolidation of Brooklyn Surface Roads.

The sterling market is the most unsatisfactory feature of the financial situation. At a season when it should be ranging at the lowest point of the year and gold importations be made we find the market steadily advancing. It now stands at a point that is considerably nearer the gold exporting than the gold importing point. The strength of the market is a puzzle to the exchange dealers. They have been confidently predicting lower rates for several weeks. They have based these predictions on the sharp falling-off in the imports of merchandise, the fair amount of exports, and the consequent favorable trade balance. Although that trade balance has been growing steadily more favorable sterling rates advance in the face of it. The silver situation can no longer be used as a scapegoat to explain these erratic quotations. The most plausible explanation, and one that seems quite likely to be the correct one, is that during the stringency last summer very heavy sterling loans were made by New York financiers, and that these have been maturing and are being paid back. It is believed that the unusual demand for sterling bills comes from people who are now having to repay such sterling loans. It is perhaps some consolation to note that exchange was even higher than it is now, and gold was being exported.

Accumulating idle money continues to have decided effect in the bond market. That effect is far more pronounced than is indicated by the trading at the Stock Exchange. Important transactions have been made, both in the way of counter investments and in the transfer of large blocks of bonds from one institution to another, and there are bids and negotiations under way which promise other important transactions of that character. In the stock market yesterday Rapid Transit 5s advanced to 90, and were in good demand. Gas Light 5s sold at 87.

Some interesting gossip comes from New York regarding gas bonds. A New York dispatch says that the Chicago Gas company or more particularly the People's Gas Light and Coke company, has made an arrangement with New York capitalists in the nature of an underwritten guarantee on the part of a syndicate to take $2,500,000 of the first consolidated bonds of the People's Gas Light and Coke company. The company has the option to sell these bonds itself outside of the syndicate if it can be done to advantage within a given time. The syndicate simply stands ready to take the bonds at a given price and is paid a commission for its guarantee whether it takes a bond or not. The company hopes to sell the bonds at a price considerably higher than that at which the syndicate has the privilege of taking them after a certain date, which is understood to be about six months away.

This underwriting indicates that the Chicago Gas company is in need of money. They hardly would have engaged in the expensive operation of having this issue of bonds underwritten before they attempted to float them on the market unless they wanted to make some use of the underwriter's guarantee. The bonds would hardly be a good collateral because of the lack of a market for them, but the company could probably borrow six months' money on this underwriters' guarantee and the indications are that that is what it wishes to do. It would be interesting to know just what they want this money for. The stock was put up in New York yesterday on the rumor that the next dividend would be paid in cash instead of scrip. The declaring of that dividend has been delayed beyond the usual time and no one yet has definite information regarding what it will be paid in.

The local stock market was dull and rather heavy. It is best characterized by the statement that while the market was heavy it was a market in which it was extremely difficult to buy stock. No one was bidding up quotations and no one could accumulate much stock at anything more then a moderate concession. West Side opened at 153 for the account and declined ⅝. North Side was inactive. Rapid Transit stock was heavy and Lake Street also declined.

A great consolidation of all the surface railways in Brooklyn has been undertaken by J. & W. Seligman, E. W. Clark & Co., and H. B. Hollins & Co. It is proposed by means of one of the existing corporations, or by a new corporation with a capital of $15,000,000, to unite by lease and merger into one corporation the property and franchises of the Broadway and Atlantic avenue systems. The new company is to issue $11,000,000 gold bonds. The new company is to give to the Long Island Traction company an option to purchase the $12,500,000 capital stock of the new company for $12,500,000 of the Long Island Traction company; holders of the common stock of the Brooklyn Traction company to receive share for share capital stock of the Long Island Traction company. This consolidation of the different railroad companies in Brooklyn will make a corporation with $54,000,000 stock.

SUGAR CERTIFICATES YIELD.

Tone of New York Stock Market Is Strong—Railway Bonds Weak.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Until the last half hour nothing of consequence was done in today's stock market. The market's tone was strong, and in several stocks—notably Western Union, Rock Island, and Chicago Gas—there were material advances. There was, however, no aggressive support, and towards the close of business a group of traders undertook to sell down prices, apparently on the theory that the reaction which most people looked for Monday morning was now in order. The speculators, however, still showed a remarkable unwillingness to take the general list in hand and confined their operations to the industrials; a group, indeed, whose prospects for the next few weeks are exceedingly inviting to the little traders. The main result of these speculative undertakings was to enlarge the short interest in the stocks selected for attack. Sugar certificates were naturally the point of special activity and yielded materially under the bear selling. The indications of the day's earlier markets were, however, that the stock had found its normal level under existing circumstances. There was a decrease in the distressing outcry from the sugar people and the suggestion was raised in some quarters that the stock's ruling price for the last year has discounted far in advance the inevitable withdrawal of government favors. The insiders in sugar trust did not appear active in the trading today, but the general belief was that they had already sold their stocks, and some prominent traders asserted that from certain facts in the loan crowd they knew the Havemeyers were borrowing sugar, and these parties claimed that some controlling interests in sugar were short of the stock. There was, however, little demand in the loan crowd. Neither the buying nor selling of the stock was significant. The heaviest sale was 3,500 shares by J. A. Blair, and the buying simply appeared to be covering of shorts. Bear traders who have made repeated efforts to depress Burlington made another attack on the stock today and advised their friends to sell it short. They covered shorts in many other stocks, and in order to be able to assume a more aggressive position in Burlington, but, although they offered it freely and caused several downward dips, failed for the time to bring out any long stock. Chicago Gas advanced on the purchase of 5,000 shares by L. & S. Wormser. The movement was accompanied by a report that the coming dividend may be paid in cash, as some uncertainty exists in regard to the listing of any more bonds issued for dividend purposes. London bought about 6,000 shares of stock in the first hour, about half St. Paul and the rest chiefly Union Pacific and Louisville. W. B. Wheeler was the heavy seller of whisky in the last hour and caused the sharp decline in the stock.

Railway and miscellaneous bonds were irregular in the early trading and afterwards became weaker and closed so. The sales were $1,811,000. Northern Pacific preferred fell 1, to 109; do consol 5s 1⅛, to 31⅞; Ohio Southern firsts 1, to 98; Oregon Short Line 6s 1⅛, to 89; Rio Grande firsts 1⅛, to 72⅜; Louisville and New Albany consols ⅛, to 100⅛; Richmond and Allegheny consol firsts rose 1, to 80; Iowa Central firsts 1⅛, to 90; Kansas City and Pacific firsts 1⅛, to 72⅛; Texas Pacific seconds 1, to 23; Western Union fives 1, 105; Denver fives jumped 7⅛, to 75⅛.

Money on call has been easy, ranging from 1@1¼; last loan at 1¼, and closing offered at 1¼. Prime mercantile paper, 4@5 per cent; bar silver, 69; Mexican dollars, 56⅛; sterling exchange is stronger, with actual business in bankers' bills at 483⅛@483⅝ for sixty-day bills and 486@486⅛ for demand. Posted rates, 484⅛@487⅛; commercial bills, 482@482⅜ for sixty days and 484⅛@485 for demand.

Government bonds have been firm; State bonds dull.

LONDON MARKET HAS A GOOD TONE.

Indian Exchange Is Easier and Rupee Paper Unchanged—Americans Are Strong.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The India Council sold only 10 lakhs today out of 50 offered for tender. Indian exchange was easier. Silver was 32 pence and weak. Rupee paper was unchanged. Bar gold was a trifle less wanted at 77 shillings 11⅜ pence per ounce. The markets had a good tone. Demand is spreading to second and third rate investments. Paris is buying in view of the conversion of national rentes. South American bonds were better. Americans have been strong, but closed easier.

INSURANCE AFFAIRS.

NEW YORK BOWERY'S COOK COUNTY BUSINESS GOES TO THE PALATINE.

An Agreement by Which Property Insured in the First Is Reinsured in the Second—Stockholders of the Orient Will Provide for Their Impairment by Assessment—Taxation Drives Companies Out of Maryland—Electricity Will Increase Insurance Rates.

The offer of the Palatine Insurance company for the Cook County business of the New York Bowery was accepted yesterday. The Bowery's business here has been on the market for reinsurance for some little time, but reinsurance deals are not made so readily this year as in previous years. The business of the Bowery here has not been heavy, probably representing annual premiums of $15,000. Its limit on policy lines has been $2,500. Mr. Fisher of the Palatine said last night that everything had been arranged but the minor details of the transfer of business.

To Provide for Impairment.

The report that the Orient of Hartford will reduce its capital from $1,000,000 to $500,000 appears to be a trifle premature. The directors of the company will not meet until some time in December and until after that meeting any prediction as to the actions of the company is mere speculation. It is assumed that the Orient will have to do something to provide for an impairment. It has also been assumed that the easiest way to reach this end will be to scale down the stock one-half. The action of the company a few years ago in increasing the stock to $1,000,000 has been considered by underwriters as a serious error. It is intimated by parties who know something of the personnel of the stockholders that a more radical course is much more apt to be adopted. It is said that the company rather than decrease the stock will assess stockholders for an amount sufficient to make up the surplus or issue new stock and absorb it into the surplus account.

Insurance Companies Abandon Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—A number of New York and Western fire insurance companies expect to give up business in Maryland the first of the coming year. One reason for this is the State tax of $300 and the 1½ per cent tax on the gross amount of premiums. Dr. C. C. Bombaugh of the Baltimore Underwriter says: "Since the general introduction of electricity the risks have also become greater without a compensating increase in rates. The companies in all the large cities are now employing electrical engineers to make investigations. Of the fires caused by electricity these engineers report to W. H. Merrill of the Underwriters' International Association in Chicago, who in turn submits reports to the companies. The general use of electricity will certainly cause an increase in insurance rates.

An Indemnity Association Reorganized.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The management of the Connecticut Indemnity Association of Waterbury has been reorganized. President V. L. Sawyer submitted his resignation this week and it was accepted. He was one of the organizers of the company and has held the Presidency since its organization, Oct. 31, 1883. Lewis A. Platt was elected President and Harry L. Wade First Vice-President, vice Col. J. B. Doherty. A swindler named Clark has been victimizing people in Western Massachusetts by soliciting life insurance business for a mythical company which he called "The Hartford Insurance company of No. 117 Church street, Hartford." There is no such number or company. Clark took any advance payment, however small, and promised papers by the next mail.

Turned Down by One State.

"The American Casualty and Security company of Baltimore, whose utter collapse has been recently reported in the newspapers, is not a stranger to the Connecticut Insurance Department," says a Hartford paper. "This is the concern that applied in 1890 or 1891 to Commissioner Fyler for leave to do business in this State. Mr. Fyler did not like the latitude of the company's charter or its way of doing business, and refused to admit it. The company applied for a writ of mandamus to make him admit it, and the Supreme Court sustained the Superior Court in declining to grant such an order. He was sustained by the courts, and now the facts equally vindicate his action."

One Week's Fire Loss.

According to the Standard the fire loss for the week ending Oct. 27 is $1,565,000. The loss since Jan. 1 has been $112,305,000, or $374,352 a day. The estimated loss for the year on this basis is $136,638,480. A number of losses of over $100,000 are given. A cotton warehouse fire at Providence, R. I., represents a loss of $100,000; a factory fire at East Douglass, Mass., a loss of $200,000; a fire at Le Mars, $100,000; and a planing mill fire at San Francisco, $125,000.

General Insurance Notes.

A new cottonseed oil form is reported from the South.

C. L. Seeley, Special Agent of the Fireman's Fund for Ohio, was in the city yesterday.

The fire loss since the first of the year is about $16,000,000 greater than for the same period of last year.

One agency reports that its counter business has been far larger for this month than for the month of November of last year.

It is said that between 60,000 and 70,000 policies of the People's Fire Insurance company of Manchester, N. H., have yet to find their way to the home office of the company.

After Jan. 1 Denver commissions will be on a basis of a flat 15 per cent. An agreement has at last been reached between the Pacific Insurance Union and the Western Union.

E. B. Miller, the special agent of the Greenwich, on the discontinuance of the department here, will have headquarters with the local agents of the company, Hopkins & Hasbrouck.

The "Excepted Cities" committee has postponed its visit to Cleveland until after Thanksgiving. It had an appointment at that place early this week but found it necessary to make other arrangements.

The force of a thoroughly established custom is illustrated in the observance of today's holiday by insurance people. To hear them discuss fire losses and business conditions in general it would appear that they had but little to feel thankful for.

The announcement that Webster, Wiley & De Roode are to have an agency of the Scottish Union and National does not imply that the agency with Munger, Ebbert & Co. is to be taken up. The new agency is to be a second local agency with the rights of a first agency.

W. H. Monroe, State Agent for Ohio of the Underwriters' agency, will have under the new arrangement with the Hartford an addition to his field. He will, after Jan. 1, have jurisdiction over Ohio and Indiana. The Cincinnati agency will remain with C. Gordon, Neff & Co.

The Springfield Fire and Marine has mailed to its agents copies of a handsome lithograph of Pradilla's Queen Isabella. The circulars which accompany these souvenirs include an original poem which is considered by many to bear the ear-marks of Mr. Dean's composition.

PROTECTING SPRING VALLEY CHARTER

Reasons Given for the Controversy About the Chicago Office.

Attorney-General Moloney is disposed to resent the statement of Attorney Greenwood of the Spring Valley Coal company to the effect that the information against the company was false. Mr. Moloney said yesterday: "One charge was that the coal company's charter required it to maintain its main office in Chicago when in fact it is kept in Spring Valley. This information was given by Charles J. Devlin, who for years was the Vice-President and General Manager of the Spring Valley company. He made an affidavit to that effect and now tells me that for the five years and eight months he was the manager the company never maintained its main office in the city. This shows that the contention of the present managers of the coal company is not correct." Charles J. Devlin of Topeka, Kas., the man referred to by Mr. Moloney, was in the city yesterday and in regard to the charge of perjury by Attorney-General Moloney against the officers of the company said: "It is not true that the company had its main office in Chicago during my connection with it, although our articles of incorporation called for it. The statement made contrary to this I regard as an effort to shift the responsibility to me so as not to impair the legality of its charter."

Farmer Associations to Unite.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Before adjourning today the Farmers' Mutual Benefit Association general assembly instructed the Secretary to begin correspondence at once to bring about a union with the Farmers' Alliance, the Grange, the Patrons of Industry, the Northern Alliance, and a number of minor organizations. President Robinson said there would be no politics in the united organization. The annual election of officers of the association resulted as follows: C. A. Robinson, Fountaintown, Ind., President; H. B. Davis, West Virginia, Vice-President; W. E. Robinson, Greencastle, Ill., Secretary; S. S. Ganse, West Liberty, Ia., Treasurer; F. J. Claypool, Muncie; W. H. Parsons, West Virginia; and C. E. Markart, Missouri, Board of Trustees.

HEAVIER SALES IN THE IRON TRADE.

Manufacturers Studying Features of Wilson Bill and Adjusting Business.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 29.—The Iron Trade Review today says:

So far as the volume of sales is concerned the month just closing has been the most satisfactory in the iron trade since the beginning of the depression. No ground appears as yet for confidence that better prices will prevail in the near future, though on one or two grades of Southern iron the disastrous cutting of the last few months seems to be over. Now that the draft of the new tariff bill is before the manufacturers of iron and steel there will be a disposition to adjust business to the bill as it stands. Though it may be predicted confidently that many bad features will be changed before Congress finishes with them, the fact that the bill in its general scope and purport has the backing of an administration and that the opposition to particular features will come in each instance from a small minority of the party in power makes the question of amendments entirely problematic. It is safe to say that no manufacturer will make plans reaching very far into the future on the strength of his hope that schedules affecting him will be altered by Congress. The early date fixed for putting in effect the new duties makes the bill a factor in every transaction running more than two months into the coming year. While it is not to be expected that eastern buyers of pig iron, for example, would quickly change to imported iron after years of satisfactory operation with home brands, yet the probability of lower prices at home under a low ad valorem tariff will tend to make a waiting market meantime. In finished material, manufacturers find the reductions proposed even more radical than they had been led to expect, and the coming year promises wage changes that will demonstrate that labor has seen only the beginning of the readjustment. But for the cloud that envelops its closing, the last week has shown some traces of improvement. Southern sellers of pig iron seem more hopeful, in view of the large sales reported in the last ten days. These were principally in Eastern markets and at central Western points. Detroit had some hand in the transactions and reports from that city are rather more encouraging as to raw iron. On No. 2 and No. 3 foundry 25 cents additional is asked by southern furnace men. Pipe foundries continue to have large inquiries, indicating fair business for the first half of the coming year. Some few car contracts have been placed recently and larger ones are in the stage of inquiry. Agricultural works are much later than usual in starting up. Some of the largest have not begun manufacturing and do not intend to start up until close to the end of the year. The new steel rail arrangement, fixing a price of $24 at eastern mills and $25 at western mills is somewhat misty as to details, but the fact that price cutting is stopped is well enough established. It is not clear upon what basis the Sparrows Point and Steelton plants are in the alliance. The receivership would prevent membership in a pool and a story of a lease of the plants is denied by officials of the two companies. Yet it is probably true that the Maryland plant at least will be closed down in the near future. An order from the court permitting the receivers to manufacture 3,000 tons of rails at $25 a ton is accompanied by the statement that there are no plans for further operation. It is plain that no great tonnage was placed by railroads at the recent prices. Few of them were ready to contract at any price. The $25 basis gives a good profit at the present prices for ore and labor, and the old-time difference between Bessemer pig and rails, when the former sold at $16, is still preserved. The finished material markets show little change. The volume is not sufficient to prevent incursions upon far-off territory by the largest producers, and prices are made to suit the buyer where the size of the order cuts a figure.

Steal in the Owner's Presence.

ELWOOD, Ind., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The community at Alexandria is terrorized by some Belgians who are out of work and are stealing for a living. They are open and audacious, and ducks, geese, chickens, and cattle are killed in daylight and carried away under the eyes of the owners. They go armed and if interfered with drive the owner away by threats. Several of the robbers have been jailed, but the stealing goes right on unabated.
